SOUTHERN SENATORS AFRAID FILIBUSTER WILL FAIL

Dirksen Urges Fast Action On Inquiry

Chairman Says 'Problem Involved Is Not The Outcome Of An Election Contest, But Revenue Collection'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Early action on his resolution for a House investigation into Louisiana income tax returns was urged today by Rep. Dirksen (R.-Ill.).

In a statement issued through his office, he said failure of the house to act on his resolution prior to Louisiana's February 24 election "is of no immediate importance."

"The problem involved is not the outcome of an election contest, but the collection of revenues for the support of the federal government," he said. He added that enforcement of federal tax laws must be "carried on vigorously without fear or favor."

His resolution, he said, "must be pressed to as quickly as possible."

The Dirksen proposal is an outgrowth of Louisiana's hot governorship race. It was the subject of statements yesterday by Reps. Domengeaux and Hebert, Louisiana Democrats.

Domengeaux is supporting Sam

4-POWER TREATY BLOCKED MAINLY BY 2 BIG ISSUES

Russian Demands For Dollars, U. S. Insistence On Withdrawals In Dispute

FOREIGN ENVOY DEPUTIES' TALKS ARE OVERSHADOWED

LONDON, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Russia's demand for American dollars and United States insistence upon withdrawal of occupation troops emerged tonight as the main blocks to four-power agreement on an Austrian peace.

These issues overshadowed new talks between the foreign ministers' deputies. The talks remained today in the feeling-out stage. Conference observers said there were scant signs as yet that either Russia or the Western powers were approaching a compromise on disputes which have denied Austria a formal peace.

The first and most immediate issue stemmed from Soviet insistence that Austria pay Russia the equivalent of

REJECT SOVIET MEET PROTEST

U. S. Sends Sharp Note To Russian Ambassador—Talks Necessitated By Reds

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21—(AP)—The United States today rejected a Russian protest against a forthcoming American-British-French meeting to organize the economy of western Germany. And blamed Russian policies for making the step necessary.

Undersecretary of State Robert Lovett sent a note to Soviet ambassador Alexander Panyushkin declaring that "the failure of the Soviet government to observe the principles of economic unity," in Germany "impels the other three powers" to organize the German economy in the interests of both German and European recovery.

The note was worded with unusual bluntness.

Lovett told Payushkin flatly that Russia's protest against the three power meeting which opens in London Monday "can only be construed as an effort to shift the responsibility incurred by the Soviet government itself for the present division of Germany."

Russia has protested that the three power talks on Germany would violate the Potsdam agreement. Russia interprets that as requiring all German nationals problems to be handled jointly by all four of the occupying powers.

Russia has said that it would regard

COLLEGE FACULTIES GET SALARY JUMPS

BATON ROUGE, La., Feb. 21.—(AP)—Salary increases for the faculties of state colleges won preliminary approval yesterday.

The finance and education committees of the state board of education recommended budgets including salary raises of 18 to 20 percent. Action by the full board is scheduled for the next meeting, date of which has not been set. The proposed budgets then go to the state department of finance and the legislature.

Louisiana State University, which is administered by its own board, already has made provision for cost of living increases in faculty salaries.

The budgets approved for the colleges for each of the next two years and the increase over the present figures included:

Louisiana Polytechnic Institute, $1,891,185, an increase of $585,619, and $1,938,020, an increase of $632,454.

Southwestern Louisiana Institute, $2,315,529, a gain of $935,387, and $2,115,374, an increase of $535,232.

Northwestern Louisiana College, $1,584,505, an increase of $516,398, and $1,395,959, an increase of $327,802.

Southeastern Louisiana College, $985,720, an increase of $362,715, and $965,250, an increase of $342,695.

STATES WARD 5 STILL INSISTENT

C. G. Wall, Jr. Says West Monroe Demands Senior High

Charles G. Wall, Jr., Ouachita Parish School Board member from Ward 5, Saturday issued a statement in which he declared that he had a warning for those who have long opposed a high school for West Monroe. He declared that the people of Ward 5 will never approve any bond issue which fails to approve immediate construction of a six-year high school in that city. He further said that the demand for such a school was a mandate of the people when he was elected to the school board and there will be no compromise.

His statement follows:

"One of the most important problems with which this community has ever been faced is about to be placed before us; but recently I have heard very little discussion of the issues which we must soon solve.

"I refer, of course, to the inadequate elementary and secondary

CALIFORNIA DIMS LIGHTS IN DROUTH

Electrical Shutoff Goes Into Effect To Save Meager Water Supply

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Central and southern California, browned by drouth, will dim out and further cut shop production to save its meager water supply. Even famed Hollywood boulevard may fade to its wartime drabness.

The worst drouth in some areas in recorded weather history has caused Governor Earl Warren to proclaim 28 counties in an emergency drouth area. They include Los Angeles and San Francisco, most of the state's population and its richest farming areas. As a drouth area, they can seek lower rail rates for shipping in livestock feed.

The public utilities commission, which controls water and electrical service, drew up a drastic set of rules for the dim out and factory slow down. They probably will go into effect after a hearing Tuesday.

The main points are:

1. Authority to electric power companies to reduce or stop service to industrial and agricultural users of more than 500 kilowatts. (Much of

Flier Tells Of Nine Days Afloat In Gulf Of Mexico

Pilot Of Airship Disappears Overboard Despite Survivors Desperate Attempts To Watch Him

BROWNSVILLE, Tex., Feb. 21.—(AP)—Mexican Flier Esteban de Leon, 26, weak and exhausted after nine days at sea on a rubber raft, told today how his companion was lost after their plane crashed in the Gulf of Mexico.

As the Panamanian Banana freighter Roatan, which rescued him, steamed up the Brownsville ship channel, De Leon said that Neil Womack, 37, Brownsville pilot, was lost from the bobbing, wave-tossed raft sometime during the second night after the crash.

The twin-engined DC-3 the men were flying crashed Feb. 10, within five minutes of its destination, Ciudad Del Carmen, Campeche, Mex. It had taken off from Brownsville. De Leon lives at Matamoros, Mexico.

The two managed to get onto the ber raft the plane carried.

De Leon said Womack became delirious Thursday (Feb. 12); became obsessed with the idea his wife was waiting for him and all he had to do was step from the raft to greet her.

The Mexican flier said a large shark which the two had attempted to drive off with an oar had followed the raft after the crash.

He said he forcibly restrained Womack from jumping overboard for several hours.

"Late Thursday night Neil became unconscious and I went to sleep," de-Leon said.

"Sometime in the night I was awakened when he shouted my name,

PALESTINE OFF BRITISH POUND

England Makes First Move To Prepare Quitting Her Zion Mandate

LONDON, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Britain cut Palestine off from the British pound tonight in a move preparatory to quitting her mandate May 15.

A treasury announcement said Palestine would be excluded from the sterling financial area, effective tomorrow, and Palestine's sterling balances would be blocked temporarily. The Holy Land will be given enough money to operate until the mandate ends.

The Palestine pound has been tied to the British pound, its value regulated by British money.

Trans-Jordan also uses Palestine currency and consequently is excluded from the sterling area temporarily. Trans-Jordan has informed the British government, however, that "it intends to make arrangements enabling it to return to the sterling area," the announcement said.

The treasury said the step was taken because "thorough and comprehensive exchange control" will be lacking when Britain gives up her mandate," and it was desired to prevent leakages during the period of British troop withdrawal.

The financial blockade, it was added, would "prevent damage to the financial and economic structure of Palestine" during the change-over from British rule.

The recent drain on Palestine's sterling balances has been so heavy, the statement added, that they "are in danger of being unduly depleted."

If the states of partitioned Palestine desire readmission to the sterling area Britain will discuss it, the treasury said.

"For immediate requirements 7,000,000 pounds ($28,000,000) are being released to provide 4,000,000 pounds ($16,000,000) as working balances for the banks in Palestine, and 3,000,000

Many N. J. C. students know J. W. Mi by and Lescar (Rip) Harlan, but few know their nightwatchman duties. At 6 p. m. six-foot, four-inch, 200-pound Joe, deputized by Sheriff Coverdale is on his rounds. At 2 a. m. he is relieved by six-foot, two-inch, 240-pound Rip, who ends his duties at 7 a. m.

Joe, veteran of World War II, served over three years in the army air corps. After being discharged he returned to his home in Winnsboro, and then entered N. J. C. under the GI Bill of Rights to major in agriculture.

Milby was married recently to a pretty black-haired nurse, the former Louise Dawson. They now reside at 102 Cheuvin Ave., across from the college. He plans to enter L. S. U. in June when his studies at N. J. C. are completed.

The job as night watchman pays more dividends than just a salary. Joe explained that during his rounds on

FAMILY PLAN TRIP 'ROUND-THE-WORLD'

PASADENA, Calif., Feb. 21.—(AP)—A young couple whose hobby is sailing boarded their 39-foot ketch along with their four-year-old son today and prepared to leave on a 'round-the-world voyage which they estimated may take three years.

They are John M. Townsend, an aeronautical engineer, and his attractive wife. The youngster is Roger, and his parents figure he'll be at least seven when he gets home.

The Townsends plan to sail this afternoon from Balboa harbor, where they have spent more than a year readying the boat for the voyage.

ARAB RIFLEMEN IN BATTLE WITH JEWISH TOMMYGUNNERS

JERUSALEM, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Violence erupted in Jerusalem tonight after a day of calm in the Jewish-Arab war.

In the Arab residential district of Katamon Arab riflemen drove off 12 Jewish tommy gunners who tried to penetrate road blocks. Several shots were heard from the direction of the old walled city. An explosion also occurred, but there were no immediate details.

Arab dynamiters blasted a Jewish-owned house in the no man's land between Jaffa and Tel Aviv. The body of a British soldier was found in Kifa.

An Arab military source in Damascus, Syria, said the British had moved 80 armored vehicles into the Beisan Valley in northern Palestine to avert an Arab strike at Jewish forces.

The informant said the British were trying to prevent the Arabs from attacking a Jewish Haganah force which he estimated at 1,200. The Arabs said yesterday that about 1,500 of their troops in the area had launched an offensive which might cut the Holy Land in two.

Jewish and Arab sources in Jerusalem said sporadic sniping in the

STEEL MAKERS TO FACE INQUIRY BY CONGRESS GROUP

Committee To Ask Manufacturers To Explain $5 Per Ton Price Boost

EMPLOYMENT HOLDING UP WELL AFTER FOODS DROP

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Top steel makers will be asked to explain their $5 a ton price boost next Thursday before the joint economic committee of congress.

Chairman Taft (R.-Ohio) announced this as a "unanimous" decision of the Senate-House body. It came after Senator Ball (R.-Minn.) suggested that Attorney General Tom Clark look into possible anti-trust aspects of the rise.

The sudden upturn in steel found Washington still trying to figure out the meaning—in terms of jobs, business, and inflation—of the early February drop of food commodity prices.

Employment is holding up strongly,

BENES RESISTS RED PRESSURE

Ailing Czech President Holding Government Together By Stand

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Feb. 21.—(AP)—President Eduard Benes, ailing and tired, continued to hold the Czechoslovak government together tonight by resisting Communist pressure.

He told the Communists, from Premier Klement Gottwald on down, that he would not allow anything but a parliamentary government with parties now in the national front continuing to be represented. He also declared he would not allow the Communists, the largest single party, to be excluded.

Benes thus refused to accept the resignations of the ministers of three anti-Communist parties in a deadlock over alleged Communist attempts to institute a police state, and rejected Communist demands for a clear-cut pro-Soviet government.

His answer was made public after a series of conferences and a public

STASSEN ISSUES DEWEY CHALLENGE

Offers Former Republican Candidate An Opportunity To Debate

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Harold E. Stassen today invited Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York to join with him in a discussion of the "vital issues of American and Republican policy."

Stassen telegraphed Dewey, a rival for the Republican presidential nomination, after entering his name in the Oregon presidential primary. Dewey already had entered there where 12 convention delegates will be elected May 21.

Dewey and Stassen both have delegate slates entered, too, in the first primary in the nation—March 9 in New Hampshire.

Stassen's office here made public his telegram to Dewey. It said national radio networks have indicated a willingness to "provide ample time for such a series of discussions" between the two.

The former Minnesota governor offered to go to Albany, N. Y., to start the programs if that were preferable to Dewey.

There was no immediate comment

ALABAMA MEN CAN'T BEAT THEIR WIVES

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Feb. 21.—(AP)—No matter who says so, even a Russian, it is still illegal for a man to beat his wife with a stick in Alabama, Attorney General A. A. Carmichael said yesterday.

If he does, said the attorney general, he subjects himself to prosecution under the law and also gives grounds for divorce.

Carmichael's statement came in reply to an assertion made by a substitute Soviet delegate before the United Nations economic and social council, A. P. Borisov.

Borisov told the social committee of the council that in Alabama it is legal for a husband to beat his wife with a stick—if the stick is less than two inches thick.

Snorted Carmichael, "Entirely erroneous and false."

Republican Support Against Gag Rule Lost To Democrats

Rebels Broaden Drive Aimed At Administration Leaders Policy; Hope To Gain At Least Few Concessions

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—(AP)—A secret Senate poll has convinced some Southern Democratic leaders they have almost no hope of blocking approval of civil rights legislation in this session of congress.

A veteran Dixie senator who helped count noses told a reporter the southerners now appear to have lost the Republican support they need to prevent adoption of a gag rule on Senate debate.

He said President Truman's deman for anti-lynch, anti-poll tax and anti-discrimination laws has been accepted as a political challenge by the G. O. P. members. As a result, he said few, if any, Republicans will vote to limit debate.

This prospect arose as some 50 Democratic House members from the states of the old Confederacy broadened their drive against the Truman civil rights program.

They and five southern governors

PRESIDENT SPEAKS TO PUERTO RICANS

Truman Asserts Country Should Have Right To Determine Status

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Feb. 21.—(AP)—President Truman told Puerto Ricans in an address today they should have the right to determine their relationship with the United States.

The president arrived here at 9:22 a. m., on his plane, the "Sacred Cow," after a flight that began at Key West at 4:08 a. m.

Accompanied by Fleet Admiral William D. Leahy, his chief of staff and former governor of Puerto Rico, and by other White House aides, the president was met at Isla Grande airport by his appointee, Gov. Jesus T. Pinero.

Hundreds of school children cheered and applauded as the president, Governor Pinero at his side, briskly inspected a guard of honor, then mounted the speaking stand to make his address.

The president said the appointment of Pinero, Puerto Rico's first island-born governor, was only a step toward an "increasing measure of self-government."

"I have said to the Congress several times—and I repeat it here—that the Puerto Rican people should have the right to determine for themselves Puerto Rico's political relationship to the United States," he continued.

"Freedom is a word which is found in every language. Equality means more than mere political emancipation."

The crowd, standing behind a rope, showed its greatest enthusiasm when the president walked about 100 yards along the line after his address. He smiled and waved. The crowd waved back and shouted "hello" and "viva." Some threw flowers.

Mr. Truman is the fourth president to visit the island since it became a United States possession in 1898. This is his sixth trip away from the United States mainland since 1945, his other visits taking him to Potsdam, Bermuda, Mexico City, Ottawa and Rio de Janeiro.

A full schedule has been arranged for his Caribbean tour. Tonight the presidential yacht Williamsburg is to carry him to St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands for an official visit to-

MONTH'S CONTROL AGREED FOR RENT BY GOP SENATORS

Extension Will Give Time For Full Consideration Of Long Range Bill

PRESENT CONTROLS EXPIRE ON LAST DAY OF FEBRUARY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Republican leaders in congress agreed today on a 30-day extension of rent controls to give time for full consideration of a longer range bill.

Present controls are due to run out February 29—a week from Sunday.

The House will vote on the stop-gap measure Tuesday, with the Senate acting later in the week.

Meanwhile Senator Taft of Ohio, Republican policy leader, said the Senate will go ahead with its debate of a 14-months extension bill. The Senate began discussing that measure yesterday.

Rep. Wolcott (R.-Mich.), chairman of the House banking committee, said the 30-day extension would change the present law in only one way. The change would bar eviction of families from low-cost public housing units because their incomes have risen above the limits originally set for occupants of such quarters.

Wolcott said such families could not be forced to give up their living accommodations unless other adequate quarters were available for them.

Taft said he hopes to bring the 14-months extension to a vote by Tuesday, sending it across to the House. Wolcott, whose committee will handle

FIREMAN, WOMAN MISSING IN FIRE

Blaze Destroys Five-Story Office Building In Main Pittsburgh District

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 21.—(AP)—A $600,000 fire today destroyed a five-story office building in the heart of the city's "Golden Triangle." A woman and a fireman were still missing hours later as searchers probed the ice-coated rubble.

Missing in the blaze, one of two disastrous fires to hit the city early today, were Mrs. Irene Westbrook, 40, a cashier for the Sun Drug Co., and Gerald W. Levy, 36, a hoseman.

The other fire destroyed a large grocery warehouse at Lynn Way and Dallas avenue in the Homewood section.

Mrs. Westbrook was trapped in a downstairs restroom when fire broke out in the five-story brick Jackson building. Levy, who was with a squad attempting to reach the woman, was lost as a sudden puff of smoke scattered the fire fighters.

The blaze was believed to have orginated in the basement of the Sun Drug Co., which occupied the first floor. The 60-year-old building housed offices of doctors, dentists, music studios and labor unions.

Two adjacent buildings were damaged at blazing debris showered over

POSTWAR PUSH TO GET ALIEN REDS OUT OF U. S. UNDERWAY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—(AP)—A postwar push to get alien Communist leaders out of the country has now reached full stride.

In recent weeks, the hand of the U. S. immigration agent has been falling with increasing frequency on the shoulder of the alien Communist with this announcement: "Here is a warrant for your deportation."

More than 30 arrests have been made. Half dozen actual deportations have occurred. More are "on the list" for exclusion proceedings.

The justice department, which runs the immigration and naturalization service, declines to call this a "drive." It says that these proceedings represent "an accumulation of cases." It points out that during the war deportations were made even more complicated than usual by lack of shipping and feasible destination points for the deportee.

But the fact remains that the current rash of proceedings reflect a go-ahead signal from Attorney General Tom Clark. He ordered a clean-up of non-citizen residents whose activities the justice department regards as "prejudicial to the interests of the United States."

The push got underway last summer, but the department for months

PLIERS AND SLAT SAVE YOUNG SON

CARLSBAD, N. M., Feb. 21.—(AP)—A pair of pliers and a bed slat were the weapons used by a Carlsbad couple to save their four-year-old son from an eagle's clutches.

The mother, Mrs. C. J. Reinhart, told it this way:

The child was playing in the yard while she hung out a wash. Suddenly, the big bird swooped down and dug its talons into her son's head.

For a minute she pulled in vain at the eagle's legs, then ran to the house.

Returning with a pair of pliers, she jerked the talons free, snatched up her son and rushed him to a doctor. Three talons had pierced the child's skin.

In the meantime, her husband had returned home. Reinhart beat the bird to death with a bed slat.

LONG SAYS RACE ISSUES CLOUDED

Candidate Asserts Jones Muddying Real Platform With Personal Attack

KENTWOOD, La., Feb. 21.—(Special)—Explaining that he was defeated in 1940 on "counterfeit issues" Gubernatorial Candidate Earl K. Long declared here today that his opponent, former Governor Sam Jones, is attempting to win in Tuesday's second primary by again "misleading the public and making the voters believe something that is not true."

"In 1940 Sam Jones made you believe a lot of things that time has shown you were untrue," Long declared. "He promised you to repeal the sales tax, pay a $30 pension, build and maintain roads and do a lot of other things he never intended and didn't do," Long said. "He charged me with every crime under the sun and he made a lot of good people believe the things he was saying.

"In the first primary Jones went around asking the people to vote for him "to preserve their gains" but when my 120,000 vote lead in the first go-round showed him the people were not being fooled into thinking they had received any gains or benefits under the Jones-Davis administration then he adopted new tactics. Now he's saying that its your fight and that the people must vote for long Sam if they are to preserve the state from bad influences. Yes, those 1940 issues were as counterfeit as the worst counterfeit bill ever minted by counterfeit bandits but I don't believe the people are going to be deluded again by counterfeit issues.

"When Sam charged that you good people stole 100,000 votes from him in the first primary, when he said only decent people voted for him, he didn't believe in his heart what he was saying. He doesn't believe the bad things he says about me. He investigated me, the federal government, the F. B. I., and all the other agencies investigated me, and Sam Jones, better than any man in Louisiana, knows the mean things he's now saying about me are untrue. He's just trying to sell you again on some counterfeit issues."

Long discussed his 17-point platform, saying "everything in it is good and nothing in it will hurt a man, woman or child, rich or poor, in Louisiana." He declared payment of the $50 old age pensions would prove of widespread benefit to the state. Keeping cash money in circulation, making the aged self-supporting and will relieve young people of the burden of caring for their grandpas and grandmas.

Answering the Jones claim that 100,000 votes were stolen from him in the first primary, Long asked his audiences "How many vote thieves are here" and when no hands were raised he replied to himself: "No, I knew there were no vote thieves present when I asked the question. There are none in Louisiana and Sam didn't lose any votes that way. You can't steal something from a man who hasn't anything to steal."

More seriously, Long informed his hearers that he is opposed to illegal election. "I am against vote stealing. I don't want an election that is not fair and honest. I don't want any votes stolen for me and I certainly don't want any stolen from me."

Predicting an overwhelming victory for the Long ticket in Tuesday's election, Long promised never to get the "swelled head."

"Have you ever been down to Baton Rouge and seen those big shot politicians going out to football games behind a motorcycle escort. You'd better get out of their way or you'll get run over. Well, I didn't put on that kind of monkey business when I was governor and when you elect me this time I'll not be a big shot. If I ever get the swelled head I hope it pops," he said.

Long declared that he will stay on the job and work for the welfare of all the people of Louisiana when he is elected" and it won't make any difference who you voted for."

"I'd rather be governor, serve the people, do all the things in my platform and earn the respect and gratitude of my people, than have all the gold in Wall Street," he said, adding, "When you go yonder to meet your maker you don't take gold and jewels, just the good that's in your heart and the assistance you have been to your fellow man right here on earth."

RED CROSS SPENDS OVER 11 MILLION

Nation's Official Relief Agency Assists Nearly 400,000 Persons

Last year the United States was visited by the most destructive series of disasters in history and the American Red Cross, the nation's official disaster relief agency, spent more than $11,000,000 during the year in assisting 305,682 persons affected by disaster.

Counted among the five worst disasters to strike the nation was the vicious September Florida-Gulf Coast hurricane and prolonged floods and a second Florida hurricane in October. Total cost of the Red Cross relief and rehabilitation operation has already reached $2,700,000 in the area, although the work is not completely finished. In Florida alone, approximately $1,000,000 was spent by the Red Cross during the emergency and later in the rehabilitation of victims; almost $2,000,000 was spent in Mississippi and Louisiana.

When the first warnings of the September 17 hurricane—christened "Emma" by Red Cross workers—were issued, Red Cross chapters along the entire Florida east coast and north to Cape Hatteras were alerted. More than 150 shelters were opened by Red Cross chapters in Florida and the first night of the storm, where thousands of men, women, and children found shelter. Later, when rising waters forced hundreds of families from their homes, former military barracks and other buildings were obtained by the Red Cross and converted into living quarters. This was done at Miami, Fort Lauderdale, and New Orleans; and more than 3,000 people spent anywhere from a few days to months in the shelters, where three meals a day, medical care, recreation, and as many comforts as possible were provided by Red Cross.

As soon as the emergency phase had ended in the stricken areas, rehabilitation work was begun. Rehabilitation is given on a basis of need—in other words, the disaster-affected family is expected to do what it can for itself, and the Red Cross takes care of the balance. Under the Red Cross rehabilitation plan, homes are rebuilt or repaired; household goods replaced; medical treatment, needed as a result of the disaster, is provided; occupational or agricultural rehabilitation given; food, clothing, or other maintenance are provided. In assisting families to rehabilitate themselves, the Red Cross makes a gift of its aid, and recipients are under no obligations to make repayment.

In Florida, more than 5,500 families were assisted in rehabilitation, and in Louisiana and Mississippi more than 5,000 received rehabilitation aid from the Red Cross.

The work done by the Red Cross during a disaster operation could not be carried out if it were not for the thousands of volunteer members of the organization who give of their time and energy; the many other agencies which cooperate—such as the Army, Navy, Coast Guard, government, state and city authorities, civic organizations and individuals; and the American people who, by their donations and support, have made the Red Cross their representative of relief when disaster strikes.

WARRIOR AGAINST INTOLERANCE

Washington's Birthday has been chosen this year as the starting day of American Brotherhood Week, which is sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews. This annual observance calls attention to the battle against prejudice and intolerance which must be won if we, as individuals and as a nation, are to live in peace.

Today we usually think of prejudice and intolerance in connection with race and religion. So one might ask, why Washington? Isn't the magnanimous Lincoln a better symbol of brotherhood than the austere first president? What did Washington, great man that he was, do in the cause of brotherhood?

The answer is that he fought a long, bitter battle against prejudice and intolerance, though they were not the same evils that we fight today. He led his countrymen in a war against an authority who considered them inferior citizens to their brothers in England. It was a war fought to prove that men are united in a brotherhood of basic rights, and that those rights are not gifts to be granted or withheld according to some royal whim.

When that war was won, Washington led a bloodless but no less bitter fight against another sort of prejudice and intolerance. This time the fight was in the field of domestic politics. The prejudice was against the delegation of state sovereignty to a central government. Individuals and states were intolerant of a higher authority than existed at the time.

The idea of a constitutional convention first took shape in Washington's home. When the convention met, it was Washington who presided. He took no part in debate, and he was not one of the Constitution's authors. But it was Washington as much as anyone who kept the convention in session, and who insisted that the result of its work be a radically new blueprint of unity, not a patchwork of old laws in a different design.

Out of that convention came the United States of America. Out of it came the concept of national brotherhood, though its realization was not quick or easy.

As president, Washington worked forcefully to make the ideal of equality, unity and common national interest an actual operation of government. When he left office the ideal was a reality, and the new nation was on its way.

Today, thanks in no small part to George Washington, it is far more important that a person is an American than that he is a Georgian or Pennsylvanian or Kansan. The job for all of us now is to speed the day when an American's religion or race is no more a reason for intolerance than is the state that he hails from.

NO BOOM FOR CUPID

Leap year, as a period bringing increased number of marriages, is off to a bad start. If women are taking advantage of their supposed prerogatives to propose matrimony, records indicate they are encountering negative responses.

In fact, license bureaus in practically all major cities report a decline in applications from 10 to 20 per cent compared to last year. Officials attribute the slump to various reasons.

Some say the war rush is over and matrimony is now on a more nearly normal basis. The housing shortage has had an effect, and some bureau heads insist young persons are discovering two cannot live as cheaply as one in this period of high prices. Unemployment is also a factor, some marriages having been postponed when one or both of the contracting parties lost their jobs.

In only one city has there been an increase in applications for marriage licenses. In Kansas City the number has doubled over the same period last year. This cannot be credited to leap year, officials say, but is caused by an influx of couples from Kansas who go to Missouri to escape the new three-day waiting law in their own state.

According to present indications Cupid is not destined to have an increase in business simply because it is leap year.

A COMEBACK

Wheat and rice are the two mainstays of the world's diet. Wheat has been bearing the burden of feeding hungry peoples, large quantities having been sent to China and India, which are not customarily wheat-eating countries. But relief is in sight.

Asiatic countries, which normally produce 95 per cent of the world's rice, will be back to their prewar production in another year or two. As Asiatics are preponderantly rice eaters, this promises a great gain in nutrition for the larger part of the human family.

It is none too soon, as those who travel across the southwestern plains of the United States and note the poor growth of the 1948 wheat crop realize. The United States may be approaching a period when it will have only enough wheat for domestic consumption.

If that happens, the rice of Asia will replace American wheat as the most important famine-averting crop.

There are great river valleys in Asia that need irrigation, tremendous areas that once made that continent the center of civilization and which could be reclaimed. America has the know-how and the means of aiding.

It would be a better world if some effort were devoted to the task of putting the Asiatics further ahead in their never-ending race with starvation.

An astronomer announces there are 10,000,000,000 stars in the Milky Way, and most persons will take his word for it.

According to the well-known law of gravity, all that goes up must come down. In the case of food, however, it is going across.

IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 21.—Hear that Donna Reed, dissatisfied with the roles handed her, has asked MGM bosses for a release from contract. . . . Time out for Linda Darnell, bedded by a strep throat. . . . Hollywood dopesters are offering odds that "Bill and Coo," the bird novelty film, will get a "special achievement" Oscar. . . . Rudy Vallee and Mary Ann Nyberg have blue-penciled wedding plans; she's telling pals she "gave him up for Lent." . . . Reported reconciling: Virginia Field and Composer Harold Grode.

Mae Murray, No. 1 hotcha charmer of the early '20's, has submitted her autobiography to an eastern publisher. . . . If it's true that misery loves company, Wallace Beery may be consoled to know that a paternity suit is now being threatened against another screen favorite. . . . Red Skelton is building four more apartment houses. . . . Cowboy Star Roy Rogers would like to meet the human tarantula who stole his favorite "geetar" last week.

Glamour girl Lila Leeds is in Hollywood Hospital, seriously ill with pneumonia. . . . Audie Murphy and Wanda Hendrix still affirm they're altar-bound, but say they've postponed the wedding for "at least a year." . . . Three major studios are bidding heavy coin, "sight-unseen," for Paul Whiteman's autobiography. . . . Mrs. Richard Conte, professionally known as Ruth Nichols before her marriage, is returning to the stage in a locally produced play. . . . Hear that Warner Brothers has shelved plans for the filmography of Will Rogers—this time for keeps.

PREVIEW NIGHTS: Pic of the week: Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Three Daring Daughters" (Jeanette MacDonald-Jose Iturbi-Jane Powell). Heart-warming musical drama of precisely the sort that most fans want but seldom get. . . . RECOMMENDED: RKO's "The Pearl" (Pedro Armendariz-Maria Elena Marques). Here's hauntingly beautiful, off-the-beaten-path entertainment that deserves high place on your "must-see" list. . . . GOOD: Warner Brothers' "I Became a Criminal" (Sally Gray-Trevor Howard-Griffith Jones). English-made melodrama as hard-boiled as any gangster-thriller. It's exciting, but not recommended for children. . . . Paramount's "Caged Fury" (Richard Denning-Sheila Ryan-Buster Crabbe). Mile-a-minute action drama that will add punch to any program. . . BEST PERFORMANCE: Jeanette MacDonald in "Three Daring Daughters."

Just before I went to lunch the other day with five veteran studio workers, I happened to read in one of the Hollywood trade papers, the following quote from Eric Johnston: "The best picture of the year becomes one of the immortals. Kings and conquerors have strutted across the mists of yesterday, but art survives—art alone lives." Being unable to put such grandiloquence out of my mind, I wound up the luncheon by asking my five mess mates which picture won the Academy Award in 1943. Not one of them could answer the question!

According to the latest advice from the British-American battlefront, the English are now suggesting that they might repeal that confiscatory, 75 per cent tax levied against American-made films IF the American movie industry, on its part, will contract to book British-made pictures, and GUARANTEE THEM A $20,000,000 RETURN EACH YEAR FROM THE U. S. A. To anyone who knows the ways of the movie industry, that proposal carries with it an ominous portent for American theatre-goers. Should our producers be ninnies enough to give the British a $20,000,000 guarantee, "sight-unseen," for their films, it's a cinch that the said pictures, good, bad, or indifferent, will be booked in the major theater chains and held there until they've paid their way. I call the prospect ominous, because, for every one English-made picture that suits American taste, there are at least nine so adenoidal in treatment that the average Yankee can't stomach them.

News that "Light of the Western Stars" is to be filmed once more reminds me, again, that the late Zane Grey probably contributed more to Hollywood's prosperity than any other one writer. The first producer to "discover" Grey's western fiction was Harry Sherman. He bought screen rights to "Light of the Western Stars" for $50—and followed that transaction by paying $500 for a "blanket" deal giving him the movie rights to all of Grey's published work. Within a year, Sherman sold the last-mentioned contract for $25,000, and boasted that he had turned a neat piece of business. So he had—but had he kept the contract for another ten or fifteen years, he could have peddled it for millions! Many of the Grey novels have now been filmed four or five times.

I like Bob Hawk's remark that the hardest of all secrets for the average actor to keep is his own opinion of himself.

DOWN SOUTH

By Thurman Sensing
Director of Research, Southern States Industrial Council

HIGHER EDUCATION FOR NEGROES

The Negroes in this country were freed from slavery by the War Between the States, but they were left like a yoke around the neck of the South.

Yes, the Negroes were freed—and it might have been thought that they would immediately move to those regions occupied by the people who brought it about—but we know now that they were destined to remain in the South. The fact that they were already located in the South, of course, had a lot to do with it. The climate undoubtedly had its influence. But not the least of these reasons was the fact that the Negroes were better understood by the Southern people and treated more sympathetically in the South than elsewhere.

This third reason may seem out of line to some folks, but it is unquestionably true. The South practiced segregation and in other ways differentiated between the races, but it was open and aboveboard treatment; it was not the hypocritical treatment of equality practiced by the North.

That the North is hypocritical in its attitude toward discrimination could be shown in many ways, but one simple illustration will suffice; in one Michigan city in particular and in the state of Michigan in general, where the white and colored children go to school together, there are no Negro teachers. This is even true in a school where about 80 percent of the children are colored. Those Negroes who prepare themselves for the teaching profession cannot find jobs in the North. They must go South and teach in Negro schools, where they are misfitted by training and by temperament to do a good job.

As a matter of fact, of course, segregation is not discrimination. It is a natural law, just as natural as herds of cattle or flocks of geese. It is best for both races. It should always be remembered that whenever man starts to tamper with laws of nature, he usually gets himself into trouble.

Still, the Supreme Court says that all citizens must be treated alike that Negroes in the South must either be allowed to go to college with the whites or equivalent institutions of higher learning must be provided. Since the South does not propose to give up segregation, and need not be asked to do so, this means that the states of the South must make available schools of medicine, engineering, law, etc., for Negro students. This, of course, immediately raises the economic problem of how to finance them.

That is why reference was made to the "yoke" at the beginning of this article. The war left the South impoverished, but it also left the South with the necessity of providing a dual system of education. That the South has done so to the extent it has is to the eternal credit of the generosity of the Southern people and ample evidence of their sympathetic attitude toward the Negro race.

The expense of providing institutions of higher learning for Negroes, however, is simply beyond the financial ability of the Southern states. This accounts for the current movement among fifteen of these states to set up regional schools, toward the support of which each of the state shall contribute, and to which they can send their students who are qualified for entrance.

This seems to be by far the wisest and most sensible solution thus far proposed. We might wonder, though, if the Supreme Court some of these days will not "r'ar up on its hind legs" and say this also is unconstitutional—that a student cannot be forced to cross the state line for his education. That would be an anomolous situation, though—for the Supreme Court to pay any attention to state lines!

It is to be hoped the regional plan goes through. Of course, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has already expressed its opposition to the plan—but that was to be expected—it is rather generally known that what they are interested in is not education anyway!

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

The Sunday School Lesson for Feb. 29
Scripture: Romans 10:8-15, Ephesians 3:8-12

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

When one considers the greatness of the world, then dominated by the powerful Roman Empire, and the comparative smallness of the little land of Palestine, it is surely the miracle of history that out of that same little land should have come a religion, destined outwardly to conquer Rome, and inwardly and spiritually to be the inspiration of saints and heroes.

Before the coming of Jesus, Judaism had already taken root in many parts of the Grecian and Roman world. This was true not only in Jews scattered from their homeland in the dispersion, but in converts, or proselytes, drawn to the Jewish faith by its moral idealism and emphasis, so much in contrast with the licentiousness of the pagan cities.

But the spread of Judaism could not explain the phenomena of the growth and spread of Christianity. Jesus, though He declared that He had come to fulfill the law and the prophets, was despised and rejected by the leaders of His own race. He wrote no book, established no school, organized no great movement. What organization He made was of a few disciples, whom He gathered around Him, who at first very inadequately grasped the meaning of His real spirit and mission, and 70 others, whom He sent two-by-two on preaching missions through the villages. What hope was there that a movement, thus unostentatiously begun in a small part of the world, under persecution from the beginning, should become known in that great Roman world, let alone attain world conquest?

Yet Jesus spoke in terms of the world and of world salvation. He gave His disciples a commission to go into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature. It was a vision and faith so stupendous that one can think of it only as Jesus himself did. He knew that He had come from God for this very purpose. When He read in the prophets of the Messiah who was to bring peace and blessing. He said "this day is this scripture fulfilled in your ears."

How Christianity grew and spread we know. The religion of the persecuted and despised became the religion of the Roman Empire, outwardly at least, and it has been the religion officially of many countries. More important has been its triumph over the hearts of men. But despite the outward conquests and the inward triumphs of grace, Christ's mission of salvation for the world is only partly accomplished. Yet every day it becomes clearer that the only hope of the world's future is in the Prince of Peace.

And that hope depends upon whether the Christians of today can have the faith, the vision, the courage, and the will, to do what the early disciples did—accept our world mission as they accepted theirs.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

THE AMERICAN CIVILIZATION

Arnold Toynbee, in his masterly study of civilization, places the United States in the Western Society, which is a civilization mainly of Roman Catholic and Protestant Chrisitians living in the area that was once the Roman Empire in Europe. These Western peoples tend toward an acceptance of Democracy, which Toynbee, in his "A Study of History," describes "as a short title for responsible parliamentary representative government in a sovereign independent national state." Despotism does not long thrive among these peoples, although occasionally they recede into that condition.

The United States has, however, had a unique development within that Society. For whereas Europe has always (in known history) been occupied by indigenous elements that are constantly conquering or being conquered and assimilated, the early migrants to the North American continent found here a comparatively vacant area, except for scattered primitive communities of North American Indians, in which it was possible for them to divest themselves of many European impediments to the assertion of individual liberty. Feudalism, for instance, never existed in this country.

Personal liberty thus became the primary concern of the early American. He was forced by circumstances of a pioneer existence, and later as an isolated farmer or woodman or hunter or rancher in sparsely populated areas, to function as an individual, to live more in fear of God's invisible authority than under the police authority of man's law. He lived in the dignity and goodness of one individual man, more concerned with his conscience than the policeman's baton. The early traditions remained even when the empty places were filled by immigrants from some 50 countries and when a vast and concentrated industry shifted the centers of population from rural communities to urban slums.

This passion for individual liberty is the distinctive characteristic of American civilization, where a classless society recognized the rights neither of majorities nor minorities, of political parties nor of aristocracies of birth, or wealth or intelligence but only the rights of one individual, who stood before God and the law, alone responsible for his conduct. And that individual, wise or dumb, skilled or unlettered, competent or lazy, possesses all the political and juridicial rights of anybody else. Einstein and "Lefty Louie," whoever he may be, have one vote each.

Up to 1933, no one seriously questioned this doctrine of the rights of the individual. Since then, we have been discussing group rights, majority and minority rights. Such a phrase has crept into our language as "human rights," by which is meant something nebulously different from the rights of the individual. Citizenship has become associated with creed and origin—as, for instance, the special rights of the foreign-born—and pressures are produced on the whole community in the interest of what is called racial or religious groups—the former being generally unprovable and the latter should, in the American system, be strictly private.

These departures of the American concept of the place of the individual in American life became associated with an emphasis on the Marxian lass struggle ("One-third of the Nation") and with class hatred ("Princes of Plenty.") It was exploited politically to produce and prolong power.

To return to Toynbee, he calls attention to the existence, in 6,000 years of history, of 21 civilizations of which seven remain today in competition for survival. Each assumes its own superiority, but each faces the fact that 14 great societies of man have died. Why did they die?

Toynbee says:

"...We know of no case in which the goal of human endeavors has been attained yet, while on the other hand we know of fourteen cases in which attempts to attain the goal are proved to have failed irretrievably by the fact that the societies which made them have become extinct. The possibility of attaining the goal is still an open question in the seven cases of the civilizations that are still alive..."

What probably happened is that these societies reached a state where they had nothing to live for. They had lost their ideals. They had forgotten their goals. They had left themselves without beliefs, faiths or hopes. And so they died. It is something to think about in this extraordinarily vulgar and confused era.

Our Children

THE DIPLOMA

Now and again we meet a child who does not seem to be able to do the work in academic subjects that entitles him to a diploma from the school.

Parents realize that this diploma is necessary if the child is to enter high school and college. That IF is really only a wishful hope. A child who for eight and more years has failed to get a passing mark from teachers who were anxious to give it to him, is not a hopeful high school candidate. He does not belong in an academic high school, but long before should have been entered in a school that was equipped to meet his peculiar needs.

Parents want their children to get this academic diploma. It is the symbol of accomplishment in what has long been the standard of educational requirements. But those, who whom an academic curriculum did not have meaning and value, got their education on the farm and in the shop. These required no diploma because fathers and elder craftsmen did the teaching and passed on the candidates.

Modern ways have changed this. Children are not allowed to work but are forced to remain in the academic schools long past the time when they should have been studying and learning the techniques of the occupations they were fitted for by nature. They must remain as prisoners to learn discouragement, to form wrong notions of people and work, and to waste the best years of their growth. This they must do to get a diploma that has no value to them or for them. Rarely do such boys and girls earn this diploma. Not that they would not, but because they cannot. In places throughout the country the educational authorities are trying to meet this situation by giving such pupils certificates that say they are of good character and have reached certain standards of learning. But it does not admit them to high school or to college.

Many parents consider that a child who cannot earn an academic diploma is a failure. Are the successes, the leaders of industry, crafts, arts, the mechanics and the artisans not worthy people? Many of them never saw a diploma, but they are masters in their fields and bulwarks of society. Where would we be today without them?

Once it is plain that a child is not book-minded, his education should be centered on his proved abilities whatever they are—and never mind the diploma. His diploma will be whatever work he does. A good job done admits the worker to high places, places that many a holder of a diploma never will reach.

A child's health and happiness are both in your hands. Dr. Patri expresses an appreciation of this grave responsibility in his leaflet, "A Parent's Prayer," P-26.

Pitching Horseshoes

By Billy Rose

Billy Rose

The luxury businesses of this country ought to chip in and present Winthrop Rockefeller and his bride with a very stylish present. It's my hunch that their marriage is going to move a lot of goods off a lot of shelves.

I don't know how much business can be traced to the female yearning to make like Cinderella, but it must run into the billions. I understand the better smell-waters cost something like $40 an ounce. I've seen price tags on black lace lingerie in store windows which made me wonder why I bothered with show business. And I got to know something about the vanishing cream business last year when a small outfit asked me to invest some money in it. Its auditor confessed that the cream in the $40 black jar set them back almost 18 cents.

The Rockefeller wedding once more proves that a girl from the wrong side of the tracks can crash the polo and pate de fois gras set. It again makes perfect sense for baby doll to have adenoids removed and her teeth straightened. It again encourages her to upend the piggy bank and buy the latest things in bras and bracelets, hats and huraches. After all, a lady must look her best for the dashing gent in the convertible who is going to carry her away to the Stork Club to live happily forever after.

I dropped in for a soda at Schrafft's the day the wedding news hit the front pages, and I couldn't help overhearing the hyperthyroid conversations of some of the lady customers. The gals were on fire. Glitter and glamour had been vindicated. Cinderella was going to wear sables. And if one Cinderella could make it, it meant every Susie and Sal had a chance.

This is the second time in a year the Rockefellers have endeared themselves to Joe and Jennie Average. Some months ago the elder member of the family presented the U. N. with a hunk of Manhattan worth the best part of $10,000,000. And now the neon scion called Winthrop has taken unto himself a Lithuanian lollipop who was living in a walkup tenement on Third avenue. What's that? There were minor Rembrandts on the walls of the lady's flat? Who cares? It was a walk-up, wasn't it?

I don't have any axioms to grind, but one thing is axiomatic: No nation is bigger than its day dreams. And it's my experience that the day dream of the sex which represents almost 60 per cent of our vote is to have a little lucre mixed in with its love. Under almost every floppy sweater in these 48 states there is a heart which dreams of meeting a shining knight in Armour & Co.—a gent on a white charger who will take care of baby's charge accounts.

If big business wants to remain big it should encourage its sons to make this dream come true every so often. For too many years, the Woolworth Donahues have been pooling their coupons with the Donahue Woolworths. This not only results in inbred money, but it sometimes turns otherwise nice girls into Communists. Judging by the popular reaction to the Rockefeller wedding, the best way to keep the girls from getting class conscious is to hand them a classy guy now and then.

Incidentally, such poor girl-rich boy marriages will do a lot for the movie stocks which have been nose-diving in recent months. For 20 years, Hollywood has been making and remaking the Cinderella story. It has shown us Lana Turner marrying Alf Vanderbilt, Betty Grable marrying John Hay Whitney, Joan Crawford marrying the young Wanamaker boy.

Unfortunately these buckos never got to see these pictures and marrying girls in their own set. After a decent amount of waiting the public became cynical and the Cinderella movies flop off at the box office.

The Rockefeller marriage is worth millions to the flicker factories. Once again people will pay to see their glass slippers and pumpkins.

Because it can happen here. Winthrop has proven it.

AG. ENROLLMENT AT HIGH PEAK

Northeast Junior College Reports 99 Taking This Course

Enrollment in the agriculture department at Northeast Junior College reached an all-time high during registration for the spring semester, according to L. L. Price, head of the agriculture and home economics department. With 99 students taking agriculture during the 1947-48 school year, the number establishes a precedent by having seven more students enrolled in this work which gives the department the largest registration in its history.

The agriculture classroom and laboratory are located in one of the temporary buildings in the rear of the library. Though members of this department are looking forward to the completion of the science building just recently started, they are accomplishing things in their present quarters.

Laboratory work for horticulture and poultry is carried on at the north end of the stadium where a small garden plot, one colony brooder house, one laying house and a barracks building are located. The barracks building has been converted to provide an incubator room, poultry dressing room, in which are provided an electric hot water vat and electric picker, a battery brooder room and sleeping quarters for two student helpers.

An additional activity of the department is the Agriculture Club, one of the largest on the campus. Joe Buckley, president of the organization, who had an "A" average for the past semester, is planning several tours, in addition to programs for the current semester. During the winter term club members raised fryers which were barbecued for the Aggie-Homemakers banquet in January, besides having programs of an educational nature at organization meetings.

Estimates indicate that about one-third of the land surface of the world is too dry for agriculture without irrigation.

SEARS SHARES PROFITS WITH EMPLOYES

Forty-eight employes of Sears, Roebuck & Co., in Monroe yesterday learned the extent to which each is sharing in that company's 1947 profits.

Because of their membership in "The Savings and Profit Sharing Pension Fund of Sears, Roebuck and Co. Employes," these men and women today received from C. D. McAdams, manager of the Sears store, individual statements as to the amounts being credited to their fund account out of last year's profits.

According to Mr. McAdams, the 48 Monroe members have to their credit in the fund an aggregate of 1293 164/1000 shares of Sears stock plus a cash balance of $16,511.03. Based on a January 31st market value of 34 dollars per share for Sears stock, this group has an investment worth, in aggregate, $60,478.61.

Mr. McAdams explained that Sears employes are eligible to join this fund after one year of service. Employe members deposit five per cent of their salaries into their individual accounts each year, with the maximum deposit limited to $250.00 annually. The company contributes into the fund an established percentage of its profits which are distributed proportionately to employe members depending on length of service.

This year those employes with less than five years service with Sears had credited to their accounts, $1.15 for every dollar they themselves contributed. Employes who have been with the company from five to ten years were credited to $2.30 for every dollar saved. For those with over ten years service the company placed $3.45 into the fund for every dollar put in by the member. The fourth participating group—employes over fifty years of age with over fifteen years service—were credited $4.60 from the company for every dollar deposited.

"Sears profit sharing system is particularly unique in that it was established thirty-two years ago," said Mr. McAdams.

"In setting up at that early date a system to provide for the eventual retirement and old age of its employes, Sears management actually initiated a form of social security twenty years ahead of the government.

"The fund now owns over 16 percent of Sears stock and this ownership makes it the company's largest single stockholder. The fund's current assets amount to $171,065,000 (based on a January 31st value of $34 a share)—these assets being credited directly to the accounts of the individual members. However, the actual money deposited by the present employe membership in order to amass this value has been only $31,000,000, Mr. McAdams pointed out.

THE NATION TODAY

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Once more married couples in the community property states get a break on their federal income tax.

There are 12 community property states.

Married couples there will pay less income tax than couples in the 36 states which don't have a community property law.

That's because couples in those 12 can divide their income to get a lower tax rate.

(Note: The deadline for everyone—for filing a return and paying any tax owed on 1947 income—is March 15.)

The 12 community property states are:

Arizona, California, Idaho, Louisiana, Nevada, New Mexico, Texas, Washington, Oklahoma, Michigan, Oregon, Nebraska. The territory of Hawaii also has a community property law.

Here's how the community property law works in paying federal income tax:

Take a couple with no children and no dependents. The husband worked in 1947. The wife didn't. The only income was the husband's salary.

Say that income was $100,000 after deductions.

This is what would happen in any one of the 36 states which don't have a community property law.

The husband had to claim all that $100,000 income. The wife couldn't claim any.

The tax—it was a tax on the full $100,000—$63,128.

Now take that same couple in any of the 12 community property states or Hawaii:

Although the husband earned the $100,000, the wife claims half of it.

So she files a return, reporting she had $50,000 income. The husband files a return, reporting he had $50,000 instead of $100,000.

Her $50,000 is taxed. So is his $50,000. But the tax on each person's separate $50,000 is lower than on a single income of $100,000.

The reason: The higher your individual income, the higher the tax.

So in this case the tax on the husband's $50,000 is $25,137. The tax on the wife's $50,000 also is $25,137.

Thus their total tax on that original $100,000 income is $50,274.

And that's $12,854 less than the man with $100,000 paid in the non-community property state. He couldn't divide income with his wife. The tax on his $100,000, as noted, was $63,128.

In Congress the House has passed a ball to make all 48 states community property states when it comes to paying income taxes.

The Senate is expected to pass it, too. If President Truman vetoes it and both houses can re-pass it over the veto, the Bill becomes law.

Otherwise, the married couples in the 12 community property states will continue to pay less tax than those in the other 36 states.

This, by the way, is the same bill which would cut everyone's tax on income received after January 1, 1948. It wouldn't cut tax owed in 1947 income.

Eight of the 12 community property states have had their law a long time. They are Arizona, California, Idaho, Louisiana, Nevada, New Mexico, Texas and Washington.

Oklahoma and Hawaii passed their community property law in 1945. Nebraska, Michigan and Oregon did it in 1947.

WOMEN

Thibodeaux, Louisiana, February 16, 1948.

TO THE WOMEN OF LOUISIANA:

Something occurred here in Thibodeaux, in the parish of Lafourche, on last Thursday night, February 12, which we think ought to be known to the women of Louisiana. A Sam Jones rally of women was held here that night.

We hoped for a good attendance of 200 or maybe 250. We were more than surprised when over 1,000 women came. Old politicians hardly knew what to make of this, especially as Lafourche women had never taken part publically in politics before.

After talking with experienced observers and considering all circumstances, we believe this extraordinary outpouring is startling evidence that the women of this parish, where Earl Long led in the first primary, have awakened to the danger of a corrupt government, and ARE FRIGHTENED into an intense and active interest to defeat it.

We think the women of Louisiana may be encouraged to know this, and take immediate action in every way, and go to the polls to combat these forces of EVIL WHICH THREATEN US.

In all humility, but nevertheless proud of the WOMEN of LAFOURCHE, we respectfully pass this word to our Sisters in the state.

Signed: MRS. RAY LUCAS, Chairman
MRS. ALFRED ROBICHAUX, Co-Chairman of the "Women's Organization of Lafourche Parish."

N. B.—Mrs. Andrew McCollam, third district women's campaign chairman for Sam Jones, presided and introduced guest speakers Mrs. James W. Reily of New Orleans; Claude Duval, Esq., of Houma, and Mrs. Alcide Callais of Golden Meadows.

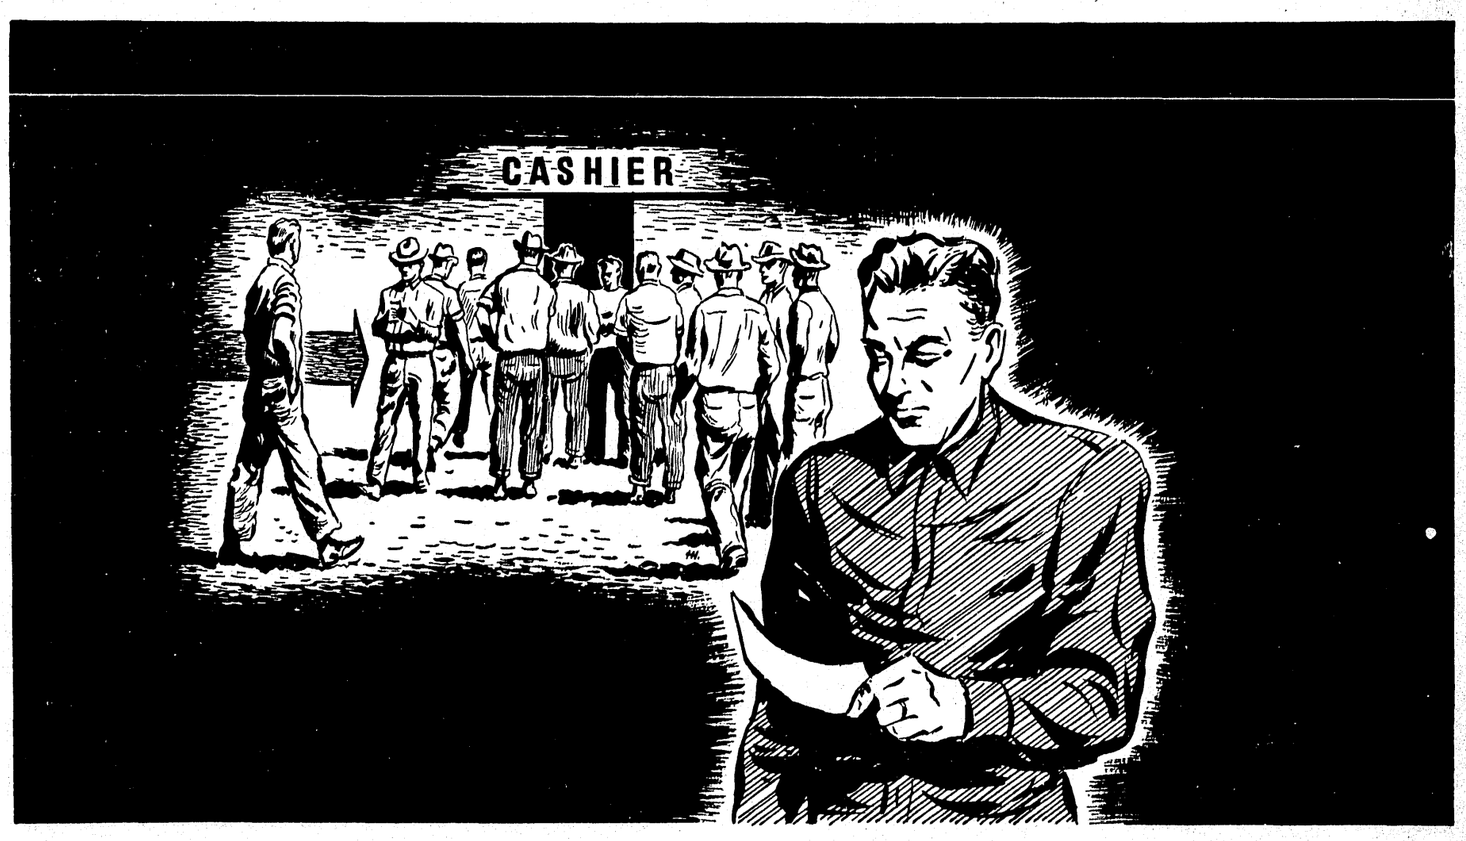
LOWER TAXES . . . MEAN MORE TAKE-HOME PAY



Workers in Louisiana demand Economy in Government

Tax collections hit an all-time high in Louisiana in the fiscal year ended last June 30th. Total revenues and receipts were 38% higher than in the year preceding.

But the State's surplus dropped from 30 million to 14 million dollars! The State's bonded debt rose nearly 19 million dollars!

Everybody knows Louisiana's taxes are substantially higher than the taxes in any other southern state. And the man who should know that best is the worker—the white collar man, the skilled workman, or the laborer. Practically all taxes, from the tax on the natural resource to the final tax on sales, including the hidden taxes on producers, processors, transporters, wholesalers and retailers, are paid by YOU, the consumer.

And here's something else to think about. High taxes on industry in Louisiana tend to discourage expansion of industry or the location of big new industries in our state. That means there are fewer jobs available—and lower wages. So your job is less secure—and much of the blame must be laid on excessive taxes.

Yes, lower taxes would help your take-home dollar buy more goods. It would be BETTER than a raise in pay! That's what YOU are interested in. Let's get together and convince our legislators and other public officials that we demand economy in government. Make your views known to your newly elected representatives and senators. Don't put it off. Tell them in no uncertain terms that you—and a lot of other people like you—want to see them TAX LESS . . . ECONOMIZE MORE.

EPISCOPALIANS ASKED FOR AID

Stricken Europe's Needs To Be Explained By Presiding Bishop

On Sunday, February 29, Episcopalians and others can hear the voice of their presiding bishop, the Rt. Rev. Henry Knox Sherrill. A recording will be presented at the church here at that time. The bishop will tell of needs in war-devastated Europe and Asia and will urge Episcopalians everywhere to rally to the aid of these stricken people.

The message will be given in Episcopal churches throughout the country at the same time.

The Episcopal Church gave more than a million dollars in 1947 through its Presiding Bishop's Fund for World Relief, and it intends to raise the same amount or more in 1948. The entirely new use of radio opens what is expected to be a very brief and highly successful campaign.

At the Sunday service February 29, when Bishop Sherrill's ten-minute address ends, Rev. E. F. Hayward, rector of Grace Church, will tell how one may have a part in this program of aid for the distressed, through the presiding bishop's fund. Then the opportunity will be given for both immediate gifts and short-time pledges. At national church headquarters in New York City it was stated recently that "our 1,600,000 peopeople can raise $1,000,000 for the Presiding Bishop's Fund for World Relief IN ONE DAY if each parish and mission will do its share."

The radio address is "live" that is, it is given by Bishop Sherrill in New York at the time it is heard, with the exception of some places where the radio hookup is impossible. In such instances, electrical transcriptions and phonograph records will be used.

As Episcopal Church people are being told of the forthcoming event, and parish organizations are busily engaged in getting promises of attendance, it is expected that congregations will be extremely large, so that most members of the church will hear the message. Certainly well over a million people, seated in Episcopal churches will hear Bishop Sherrill tell of what he has seen personally in Europe, and what is the church's task at this critical period in the world's history.

This is the first time radio has been used by any church in such a way, to convey a message to its whole constituency at one time.

STASSEN

from Dewey. Stassen last month told a New Hampshire news conference that Dewey ought to speak out, and that he was willing to debate him but nothing came of it. However, today's invitation was more direct.

Stassen offered to debate at eight subjects with Dewey: Taft-Hartley law and labor relations, price and production levels, development and regulation of atomic energy, strengthening the United Nations, policies toward Russia and Communism, federal tax program, reclamation and hydroelectric development, and future educational financing.

He also agreed to discuss such other questions as Dewey considered of "greater importance."

"On this day," he informed the New York governor, "I am entering the Oregon Republican primary in which, with your approval, your name has also been entered.

"I believe that our Republican party has the best chance of a victory over the Truman administration next November and will be of greatest service to the people if the policies are discussed frankly and early with the people of the country and submitted for decision by the Republican voters in the primaries and conventions.

"I, therefore, respectfully invite you to join with me in the discussion of the vital issues of American and Republican policy."

Stassen's invitation was regarded in political circles here as a challenge to Dewey, the GOP 1944 presidential standard bearer, to speak out on current issues more frequently than he has in the past.

Dewey's latest public appearance was in Boston at a Lincoln day dinner. He flayed administration foreign policies in general, but came out strongly for the European recovery plan. He also suggested an American-financed federation of western Europe.

Stassen has been campaigning in the open for the presidential nomination for more than a year.

Dewey announced only last month, in connection with filing of his name in the Oregon primary. He told reporters a few days later that he would discuss national and international issues at times and places of his own choosing.

REJECT

as unacceptable any decisions reached by the London conference.

The aim of the London meeting is to try to provide a maximum of cooperation between the already merged British-American zones of Germany and the French zone. The ultimate aim is unification of all western Germany as one of the basis for the European recovery program.

The text of Lovett's note said:

"The Department of State refers to the communication of Feb. 13 of his excellency, the Soviet ambassador relating to the discussions which the government of the United States, the United Kingdom and France propose to hold in London respecting Germany.

"These discussions have been arranged for the examination of problems in Germany of mutual interest to the three governments. There is no provision in the Potsdam or other agreements relating to Germany concluded by the four occupying powers which prevents any of the powers from discussing between themselves questions of common concern.

"The United States government is surprised that the Soviet government should undertake to remind the other powers of their contractural obligations in Germany.

"The result evoked by the failure of the Soviet government to observe the principle of economic unity provided for in section III, B 14 of the Potsdam agreement impels the other three powers at this time to consult among themselves to put an end to a state of uncertainty and economic deterioration in Germany which threatens recovery in all of Europe.

"As has been repeatedly stated by United States representatives both in the Council of Foreign Ministers and in the Allied Control Council for Germany it remains open to the Soviet government to join the other occupying powers in sound measures for the achievement of the economic and political unity of Germany.

"The fact that it now protests against the endeavors which will be made to develop constructive measures to deal with the present situation in Germany can only be construed as an effort to shift the responsibility incurred by the Soviet government itself for the present division of Germany, with all the unfortunate consequences which this division entails, not only with respect to Germany, but for the recovery of Europe as a whole."

Absentee voting for Tuesday's runoff primary has slowed down considerably from the pace that was set for January 20, it is reported at the office of Clerk of Court Dean Farr. At the first primary 300 votes approximately were cast by absentee voters and barely a third this number was cast up to Saturday afternoon when this form of voting was closed.

To be so included one has to be rated academically in the upper 10 per cent of the college enrollment. She is a junior biology major and member of Alpha Chi.

Construction is now well along on the new science building on the Northeast Junior College campus. Two of the four carloads of steel for the framework and one carload of cement are on the grounds.

Workmen are excavating for the foundation and in two weeks of good working weather the foundation should be completed. The contracting firm is Frank Masling and Son.

Holy Land is expected to lessen. Both sides are preparing for a more organized type of fighting.

Notices in Arabic signed by the "national guard" have appeared in Arab quarters forbidding the shooting of even known Jews on the streets. An Arab leader explained: "We are not interested in killing Jews just because they are Jews. From now on we are waging military operations.

Another Arab informant said no increase in Arab attacks could be expected until late in March after the postponement of the original D-Day set for Feb. 15.

He said several plans for military operations against Jewish settlements and Jewish quarters of Jerusalem had been drafted and initialed by local commanders. The plans have been sent to Cairo for the approval of high Arab political and military leaders.

The British will begin a mass evacuation of the Holy Land in the next few days. This move is connected with Britain's decision to surrender her Palestine mandate tops May 15.

Official and unofficial sources said the first stages of the evacuation plan included:

1. Siphoning off of some British officials and their families through Port Said, an Egyptian city. The first group of 57 persons will sail Feb. 23 for England aboard the Arundel Castle.

2. The use of Haifa for the largest movement of British officials and troops. About 150 officials, policemen and members of families and an estimated 1,800 troops are scheduled to leave Haifa aboard the Franconia March 4.

$200,000,000 American dollars "in freely convertible currency." The sum is demanded as compensation for former German property on Austrian soil which Russia claims. Russia wants the claim paid within two years.

American sources said the United States opposed payment of the claim by Austria in such manner. They contended any "convertible currency" would come indirectly from American taxpayers through the Marshall plan for European recovery.

Under a French proposal, which has both British and American support, the Russian claim would be cut in half. The payments would be spread over eight years after a two-year moratorium and would be met through materials and goods manufactured in Austria.

In addition Russia wants:

Two-thirds of Austria's current and undeveloped oil production.

Twenty-five per cent of the Danube shipping company's assets in Austria plus all the former German assets in the company in Romania, Bulgaria and Hungary.

For two hours the American, British and French deputies pressed Russia's N. P. Koktomov for a list of just what this would mean in terms of ships, property, oil wells and refineries. The Western deputies said later through their official observers that they got little satisfaction in trying to pin Koktomov down to details.

The United States insists that any final peace settlement must contain iron clad guarantees of Austrian sovereignty and independence with the removal of all foreign troops from Austria's soil.

Diplomatic sources said they anticipated this would run into Russian objections on the grounds that the Soviet Union must maintain supply lines in Austria as long as Germany lacks a peace treaty and remains under occupation.

The United States, Britain and France will get together Monday for the opening of a conference of their own on the future of Western Germany. One major issue—security guarantees—may determine its success or failure.

In Paris French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault said those guarantees would be necessary before France merges her German occupation zone with the British and United States zones.

Bidault said the French delegation would press for an internationally controlled special economic regime for the steel mills and coal mines in the Ruhr. France wants all these mills and mines placed under control of two international holding companies. The companies would be owned by neighboring states and German representatives. The companies would see that the industries remained peaceful and that their output was equitably shared in Western Europe.

France also wants a federal form of government for Germany to block the emergence of a strong centralized government.

schools of our parish. Our community will grow and prosper only according to the sound educational opportunities with which we provide our children—who will be our community leaders in the future.

"Are you, as citizens, aware of the policies which are being formed, and the steps which are proposed to solve these problems?

"As a member of the Ouachita Parish School Board from Ward 5, comprising the corporate boundaries of the City of West Monroe, and its adjacent suburbs and rural areas, I am vitally concerned, and very much disturbed as to steps which seem to have been taken, and proposals which have been suggested.

"Along with Dr. J. C. Stewart, I represent some 22,000 people in Ward 5. A majority of the problems which exist, stem from this large population. Ward 5 is the largest school ward in our parish, and our problems are predominant.

"The people of West Monroe, Ward 5, and wards west of Ouachita River must depend entirely on the parish school board for the solution of our educational problems, and for the education facilities which we have. The facilities we have are pitifully inadequate as far as our grade schools are concerned—and as far as secondary schools are concerned, our facilities are non-existent; while, on the other hand, the people of Monroe, and wards east of Ouachita River have a choice between two school systems, and two public high schools, in the matter of selecting their education facilities.

"Consolidation of systems have been suggested, and I have been reported as favoring this movement. I would like to take this opportunity to make my own position clear. In the first place, I am not a resident of Monroe, and I do not feel that I am personally qualified to tell the people of Monroe how they should manage their school properties. The city schools are the property of the City of Monroe, and have been paid for by tax dollars originating from the property within the city limits of the City of Monroe, there being no funds from this source received by the Ouachita Parish School Board.

"The properties of the City of Monroe having been excluded as tax sources from the Ouachita Parish School Board, it is apparent and plain that members of the school board who are elected from within the city limits of the City of Monroe should have no objection whatever to the prompt solution of the problems which exist in Ward 5—before injecting any disturbing controversy such as consolidation—and that these problems should receive first and foremost consideration.

"At a recent meeting of our school board—January 30, 1948—I attempted to make my own position clear.

"Our school board, of course, is composed of very splendid men, although I am inclined to disagree with some of them on school policies. At our recent meeting, Mr. H. F. Madison, chairman of the Citizens Committee which is now studying educational problems of the parish, appeared for the purpose of securing our reactions to suggested solutions of certain problems.

"From Mr. Madison's remarks, I assume that it had been suggested to him that it would be well for the people of Monroe to vote as to whether or not they wished to consolidate their school systems.

"My reaction to this suggestion is that there are a great number of people who reside outside the City of Monroe, who are just as vitally concerned, and that these people, including our citizens in Ward 5, wish to express their opinions regarding consolidation. It is quite possible that these people might not wish to consolidate their school systems at this time. I could not, therefore, approve of any suggestion for consolidation unless all of the people throughout the parish had been given an opportunity to vote on this controversial issue. Further than this, I would approve of such a suggestion only after a six-year junior-senior high school had been established and erected in West Monroe.

"Mr. Madison suggested further that it might be wise to attempt to redistrict our school board membership, electing members according to population alone.

"My feeling is that this is no time to consider such a problem. We must first solve the problems which face us—and until this is done, I would oppose such a movement.

"Mr. Madison suggested that perhaps a junior high school in West Monroe might be sufficient for the time being."

"My reply to this suggestion is that West Monroe will compromise for nothing less than the immediate construction of a six-year junior-senior high school in West Monroe.

"Mr. Madison then suggested that it might be a wise policy to abandon the high school at Calhoun, and transport those students by bus to Monroe and West Monroe.

"This, of course, is impractical, and virtually impossible. I would not approve of such a movement. The school plant already exists in Calhoun, and needs but little in the way of constructional additions. A school at Calhoun can be utilized in the proper solution of many of our problems.

"I have carefully studied the school survey report, the actual conditions as they exist today, the population trends, the school bus routes, and the rural and urban features of our educational system.

"I am convinced of the need of certain minimum additional facilities. We need these things now. We cannot afford to wait! Certainly we cannot wait the more than two years which would be required to settle problems which might exist within the City of Monroe.

"Most of the facilities which are needed by the Ouachita Parish School System are needed west of Ouachita River, and a program should be submitted to the people immediately. What happens in the areas of the parish, outside Monroe, does not at all depend on what happens within the City of Monroe.

"Recommendations will soon be made by our Citizens Committee. When those recommendations are made, lets begin our school program immediately.

"I hope that my remarks may serve as a warning to those persons who have so long opposed a high school in West Monroe. I can assure them that the people of Ward 5 will support no proposed bond issue which does not contemplate the immediate construction of a six-year high school for West Monroe.

"The demand for such a school was a mandate of the people when I was elected as a school board member, and there will be no compromise.

"It is time for a vigorous, vital, forward looking school policy.

"Let's inaugurate such a policy now!

but by the time I became fully awake Neil was gone from the raft."

"I do not know whether he fell from the raft or was seized and dragged from it by the shark."

"I shouted his name until I was exhausted, but neither saw nor heard him again."

Roatan docked in Brownsville harbor at 4 p. m. (CST), an ambulance whisked De Leon to Mercy hospital here.

He told his story in an interview with a Brownsville Herald reporter, who boarded the Roatan from a pilot boat, outside Brazos de Santiago Pass.

Captain E. A. Gough, Master of the Roatan, said Chief Engineer Maurice Brannon, and Seaman Harry Carter spotted de Leon's raft Feb. 19 some 47 miles north of Frontera, the Roatan's last port of call in Mexico. In about 25 minutes de Leon had been brought aboard, the captain said.

De Leon said he had no water during the nine days on the raft, and for food only a bird and two fish he managed to catch.

De Leon said he prayed to Nuestra Senora Del Rosario to either help or destroy him. He said his prayers were rewarded when he sighted the rescue craft.

De Leon and Womack were operating the plane for the Gulf Coast Transport Company, Brownsville, flying seafood from Yucatan peninsula to Texas and New Orleans. Womack was the pilot.

The engines operated perfectly until they had almost reached their destination, de Leon said.

"Then suddenly the left engine began to miss ,and immediately caught fire.

"We feathered the propeller at 2,000 feet and I started to back back and throw out some of the cargo because we were losing altitude rapidly.

"The right engine quit running and we started down real fast. We levelled out and stalled about 200 feet above the sea.

"The plane fell in from that altitude.

"I received a few bruises, but Neil was completely unhurt."

De Leon, said he believed the plane remained afloat less than a minute but that in that time the fliers got into Mae Wests (rubber life preservers) and launched the life raft.

Once, before Womack's disappearance, either a shark or a heavy sea overturned the rubber raft, De Leon said.

"I managed to support Neil, right the raft, and drag both of us back out of the sea."

He said that when he sighted the Roatan he was so weak that he could barely raise his head to look from the raft. The sound of the ship's engines had attracted his attention.

De Leon said he remembered very little of the days after Womack's disappearance.

"All I know is that the sun beat down unmercifully upon me each day, and that from time to time I either went to sleep or lost consciousness."

De Leon said he believed he and Womack, the first day after the crash, sighted two of the aircraft searching for them, and that one of the planes flew directly overhead at about 1,000 feet.

"We waved with our pants and shouted, but they did not see us," De Leon said.

He said that Womack, in his delirium, said: "I have a telegram from my wife telling me that she has already bought a Chevrolet and another from Jack Little that says it's true."

Little is a civil aeronautics administration employe at the control tower at the Brownsville international airport.

De Leon said he became ill after eating the second fish he caught, and did not try to catch any more.

"I prayed to God that it might rain so I could have water to drink, but my prayers went unanswered," he said.

Womack is survived by his wife and baby son. De Leon's home is at Matamoros, across the Rio Grande from Brownsville.

Captain Gough said the first thing De Leon asked for when he was rescued was a drink of water.

"He was very weak and we put him to bed in the mate's stateroom, and began to feed him a little at a time."

De Leon was met when the boat docked by his wife; his brother Tomas, Mexican civil aeronautics official, and his three-year-old son, Esteban, Jr. He is also father of two other sons, Xavier, 6, and Victor, 4.

the bill, said several days of hearings will be held before the House acts on it.

The 14-months measure proposes several changes from the present law. Among these are a provision which would impose criminal penalties for rent control violations.

That proviso was attacked yesterday by Senator Millikin (R.-Colo.) Senator Cain (R.-Wash.), floor manager for the bill, said today that he is inclined to join Millikin and others in removing it.

Cain said he didn't want a law "without any enforcement teeth," but if any part of the bill is dropped, he would favor junking that section.

The measure calls for continued federal controls over rents through April, 1949. Rent increases of 15 percent would be allowed when tenant and landlord could agree on leases running through 1949.

Several amendments are pending. One would knock out a section removing controls on rooms rented in private homes. Another would put residential hotel apartments back under controls.

STEEL

seemingly unhurt by the market slump, Commissioner Ewan S. Clague of the bureau of labor statistics reported.

Next month's Easter parade will give businessmen a tip-off, Clague said in his January job report. It will offer "some test" of the public's attitude—whether consumers will postpone buying in expectation of further price drops.

Taft, after a closed session of the economic committee, told reporters that two or three "typical steel leaders" would be called in to explain their price policy.

"It will be a preliminary discussion to decide if we want to go into this further," he said. Spokesmen for United States Steel Corporation, "Little Steel," and independent producers probably will be invited.

Senator Ball thought the justice department should look into the rise from the standpoint of price collusion. "I think it's a little suspicious when the companies go up about the same amount at the same time," he commented.

Taft promised that the steel price inquiry will not delay the committee's general economic report, due March 1. That document may guide congress' approach to new anti-inflation legislation.

In the B. L. S. appraisal of the sag in commodity prices, Clague inserted this comment:

A price decline, if long and widely spread, could induce both businessmen and consumers to trim their buying. Business might defer expansion plans.

A factory slowdown for such reasons, Clague stated, would have an "important" impact on the nation's booming rate of employment. January and early February saw a drop of 1,100,000 in employment, he said, but this appears to be purely seasonal. He reported this job outlook:

"The underlying demand for labor continues strong, and recent fluctuations in commodity prices have had no visible effects upon the employment situation so far."

These trends were noted:

1. So far the price declines have been limited to a comparatively small group of farm products. "There has been no evidence of lessening in the firm effective demand for goods and services."

2. Clothing and textile makers are preparing for a big Easter. Employment in these industries hit new postwar highs in January—1,375,000 in textiles and 1,373,000 in apparel—while most other industries suffered the usual midwinter decline.

3 A special B. L. S. price study yesterday, appraising the retail effect of the market break, gave this report on consumer goods other than foods: "Latest reports from manufacturers indicate no widespread declines and some advances."

The drop in non-farm jobs and "moderate" increases in unemployment was partly caused by unusually bad weather, Clague said. Factory shutdowns resulting from the shortage added to the number of lay-offs.

Nonetheless, he reported: "Industrial activity continued at very high levels, and there were over a million more non-farm jobs this January than in the same month a year ago."

Jones in the Tuesday run-off primaries in Louisiana. Hebert is supporting Earl Long.

Domengeaux has charged that Long evaded taxes on his income for 1938 and 1939. Hebert has denied this, and has produced copies of Long's income tax returns in support. He insists that if the resolution is adopted the tax returns of Jones as well as Long should be investigated.

Domengeaux yesterday accused Hebert of blocking House action on the Dirksen resolution by asking a roll call vote at a time when the House had agreed to consider no controversial matters requiring roll calls.

Hebert replied that he is supporting the resolution but wishes a record vote. He said that if the investigation is not for "political purposes," a few days' is of no importance.

Domengeaux told a reporter today he expects House action on the resolution Monday or Tuesday.

Most of Louisiana's delegation will be in the state for Tuesday's primaries.

ROTARY MEET IN MONROE SLATED

Widespread Interest Shown In Conference; Guernsey At Helm

Widespread interest is being shown in the 139th district conference of Rotary International which will meet here March 14 and 15. It is expected to prove one of the largest and most important meetings to be held in Monroe this year, according to Gardiner Young, president of the Monroe Rotary Club.

Various committees have been arranged and much preliminary work has been accomplished for the meeting to be held next month.

Of special interest at this time is the life story of some of the leaders of Rotary. At the helm, as president of Rotary International is S. Kendrick Guernsey. Mr. Guernsey is executive vice-president of the Gulf Life Insurance Company of Jacksonville, Fla. He was born in Orlando, Fla., and was graduated from the University of Pennsylvania. After serving as an officer in the United States army in World War I, he was engaged for many years in the real estate and investment business in Orlando, where he was president of the Chamber of Commerce, chairman of the county school board, and director of the Boy Scouts and the Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Guernsey was a charter member of the Rotary Club of Orlando, which was organized in 1920, is a past president of that club, and is now a member of the Rotary Club of Jacksonville. He has served Rotary International as vice-president, district governor, and as committee chairman and member. He is president of Rotary International for 1947-48.

During the first part of his year as president of Rotary International, Mr. Guernsey made a 40,000-mile airplane tour of Rotary clubs in Australia, Guam, Hawaii, Hong Kong, Java, New Zealand, Singapore, Siam and the Philippines.

Mr. Guernsey has been active in boys work for many years, and has been secretary of the National Boys and Girls Week committee for the United States since 1933. He is Florida state president of the United Service Organization, chairman of the Florida Citizens Committee on Education, Florida vice-chairman of the American Life Convention, a member of the state highway commission, and a director of the state Chamber of Commerce. In Jacksonville, he is a director of the Children's Home Society, Boy Scouts and the Y. M. C. A.

An ardent sportsman, Mr. Guernsey particularly enjoys golf, fishing and hunting.

His family consists of his wife, Edythe, and his two daughters, Helen Elizabeth and Edythe Kendrick, who are attending college in Boston.

First government explorer to penetrate Utah was John Charles Fremont, in 1843.

ROTARY CHIEF

S. KENDRICK GUERNSEY

DRIVERS CAUTIONED ABOUT MUFFLER LACK

The Monroe police department, through Chief of Police J. D. Busby, reminds car owners that it is a violation of the law to operate any car, truck, motorcycle, or motorbike without the proper muffler.

Chief Busby says that it is a violation to operate vehicles with "cut-outs" and what is commonly known as "road pipes."

He asks that drivers cooperate in getting the proper mufflers put on their motor vehicles, without prosecution.

Chief Busby asks that the people drive particularly careful in the bad weather and that pedestrians look carefully before crossing streets.

Pedestrians are reminded, in getting off buses, to stand on the curb until the traffic has cleared away, before crossing the street.

For the Sake of Agriculture

VOTE FOR

DAVE PEARCE

As Commissioner of Agriculture

We, the undersigned, recognize the great importance that our agriculture plays in the over-all economy of the state. Knowing this we feel it is of the utmost importance that we select the very best man possible to fill the office of Commissioner of Agriculture. Some of us farm, some are in business, more are salaried people. We are from both political factions—some supporting Earl Long and others Sam Jones. We are not agreed here. But we are speaking as one man for Dave Pearce for Commissioner of Agriculture.

We know of no man who has rendered a greater service to our agriculture than has Dave Pearce. For 8 years he has led the farmers' fight as State Representative from West Carroll Parish. He is primarily responsible for the following benefits to agriculture:

1. State appropriation for our huge drainage program.
2. Appropriations for soil conservation, forestry, horticulturial and agronomy research and for additional experimental stations.
3. Setting up and financing a farm market commission
4. Funds for artificial livestock breeding, livestock shows and poultry improvement.
5. Setting up and financing a sweet potato advertising agency.
6. Plus many other aids to agriculture, making a total of 52 measures he has introduced and had passed.

We know further that Dave Pearce is a successful farmer himself and is the only dirt farmer left in the race. Dave is running on a sound, practical and workable farm program which shows that he truly understands our farm problems.

So we cast aside our political differences insofar as this man is concerned and for the sake of our agriculture and for the general prosperity of all Louisiana we are unanimous in our support of Dave Pearce for Commissioner of Agriculture.

Palmer Stakes Extension Test In Big Creek Sector

Murphy - Sun To Undertake Eastern Edge Test In Madison Parish Delhi Sector

Among the most important exploration projects now underway in the Monroe district is Palmer Oil Company's proposed 3,600-foot wildcat two miles south of the Richland parish Big Creek field.

Location is on a J. C. Allen lease, farmed out by Stanolind Oil and Gas, in the center of the northwest quarter of the northwest quarter of section 25-16-7E, four miles west of the Archibald townsite.

Preliminary surveys are reported to have indicated a structure continuous with the one from which Big Creek wells are now producing. If successful, the test will have the practical effect of extending the limits of the Big Creek area at least two miles to the south.

Murphy-Sun last week made location for an eastern extension of the Madison parish Delhi field. Designated as the McKay-Frazier Unit No. 1, the well is to be drilled in the northwest quarter of section 15-17-10E, an offset to Burden and Kemp's successful edge test completed last November.

Eight producers were brought in during the past week, seven of them in Union parish's Ora field, and one in the LaSalle Tullos-Urania areas. On the debit side were two failures.

Three of the Ora wells were on Shell Oil Company's Frost Lumber "B" lease in the Ora section. All pumpers, they were the B-4, rated at 106 barrels a day from 2,161 feet; the B-5, gauged at 150 barrels a day from an open hole bottomed at 2,147 feet, and the B-6, 206 barrels daily from 2,177 feet.

On the northwest flank of the development, section 14-22-1W, C. H. Murphy completed the Turnage No. 1 as a pumper with the sparse daily output of 26 barrels a day. Another deficient well was Murphy's Clyde No. 3 in section 27-22-1W, rated at a pumping potential of only 61 barrels a day.

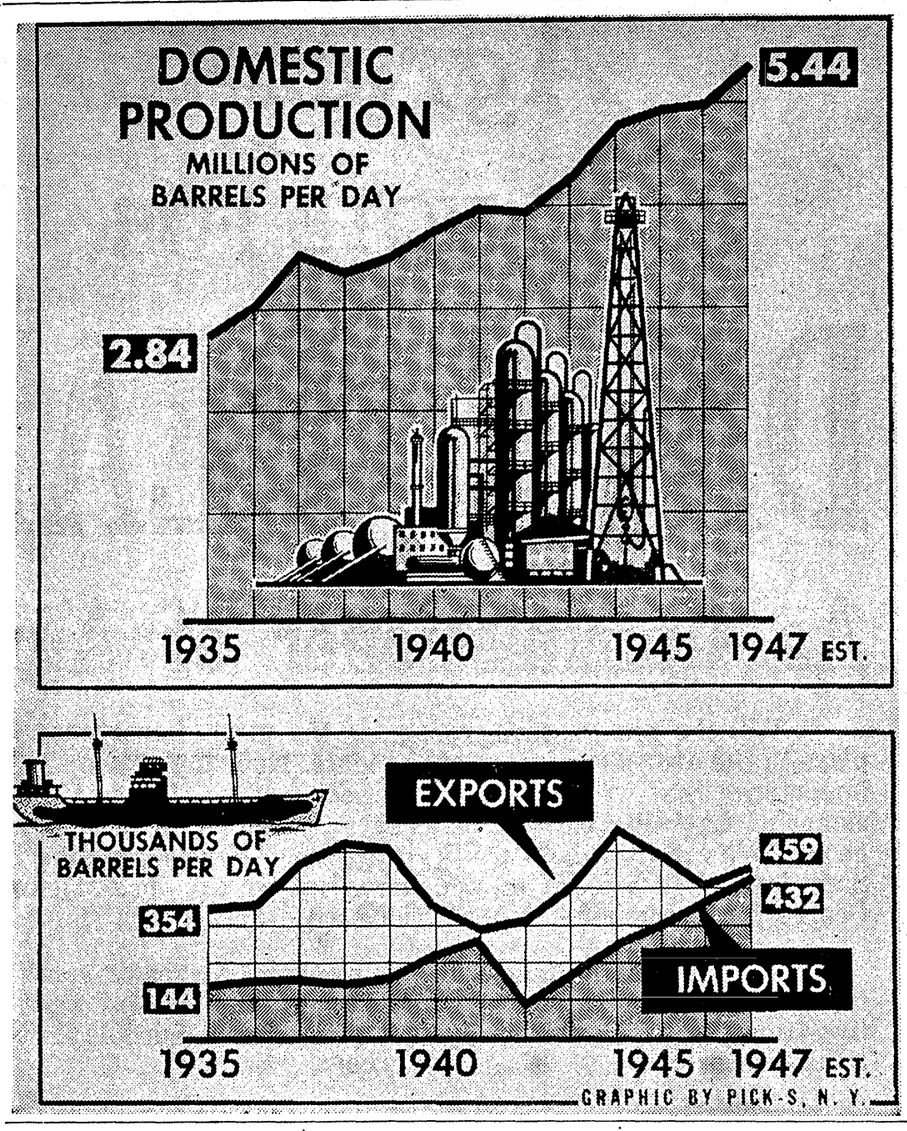
Marine Oil Company's Monzingo Rivers No. 7, in section 23-22-1W, was brought in with a pumping rate of 119 barrels a day from a total depth of 2,132 feet.

LaSalle parish's lone success for the week was Justiss Mear's Tremont No. 2, section 25-10-1E, in the southeastern tip of the Tullos-Urania sector. Capacity of the well, a pumper, was gauged at a meager 42 barrels a day from 1,534 feet.

The week's two casualties were Placid Oil's Tremont Lumber H-2, section 30-9-2E, of the Little Creek field, and the Primos-Glasscock-Chapman No. 1, section 8-16-8E of the Richland parish Big Creek field.

Abandonment of the former, a western extension test, was made at 2,472 feet. The Big Creek project was given up at 3,109 feet.

Apparently spurred by the recent success of Shell Oil Company in the Ora midsection, two more operators have staked locations there. They are Jerry Cararas, who spotted a test on the 50-acre Phelps tract in the northeast corner of the section, and Wilson Ewing et al, who staked the Albritton No. 1 in the southeast corner.



HUMBLE TO DRILL 738 WELLS IN '48

$65,000,000 Exploration Program Includes Three Or Four Gulf Tests

HOUSTON, Feb. 21.—(AP)—President Harry C. Weiss of the Humble Oil and Refining Company today announced plans for a $65,000,000 oil drilling program.

Wiess said expenditures will cover drilling of 738 wells, 163 more than the company drilled last year.

The oil official said the program is Humble's means of keeping pace with increasing consumers demands for petroleum and petroleum products.

He estimated one-third of the expenditures will be used for drilling wildcat wells in searching for new oil fields. The balance will go into expansion programs for areas already known to contain oil.

Three or four wells will be drilled off the gulf coast.

Humble's current production of crude oil is at an annual rate of 131,000,000 barrels, 15 per cent higher than a year ago, he said. "At the same time, the national crude oil production rate is about 12 1/2 per cent above last year."

Of almost equal importance to Texas is an increasing concentration of synthetic gasoline projects in the southern part of the state.

The Texas Company last week announced the Carthage Hydrocol, Inc., plant (with the Texas Company owning 38 per cent of the stock) is to open next year at Brownsville.

Carthage Hydrocol will produce 7,000 barrels of synthetic gasoline daily through its complicated and expensive process of turning natural gas into synthesis gas.

L. C. Kemp, director of Texaco research, in announcing the Brownsville plant figures during a New York interview, said that within ten years the United States should have 50 such plants producing 350,000 barrels a day.

Carthage Hydrocol will use 280,000,000 cubic feet of air and 90,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas daily.

Kemp pointed out that economists estimate the hydrocol process will make 163,000,000,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas available for synthetic gasoline. This is the equivalent of 16,300,000,000 barrels of crude oil and would supply the United States with its gasoline requirements for nine years at the rate of 1946's demands.

While still expensive, the hydrocol process, Kemp reports, reduces investment costs to one-third of the process used by Germany in making snythetic gasoline and reduces operating costs to one-fourth.

FATE OF GAS ACT CHANGE IN DOUBT

Proponents And Foes Of New Legislation Set To Work On Feasible Compromise

WASHINGTON, Feb. 21.—(Special)—The status of the Rizley-Moore Natural Gas amendments is touch and go, as proponents and opponents of the legislation get down to brass tacks to write up an acceptable compromise.

The Senate Commerce Subcommittee headed by Senator E. H. Moore, Republican, Oklahoma, has concluded hearings. Members of the subcommittee are now meeting in executive session trying to draft a bill that will receive support of a majority of the full committee.

The measure would remove the Federal Power Commission's hand of control from much of the natural gas industry.

The full Commerce Committee bottled up the legislation last year by a 7 to 6 vote, and Rizley-Moore backers are trying to make concessions that will win over at least one more vote to get the legislation to the floor.

Spokesmen for the gas industry, which is sponsoring the amendments, privately concede that they will probably have to come to terms with a majority of the members of the Federal Power Commission if any sort of legislation is to reach the statute books.

The necessity for compromise springs from the fact that a split government exists in Washington, with Congress under the control of Republicans who are inclined to favor the Rizley-Moore proposals, and the administration still in the hands of Democrats who will have to be coaxed.

It is generally assumed that unless the bill finally passed by Congress meets the approval of the majority of the FPC, President Truman will veto it. A veto would kill off the legislation at this session of Congress because it could hardly be expected to muster the necessary two-thirds majority to over-ride.

The membership of the FPC is itself split over the question of changing the 1938 Natural Gas Act. All four of the present commissioners oppose the Rizley-Moore bill in the form which the House passed overwhelmingly last session.

But Chairman Nelson Lee Smith and Commissioner Harrington Wimberly are prepared to go part way in changing the act. On the other hand Commissioners Leland Olds and Claude L. Draper oppose any change whatever in the present law.

The fifth place on the commission is vacant. Burton N. Behling, a protege of Chairman Smith, has been nominated to the post. If the appointment is confirmed, he has indicated he will go along with the Smith-Wimberly faction in accepting some compromise. His confirmation would give the Smith faction a majority of the commission, which in turn would probably induce President Truman not to veto a bill acceptable to the Smith group.

Any compromise would probably involve these two points:

1. Independent producers would be freed explicitly from FPC regulation. The commission has already done this by administrative ruling, but the industry insists that the exemption be written into law.

2. A change in the formula for determining the field price of gas produced by affiliates of interstate pipeline companies.

As to this last, the commission has already agreed that the present formula of "utility value" is inequitable. Smith has proposed a "commodity value" standard, but the industry contends this is a vague phrase and wants a specific interpretation in terms of dollars and cents.

United Gas Plans Large Expansion

Construction And Development To Include Two New Gasoline Plants, Connections To Serve 27,000 More Consumers In Five State Area

A $26,000,000 program of construction and development, including two new gasoline plants and hundreds of miles of additional pipeline, will highlight the 1948 activities of the United Gas Corporation.

Immediate beneficiaries of the expansion, according to United Gas President N. C. McGowan, will be 27,000 homes, stores and factories for whom natural gas service will be available for the first time.

All of the new consumers, McGowan said, will be served directly from distribution lines of United Gas. In addition, many other service connections will be made possible by firms to which United Gas plans to supply larger amounts of gas for resale.

The expansion program, McGowan said, will involve United Gas and all of its subsidiaries. These companies, he added, have spent more than 200 million dollars on similar projects since 1947.

One subsidiary, United Gas Pipe Line Company, contemplates expenditures of more than $14,000,000 during the year within the five-state area it now serves. Construction will include a new gasoline plant at Carthage, Texas, major additions to existing transmission lines, and the extension of new lines into adjacent communities.

Another subsidiary, Union Producing Company, has a budget of approximately $6,500,000 for acquisition of leases, exploratory drilling, gas and oil field development and recycling operations.

Increasing costs of equipment and labor are reflected in the 1948 budget for service extensions, McGowen pointed out. The average cost of adding each new customer to United Gas distribution lines this year will be approximately $189.00, the highest cost per customer in history.

Hundreds of land owners, royalty owners, and producers will be affected by plans of United Gas Pipe Line Company for the current year. In line with its policy of providing market outlets for an increasing number of wells wherever practical, United plans scores of field line construction projects in 1948. The aggregate cost of these projects is $1,725,000.

More than $8,500,000 has been approved for United Gas Pipe Line Company for construction of additional main transmission lines, with some 25 specific projects planned. The largest single undertaking, costing approximately $3,000,000, will provide facilities to gather, dehydrate and transport gas from Baxterville field, in Mississippi, to Mobile, Alabama, a distance of more than ninety miles. Its purpose is to provide additional capacity to both wholesale and retail customers in the Pensacola and Mobile areas.

Another major project involves expansion of compressor facilities and the laying of major pipe lines to meet growing requirements of power plants and industries in the Dallas-Fort Worth area and to supply increased demands for Tyler and Kilgore, Texas.

It is estimated that this program will cost nearly $2,500,000.

The increasing importance of natural gasoline is noted in the allocation of funds for construction of plant facilities for extraction of gasoline from natural gas. The largest single project in this category is the second United Gas plant at Carthage, Texas, involving expenditures of some $3,500,000.

Union Producing Company is expected to spend more than $1,600,000 on exploratory drilling in some 17 areas. Gas and oil field development will cost the company another $2,500,000, with sizeable expenditures planned in both north and south Louisiana. More than $600,000 is set aside for development of recycling operations in North Pettus and Burnell fields.

Approximately $200,000 has been appropriated by another subsidiary, Duval Texas Sulphur Company, for exploration and general equipment.

McGowen pointed out that a large percentage of the total $26,000,000 budget for construction and development would go into jobs for workmen in Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, southern Alabama and western Florida.

LA. HEADS NATION IN DEEP DRILLING

1947 Total Of 76 Wells Below 12,000 Feet More Than Half Of Rest Of U. S.

A 1947 total of 76 wells drilled 12,000 or below pushed Louisiana far ahead of the nation's other oil producing states in quests for deep deposits of petroleum and natural gas.

The 1947 figure, according to the current issue of the Petroleum Engineer, is more than triple that of California, where deep explorations numbered 24, and of Texas, where they added up to 20.

These compared with nine in Oklahoma, four in Wyoming, three in Mississippi, two in Florida, and one each in Utah and New Mexico.

Louisiana's aggregate total for deep tests, the Engineer reported, is 220, as against 108 for California and 86 for Texas.

Within the state, Iberia and Terrebonne parishes each counted 13 wells more than two miles deep, followed by Vermillion with seven, and Plaquemines, and St. Mary six each.

Alone in North Louisiana was Webster parish with two.

Thus far, the Engineer reported, the U. S. petroleum industry has discovered 22 oil and gas pools at depths of more than two miles, ten of which were brought into production during 1947.

The nation's total of deep tests during the past year was 144, completed at a cost of approximately $50,000.

Results, however, were the best since the first deep test in 1935, the Engineer observed. Before last year, some $100,000,000 was spent to drill 317 "super-deep" wells, of which only 12 ended in the development of pay formations.

Fifty-five of the 1947 wells are now producing oil or gas or both. Besides the 10 new fields or sands, 25 pay formations were discovered in shallow structures and 20 producers were completed in known fields.

Louisiana has 11 deep producing sands, the most of any state, and California is second with six. Texas, Oklahoma, Mississippi and Utah each has a new oil field below 12,000 feet opened in 1947. Wyoming has a gas field discovered in 1946.

The Utah discovery produces a gas composed almost entirely of nearly pure carbon dioxide, used to make dry ice.

Through 1947, a total of 449 tests have been drilled below 12,000 feet in 11 states, including one off Tererbonne parish in the Gulf of Mexico. Canada has five, Venezuela, two, The Bahamas, Ecuador and Germany one each. There are reports that a deep well in this class was drilled in France and another in Russia.

The search for deep oil, the Engineer concluded, is becoming more successful because of cumulative data on deep geological formations, improved and standardized equipment for deep operations, and experience gained in previous projects.

BENES

rally at which the Communists voiced their demands.

Then the president went to Lany, his country estate, to let the situation stew over the week-end.

There, it was reported, he received Zdenek Fierlinger, former premier and left-wing Social Democrat leader. Fierlinger was removed from his party chairmanship last November by the party congress because of his continued close alliance with Communists.

The Social Democrats yesterday stood by the other three anti-Communist parties in the five-party government in their demands that the Communists rescind an order for the replacement of eight non-Communist police supervisors in Prague and nearby districts. But they did not tender their resignations from the government along with the other parties. A party statement declared they would not serve in a government with Communists only. But there was a schism in the party, with many openly pro-Communist. Communists were openly courting the party.

The Communist campaign to force Benes to accept the resignations of the cabinet ministers representing the Czech National Socialists, Slovak Democrats and Catholic peoples began last night. Gottwald went to the president and asked permission to name new ministers replacing those who had quit. The president refused.

Gottwald renewed his demands at a Communist mass meeting today then he went back to the president with a delegation of 55 miners and factory workers.

He took with him a resolution calling the resigned ministers "agents of foreign reaction."

Among them were Justice Minister Prokop Drtina, a Czech National Socialist, and one of the three targets in a mail bomb plot last September. Another was Deputy Premier Peter Zenkl, a Czech National Socialist who was marked for assassination in the plot. Drtina has charged Communist members were involved in the plot.

Gottwald demanded that representatives of agrarian, labor, veterans, youth and partisan organizations, all Communist front groups, will be allowed to replace the resigned ministers.

His denunciations of the other parties were cheered at the mass meeting in the old town square which Communists said was attended by 200,000. To observers the number appeared less than 100,000.

Red flags covered the statue of Jan Hus, Bohemia's religious hero and martyr. A small crowd collected before the offices of the Czech National Socialist organ shouting, "Let's stop this newspaper."

But police guards intervened and there was no violence.

Gottwald demanded a new government from top to bottom. He called for reorganization of the local and regional committees of the national front, the coalition of all parties that has been governing the country, demanding new personnel "without underminers and those who hinder progress."

The speech boomed out over amplifiers all over the city, and the crowd thundered, "long live the government of Premier Gottwald without the reactionaries."

Later, Gottwald again conferred with Benes, but the president did not give in to his demands.

On the other hand he had not capitulated to the Czech National Socialist, Slovak Democrat and Catholic peoples parties who yesterday withdrew from the cabinet in a deadlock over alleged Communist efforts to build a police state.

The three parties demanded the Communist minister of the interior rescind his order for the replacement of eight non-Communist district police supervisors in Prague and surrounding area. The Communists refused to back down.

But the bigger issue appeared to be whether Czechoslovakia is to be led into the out-and-out pro-Soviet bloc. The non-Communists were believed to have staged the maneuver to force the Communists into an early general election before they are prepared.

The Communists won 38 per cent of the representation in the constituent assembly at the last election in May, 1946, and have seven ministers in the government. The assembly has not yet written a constitution.

The fourth non-Communist party in the government, the Social Democrats, stood with the other three yesterday on demands that the Communists rescind their police order. But they had not yet resigned from the government.

A party statement said Social Democrats would not serve in a government with Communists alone. But there were evidences of a split in the party's ranks. Some were vociferously siding with the Communists.

The party has wielded a balance of power in the cabinet. Its votes frequently gave the Communists enough to win on important issues.

MONROE'S CITY TEACHERS MEET

Speakers Discuss Financing And Improving Of School Systems

The Monroe City Teachers' Association met Tuesday, February 17, in Neville High School auditorium. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Howard Willard, who turned the meeting over to the program chairman who introduced Miss Clara Hall and the Neville High School Glee Club. The Glee Club sang the following selections:

1—"Evening Song" (an old French shepherd song).

2—A group of Negro spirituals: "It's Me O Lord," "I'm a Rolling," "Go Down Moses."

Mrs. Eulalia McCoy stated that the topic for discussion was "Our N. E. A. and What It Means to Us."

Miss Eloise Cann was introduced and Miss Cann's topic comprised "The Scope of the N. E. A."

Miss Cann stated that on August 26, 1857, the National Teachers' Association was formed. The purpose of this organization was to advance the teaching profession, elevate the character of the teachers and raise the cause of the teaching profession throughout the United States.

Superintendents and other groups were added in different departments. There are now 29 different departments in the National Education Association. At first the membership was small but it grew rapidly and in 1906 it was chartered by the national Congress as the National Education Association.

In 1903 there began an active program for teacher welfare and the headquarters of the National Education Association is now located in Washington, D. C.

The program of service expanded in 1921 and in 1922 a research division was added. As this organization grew it became so large that it was necessary to create a representative assembly. In 1944 they embarked on a five-year plan of unification and expansion and development. This was absorbed by the victory action program.

The National Education Association has established groups or councils of which there are six:

Commission on educational policies, commission for defense of democracy through education, commission for safety education, commission of teacher preparation and professional standards, legislative committee, council on teacher retirement.

The committees are continually at work in the field of study, interpretation and action.

The standing committees work in the following fields:

Citizenship, credit union, international relations, professional ethics, tax education and school finance, teacher tenure and academic freedom.

The National Education Association cooperates with other organizations that have a mutual interest in specific problems.

The following are the organizations that cooperate:

American Legion, American Library Association, American Medical Association, American Teachers Association, National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

For 90 years the N. E. A. has been the heart and center of professional movement for the American teacher, the speaker said.

Mrs. A. D. Tisdale was introduced to the group and her topic was "The N. E. A. and Federal Aid to Education."

Mrs. Tisdale urged the group to read the bill if they had not done so and for all to read the bill who are interested in education.

The bill is called the financial assistance bill and was referred to the public welfare and labor committee.

The bill is S.-472 and has been amended completely except for the first section.

There are three bases for federal policy in education:

1. National interest. In richer states, $1,200 to $6,000 is spent on each room. Of course other states cannot do this and so the standard goes down.

2. To have good citizens, the citizenry must be educated, so they may understand the privileges and advantages of a democracy.

3. Preservation of a democracy.

The need for federal assistance is because of sub-standard education. "There is one teacher in eight who has a sub-standard certificate," stated Mrs. Tisdale. Also thousands of teachers have left the profession. Four million children didn't go to school one day and state systems are unable to compete with other occupations. In 1941-1945, 350,000 teachers left the profession because of inadequate salary. With all the pressure that has been applied only two states have a minimum of $2,400 a year salary.

It is well known that students are not taking up teaching as a profession. It used to be that 90 per cent took teachers' courses but now it is down to 50 per cent.

Physical equipment has reached a low point and in the survey of Louisiana schools it was noted that rural schools were particularly low.

Some reasons the inequalities are prevalent is that the best schools spent $6,000 a year per classroom and the poorer schools paid $100 or less per classroom.

Educational inequalities are due also to natural resources.

There is still to be the preservation of local control and the amount the government gives is not to take over and run the schools. The states will still provide, and bringing the per educable up to $50 in Louisiana, would mean that the federal government would give $18.16.

The bill does not try to tamper with the curriculum.

The meeting was turned over to the president, Mrs. Willard, and a business session followed.

Air Force Funds

WASHINGTON—The defense department may ask immediate congressional action on proposals to make air force funds for new planes available until expended. That way, officials say, long range planning could be started with the fiscal year beginning July 1.

The practice has been to limit use of appropriations to two years.

New York

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Cotton futures moved narrowly today in quiet dealings.

Prices started lower under commission house and New Orleans selling along with some March liquidation, prior to first notice day on Tuesday. Subsequently, however, a reappearance of trade buying imparted a steady undertone, particularly in nearby positions.

Part of the demand was said to be for mill account, along with covering against recent export sales to Germany and the far east.

Futures closed 65 cents a bale lower to 40 cents higher than the previous close.

POSTWAR PUSH

carefully avoided the use of the word "communist" in announcing deportation proceedings against aliens. It talked of persons alleged to advocate "the overthrow, by force and violence, of the government of the United States."

That cumbersome descriptive is now being dropped more and more frequently in favor of the term "alien communist."

The 26 pending deportation cases under the Communist activity charge are by all odds the largest batch of such actions since the immigration laws were tightened up in 1940. Before that year, a deportation order required proof that the alien involved was a member of an organization advocating violent overthrow of the government at the time of his detention for deportation.

The 1940 change makes it possible to deport if the alien can be shown to have been a member of such a group at any time.

Among those now held for deportation are the German-born Gerhard Eisler, described in the department as "the brains" of communism in the United States since 1941. He is under two criminal convictions for giving false passport information and for contempt of congress for refusing to answer questions about himself.

His brother, Hans Eisler, a musician and composer long established in Hollywood, is under a final order of deportation, and is scheduled to "voluntarily" sail with his wife from New York March 2.

Detained at Ellis Island with Gerhard Eisler are John Williamson, member of the Communist party's national committee, and Ferdinand C. Smith, national secretary of the C. I. O. National Maritime Union.

The immigration service says Williamson is a native of Scotland. He claims he was born in San Francisco and that the earthquake and fire there in 1906 destroyed the record. Smith is a native of Jamaica, British West Indies.

It is estimated that there were 4,000 lakes in Connecticut at the end of the ice age, of which 2,500 have disappeared.

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—(AP)—In one of the slowest sessions of the past four years, the stock market made some selective progress today although many leaders faltered.

There was a little further short covering for the lengthy week-end. Major markets will recess Monday in observance of Washington's birthday. Customers, on the whole, gave Wall street a wide berth and board rooms were virtually deserted.

Dealings frequently were at a stand still after the opening. Volume for the two hours was in the neighborhood of 250,000 shares.

Bonds were steady. Grains exhibited considerable nervousness.

TRYOUTS SCHEDULED FOR LITTLE THEATER

Little Theatre try-outs for the fourth play of the season will be held today at 2:30 p.m. and at 7:30 p.m. Monday according to Kay Crandall Causey, director of the group, who cordially invites everyone in the Twin Cities to come out for these readings regardless of previous experience.

The readings, Mrs. Causey assures, will be conducted in a friendly, informal way that makes it like sitting around someone's living room looking over a play.

"The Missing Witness," the selection of the Playreading Committee, will be the next play. Because it is a courtroom murder trial feature, plans have been made to present it in the Monroe court house. The production calls for men to fill the two main roles, the defense attorney and the prosecuting attorney, as well as numerous smaller parts, including the judge and the various witnesses. The defendant is a young woman. Other woman roles include numerous small parts, ranging from a young society girl, the "missing witness," to character parts such as the "apple woman."

SPECIAL NOTICE
TO ALL VOTERS IN OUACHITA PARISH

The undersigned veterans' organizations wish to make it completely clear that they are not endorsing either Sam H. Jones or Earl K. Long for governor.

In these organizations are some veterans who are supporting Long and some who are supporting Jones. Therefore, it would be extremely ill-advised for any of these organizations to run the risk of splitting their ranks by endorsing either of the two candidates.

As civic minded organizations interested in good government, we urge all voters to go to the polls next Tuesday and vote for the candidate they consider the best qualified to serve as governor of the state of Louisiana.

BERNIE MOORE NAMED S. E. C. COMMISSIONER

RESIGNS AS L. S. U. COACH TO ACCEPT HIS NEW POSITION

Conference Also Formally Approves 'Purity Code' Of N. C. A. A.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Feb. 21.—(AP)—The Southeastern Conference today formally approved the "purity code" of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, and named Coach Bernie Moore of Louisiana State University as commissioner.

The first action abolishes for future players the controversial "grant-in-aid" by which conference schools awarded athletes expenses and $10 per month.

Moore's selection, made at the recommendation of the conference football coaches, is effective immediately. His salary will be $12,000 annually for four years. An additional $10,000 annually is available for expenses.

Action on the N. C. A. A. "purity code," under which no athlete may be given a scholarship except on the same basis as other students, also followed recommendation of the coaches and athletic directors.

President Blake Van Leer of Georgia Tech, who also is president of the S. E. C., said the closed afternoon session was one of the "most harmonious meetings" he had attended. Language of the S. E. C. code governing aid to athletes, he said, flows "in toto" the wording of N. C. A. A. regulations on the subject.

Van Leer also named a five-man group to consider post-season bowls. Its duties include a study of the proposal from the New Orleans Mid-Winter Sports Association to have the conference provide a "representative" team for the annual Jan. 1 Sugar Bowl football game.

Members of the group are:

Horace Renegar, Tulane, chairman; J. G. Lee, faculty chairman of L. S. U.; Wilbur Hutsell, Auburn athletic director; W. A. Alexander, Georgia Tech athletic director, and Jeff Coleman, Alabama business manager of athletics.

Van Leer said the bowl committee would set up a "yardstick by which bowl games can be measured." Points to be considered, he added, include financial responsibility, ticket allocations, and integrity of the promoting groups.

A proposal from Harry Myers of the Los Angeles county American Legion council, for a post-season football game in the Los Angeles Coliseum, was referred to the bowl committee. Myers said his group would promote a game there at the close of the 1948 season.

Moore resigned as head football coach at L. S. U. today. He is a native of Jonesvoro, Tenn., and played football at Carson-Newman College. After coaching at Mercer University, he came to L. S. U. in 1928, and has been head coach since 1935. Moore also has coached L. S. U. track, and has won 12 of the 15 S. E. C. meets.

He succeeds Dean N. W. Dougherty of Tennessee, who had been acting commissioner since Mike Conner resigned from the post last year.

Today's action by the conference completed work begun at the annual meeting at Biloxi, Miss., last December.

When President Blake Van Leer of Georgia Tech, who was elected conference president at Biloxi, called the meeting to order, the board had before it a list of recommendations from the athletic directors and coaches.

The latter group, after a meeting in Atlanta last month and several here this week, recommended:

(1) The appointment of head football Coach Bernie Moore of L. S. U., as conference commissioner;

(2) Recognizing existence of any agreements made prior to today between high school athletes and the member colleges; and

(3) A program for awarding scholarships and "legitimate jobs" to athletes.

It was on this last recommendation that the governing board centered its attention to open the two-day meeting. Earlier in the week, the athletic directors and coaches—who are vested with no power—gave out their interpretation of the N. C. A. A.'s new code.

In it, they agreed that financial aid to any athlete, from any source in any form, could not exceed the amount of the actual expenses of the institution involved. They contended that this is less than the N. C. A. A. permits since the latter places no ceiling on the amount of money a student could earn on a job.

The presidents and the athletic heads met this morning in informal discussion of some of the changes necessary to place the conference's rules and regulations in harmony with those of the N. C. A. A. under the new code.

HEADS S. E .C.

Bernie Moore (above), head football coach at Louisiana State University, yesterday was chosen commissioner of the Southeastern Conference to succeed Mike Conner who resigned last year because of ill health. Dean N. W. Dougherty, Tennessee, has been acting commissioner until a successor could be named for Conner. Moore has been at L. S. U. since 1928 and head coach for 13 years.

EL MONO SCORES UPSET TRIUMPH IN WIDENER 'CAP

Favored Assault, Armed Finish Out Of Money; Stud Poker Second

By Wilbur Jennings

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 21.—(AP)—Assault and Armed, the champions, bit the dust today as El Mono, a 15 to 1 shot, won the $50,000-Added Widener in a new record time of 2:01 for the mile and a quarter at Hialeah race course.

The four-year-old colt owned by Daniel Lamont of Altoona, Pa., came from last place to win by a nose from another unknown, Stud Poker. Still another underdog, Bug Juice, was third.

Where were the champs?

Armed finished fourth and Assault a length and a half behind in fifth place.

El Mono paid $32.40, $12.90 and $7.60. Stud Poker returned $35.90 and $25.70 and Bug Juice $12.50.

The surprise winner, ridden by Jockey Porter Roberts of Lexington, Ky., was last out of the starting gate. He moved into eighth position at the half-mile pole and at the far turn poured on full steam to advance from eighth to third place. He wore down Stud Poker in the stretch to win.

Assault was second leaving the gate as Stud Poker moved to the front. The King Ranch Comet, winner of the triple-crown in 1946, was seventh at the three-quarter pole, pulled into third position at the end of a mile and dropped back to fifth place in the stretch under veteran Jockey Eddie Arcaro.

Armed, with Jockey Al Snider in the saddle, was fourth at the start, dropped back to sixth and then seventh and pulled up to fifth position in the stretch.

Neither Armed or Assault, each carrying top weight of 130 pounds, offered a serious threat as the three longshot finishers set the pace.

Incline, ridden by Jockey Doug Dodson was sixth; Dan Chappell's Let's Dance was seventh; Circle M Farm's Riskolater was eighth and Mrs. Askel Wichfeld's Cable was last.

The race was supposed to decide whether Armed or Assault was the better. The Calumet seven-year-old gelding which had beaten the club-footed Assault last year at Belmont Park by six lengths, beat Assault today, but it was a hollow victory.

Jockey Roberts was all smiles as he talked of the race.

"I had to put the whip to him to keep him going," he said.

El Mono was trained by Roscoe Troxler of Miami.

His records to date includes 12 victories in 41 starts, eight of them last year and nine seconds and five thirds. He had earned $55,650 before today and his Widener earnings boosted the total to $99,450.

Lamont said he would keep El Mono in Florida until mid-April when he would take him east for the big stake events there.

GEORGIA SCHOOL MAY OUST COACH BECAUSE OF KLAN 'PUBLICITY'

LAKEVIEW, Ga., Feb. 21.—(AP)—Coach Walter Bowland, who strapped on a six-shooter to scare off the Ku Klux Klan, hasn't been fired--yet.

The hefty ex-Marine said he thought he had been dismissed yesterday when one of his pupils at Lakeview High School told him, "we're sorry to hear that you've been fired."

Later, the coach ran into Miss Ruth Williams, Catoosa county school superintendent. She said she had read about his being fired but that it hadn't happened yet.

"But I'll tell you one thing," Miss Williams added, "you'll receive a notice very shortly that you have been suspended until the board of education meets the first of next month. All this publicity is disgraceful."

The school trustees had voted to let Bowland go because, they claimed, he had failed as a coach and because he wouldn't stop giving out "publicity." The trustees can only recommend, however; The board of education has the final word.

Bowland said the trustees really wanted to get rid of him because he had "the guts" to haul out a gun and get friends to do likewise at a school basketball game Tuesday night. He said the Klan had designated that as the night to "get" him.

He added that his "green" basketball team won eight games and lost four.

The whole thing started, he explained, when he knocked down a former student who was trying to break up a basketball practice session. The Klan threatened to tar and feather him if he didn't leave town.

Bowland said he had hired a lawyer and that he would go to court to hold his job. Principal John Burks announced yesterday he had resigned to back up the coach but said later his resignation had been rejected and that he would stay on.

Lakeview is a town of 3,600 in northwest Georgia, seven miles south of Chattanooga, Tenn.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

by Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—(AP)—The Yankees and Dodgers won the major league pennants last year, but the 1948 red and green books indicate that they don't intend to stand pat . . . The Yanks have 16 "rookies" on their list of 41 players for spring training (counting some who were with the club part of last season.) The Dodgers have 13 freshmen, most of whom had tryouts in 1947 . . . Top clubs in the rookie department are the Browns and Cubs with 23 each while the Phillies and Pirates are pushing them hard with 20 apiece . . . Speaking of rookies, Pitcher Robert Lee Hansen, who'll try out with the Giants' Jersey City farm, pitched seven no-hit games during two years of high school ball at Harriman, N. Y. . . . He didn't add any to his last with the Erie, Pa., mid-Atlantic league club last season.

Doctor's Orders

Not long before the basketball season, Tommy Tolan of St. John's was limping around on crutches as the result of an old service injury . . . Finally he consented to an operation by Dr. Robert Preston and was able to get into action with a big brace on his leg . . . The doc says the effects of the brace are more mental than physical . . . Just before St. John's played Niagara the other night, a friend told Tolan: "You'd better have a good night. Doc Preston is watching you play for the first time." . . . Tommy, who usually isn't a high scorer, led the team with 14 points and played a whale of a game.

Sports Before Your Eyes

The Norfolk sports club is polling golf writers on their choice of pros who play each type of shot best in order to pick teams for a unique event at Virginia Beach in which each player will play only his "specialty" shots . . . Lafayette, Louisiana, Cris Cegle's old home town, is planning a "Camelia" Bowl sports program, to include basketball, boxing and football, and would like to hear from top-rank basketball teams that are interested . . . The Australian government will subsidize the Aussie Olympic team to the extent of $12,800. . . . The football Giants haven't heard yet whether Bill Shuler, who planned to play only one season of pro football, has decided to try another.

Second Generation

Three of the athletes who'll compete in the intercollegiate A. A. A. A. indoor meet next week are sons of former Olympic champions . . . Fred Tootell, Rhode Island State coach and Olympic hammer throw winner in 1924, will watch his son, Geoffrey, put the shot for Harvard . . . Tom Foss, Cornell pole vaulter, is the son of Frank, who won the same event at the 1920 Olympics and J. Rodney Meredith, Yale quarter miler, is the son of Ted, 1912 Olympic 800 meters champ.

Take A Bow

Al (Hackensack, N. J.) Del Greco says that Branch Rickey pulled an "Eddie Miller" in his Wilberforce speech . . . But, Al adds, it isn't likely that Branch will be traded to the Phillies for talking out of turn.

HAAS SEES LEAD AT ORLEANS CUT TO TWO STROKES

Dick Metz Pulls Up On Crescent City Star For Second Place

By Kris Kreeger

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Front-running Fred Haas, Jr., slowed his pace somewhat today but still held a lead of two strokes at the end of 54 holes in the $10,000 New Orleans Open Golf Tournament.

The tourney, marred yesterday by a dispute over the grooving of Freddie's club faces, had no recurrence of that theme today. However, penalties were announced against two leading players for infractions of P. G. A. rules.

Haas, playing his home course at Metairie Country Club, shot 36-37—73 after taking 67 on each of the first two rounds. Par is 71.

His three-quarter mark of 207 was two strokes better than the second-place 209 of Dick Metz, handsome swinger from Arkansas City, Kans. Metz added 34-35—69 to his previous 140.

Haas had a lead of five strokes yesterday at the end of the second round.

Jimmy Demaret and Ed Furgol were the players penalized today by George Schneiter, P. G. A. vice-president and tournament committee chairman.

Schneiter said Demaret, winner of the Varden Trophy last year for low average scoring in tournament play, was ineligible to keep the cup for 1948 because he walked off the course yesterday at the eighth hole.

George explained that P. G. A. rules require a player to complete all rounds begun to be eligible for the trophy. Demaret, a Texan playing out of Ojai, Calif., had an average of 69.80 strokes per 18 holes in last year's tourneys.

He also was leading money winner and masters' champion.

Furgol, of Pontiac, Mich., suffered deduction of ten points from his Ryder Cup score. Schneiter said Furgol was guilty of "ungentlemanly" conduct by intentionally digging divits and otherwise "beating the course," in anger over some poor shots yesterday.

Furgol had 48 toward membership on the cup team which plays British pros in biennial competition. Schneiter said that placed him among the first ten aspirants for the ten-man squad.

However, the P. G. A. official said, "Conduct as well as ability will be considered in choosing the team."

The argument over Haas' club faces yesterday was begun by Bobby Locke of South Africa, who complained the grooves were deeper than the rules allowed. This was supposed to give added control over the ball by increasing the backspin.

Haas filed four of his clubs to meet the protest before starting the second round.

Several name players today scoffed at the argument over club faces. They included National Open Champion Lew Worsham of Oakmont, Pa., Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa.; Jimmy Thomson of New York and Ellsworth Vines of Chicago.

They said the effect of grooving had been exaggerated and the protests were unwarranted. There were disputes on the subject last week in the Rio Grande open at Harlingen, Texas.

In third place behind Metz was Roberto de Vincenzo of Buenos Aires, Argentina, who shot 37-33—70 for a total of 210.

At 211 were John Palmer of Badin, N. C., and Bob Hamilton of Reynolds, Ky.

Lawson Little of Cleveland, Ohio, and Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago, leading money winner of 1948, came next at 212.

Bunched at 213 were P. G. A. Champion Jim Ferrier of San Francisco; Sam Snead of Hot Springs, Va.; Marty Furgol of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Hogan, Thomson and Cary Middlecoff of Memphis, Tenn.

Locke had 214 along with Jackson Bradley of St. Charles, Ill.; Frank Moore of St. Louis, Mo.; and Bob Gray of Toronto, Canada.

Bradley's 35-33—68 was low score for the day.

Frank Champ of Lake Charles, La., who had shared the opening day lead with Haas, was at 215 with Al Smith of Winston Salem, N. C.

Three-Finger Brown Conquered Mathewson; Not In Hall Of Fame

By Harry Grayson

CHICAGO, Feb. 21. — (NEA) — Now that he is dead, perhaps the writers, or one of those trick special committees that have the say, will finally get around to electing Mordecai Peter Centennial Brown to baseball's Hall-of-Fame.

It is astonishing that a plaque commemorating the remarkable achievements of the extraordinary pitcher of the Cubs' most glorious days is not set in the wall of the showplace at Cooperstown.

Three-Finger Pitch

Looking at Three-Fingered Brown's record, you wonder just what a pitcher has to do to gain such recognition.

Mighty few players of the game were more richly entitled to lasting fame.

In his youth, a cornshredder took away half of the index finger of Brown's powerful right hand to make him the foremost rival and conqueror of the immortal Christy Mathewson. That was when the fiercely fought meetings of the Chicago and New York National League clubs stirred the nation.

Brown was named Centennial because he was born at Jamesville, Ind., in the centennial year of 1876. He was called Miner because he was raised in that coal-mining town, but the childhood farm accident gave him the tag that lasted. Three-Fingered, and paradoxically contributed most to his tremendous success.

Brown of the lyrical Tinker-to-Evers-to-Chance days pitched with the stump of the index finger and his second and third fingers and thumb, which made him the first dipsy-doodler, as Jimmy Archer, who caught him, points out.

Brown threw straight overhand, and his best pitch was one of the widest curves that ever baffled a batter. It broke out and down to a right-hand batter, in an down to a left-hand hitter. The stub of the index finger enabled Brown to put more spin on the sphere.

Brown, who gave John McGraw so many headaches, was the Giant manager's type of pitcher because he kept the ball low. The opposition pounded the pellet into the ground—to Evers, to Tinker, to Chance, and Brown himself. Three-Fingered was swift enough, had a wide repertoire and remarkable control that permitted him to do the unexpected.

Originally a third baseman, Brown was his own fifth infielder. In 1908, his finest year, he handled 108 chances without an error.

He was one of the handful of pitchers who outguessed Tyrus Raymond Cobb to set up a force play at third base. With two men on in the fourth game of the 1908 World Series, Brown fielded Cobb's bunt and forced Charley O'Leary at third base to head off a Detroit rally.

The pitcher was no weak spot in the batting order, where the opposing hurler could rest and doctor up his wounds, when Brown was toiling. The five-foot 11-inch, 180-pound Brownie was a formidable switch hitter, got to first base in a jiffy and around the bases.

Because he was such a grand competitor, Brown drew the tougher assignments. Nearly every start he made from 1906 through '11, during which time he won from 20 to 29 a campaign, was a match game.

Brown tackled Mathewson 24 times, won on 13 occasions.

Nine of Brown's victories over Matty and the Polo Grounders came consecutively between June 12 and Oct. 8, 1908, the year of young Fred Merkle's never-to-be-forgotten boner and the historic play-off in which Three-Fingered again bested Big Six.

Brown in 1908 also was called the Royal Rescuer, because in addition to starting he relieved, frequently without having been in the bullpen.

Brown further distinguished himself as an Iron Man.

The day before Merkle forgot to touch second, Three-Fingered was credited with two victories over the Jints the same afternoon, 4-3 and 3-1, going two and two-thirds innings relieving Orvie Overall in the curtain-raiser. He was in nine games in 21 days.

Brown turned in three World Series shutouts. He had five one-hitters in the National, one in the Federal League and another in the Chicago city series. He copped 11 straight in 1906, had 52 shutouts in the National and four in the Federal.

From 1903 through '16, Brown won 239 games, lost 131, for a percentage of .646. From '06 through '09, he won 102, lost 30, for 773. He won 26, lost 6 in '06 for .813, won 29 and lost 9 in '08. From '04 through '11, he won 181, lost 77 to be the only pitcher in baseball history with a percentage above .700 for eight straight years.

And Three-Fingered Brown isn't in the Hall-of-Fame!

REBELS DEFEAT ALABAMA, 40-35

Ole Miss Gets Revenge For Recent Defeat At Hands Of Tide

OXFORD, Miss., Feb. 21.—(AP)—The University of Mississippi basketball team beat the University of Alabama 40-35 here tonight, avenging the Rebels' one point loss in Tuscaloosa February 10.

Alabama completely ruled the floor during the first half, forging ahead from a 4-4 tie worked up by Mississippi in the first five minutes. It was not until only seven minutes remained in the game that Mississippi made its bid.

With the score 33-32 at that point the Rebels managed to block the Alabaman's tries effectively, meanwhile running their total to 40 as the clock showed three minutes to go.

GRAYSON'S SCOREBOARD

By Harry Grayson

NEW YORK, Feb. 21—(NEA)—All you hear on the National League side is an up and coming race between the Dodgers and the Braves. There are a few scattering votes for the Giants.

"But why throw the Cardinals out?" shouts personable Eddie Dyer, all the way from Houston, and not without reason.

"Weren't we entitled to one bad year?"

Offhand you would have to say the Red Birds had every right to toss one poor season, after winning four pennants and three World Series in six campaigns.

Getting all of that wobbly baseball out of their systems in 1947, the blokes in the red blazers were beaten by the Dodgers by no more than five games.

This after an almost unbelievably slow start, and with the great Stanley Musial practically a hospital patient all the way along the route.

The plucky Musial playing in 149 games, despite an appendix that was kicking up and sore tonsils and finishing with a batting average of .312, was one of the more remarkable stories of the year. The Donora Dandy did not crack .200 until June 1.

Most of the baseball writers have written off the St. Louis Nationals with Sam Breadon, the end of an era, etc.

But how are you going to count out an outfit with pitchers like Munger, Pollet, Brecheen, Dickson, Hearn and some good ones coming up, infielders of the caliber of Musial, Schoendienst, Marion and Kurowski and outfielders like Slaughter and Moore?

Terry Moore is the Cards' old man at 35, but he can still get up and go when his legs are in good shape. Slaughter is the next oldest Red Bird at 32. Marion and Kurowski are 30, Northey 28, Musial 27, Schoendienst and Rice 25, Garagiola only 22.

There is plenty of baseball left in the old machine, and there will be the usual replacements this spring.

While the Cardinals were suckers for left-hand pitching for a spell, the big difference between the clubs of 1946 and '47 was Howie Pollet. The left-handed Beau Brummell of the Bayous copped 21 before something snapped in his back in '46. He accounted for no more than nine last trip.

Had Pollet picked up the other 12, the Cardinals wolud have walked in.

A new front office deal may help the Cardinals, and their stars have not spent the winter on the rubber chicken circuit.

It was to chasing around the country and taking bows for friends that Musial traced his illness and relatively poor season.

Buddy Kerr of the Giants and others suspected that the switch from the outfield affected Musial's hitting, but that was not the case in 1946. All he did in the strange surroundings then was hit .365. And in picking up lost ground last season he batted better than .400 for a spell.

Those who would play Musial in the outfield reason that there he would have time to relax and further study hitting. Their contention is that an infielder is occupied in the field at all times, can concentrate on his hitting only when his side is at bat.

But outstanding hitters have played the infield since the first diamond was laid out, and all matchless Stanley Musial needs to swat the ball often and for maginificent distances is his health.

With Musial, Marion, Slaughter Kurowski and some more, don't let anyone kid you about the Cardinals.

They are not going to lie down and play dead.

SALMAGUNDI HITS WIRE 1ST TO TAKE SAN VICENTE 'CAP

Helis' Colt Claims $50,000 Event; Call Bell Runs Second

By Bob Myers

ARCADIA, Calif., Feb. 21.—(AP)—Salmagundi captured the $50,000 San Vicente Handicap over nine rival three-year-olds today to pop up as the big threat in the rich Santa Anita Derby two weeks away.

William G. Helis' colt, scoring the first major stakes victory for the Los Angeles-New Orleans turfman's stable, outfought and outgamed Miss Mary Strnad's highly regarded Call Bell in a duel down the stretch and hit the wire a length and a quarter in front.

Solidarity, owned by Mrs. Nat Goldstone of Los Angeles, ran third and Brown Moat, owned by Jay Paley of Los Angeles and New York, ran a surprising fourth.

A crowd of 53,000 turned out to watch this last big race for the three-year-olds before the $100,000 derby rolls around March 6th.

The triumph was worth $37,600 net to multi-millionaire Helis. Helis in the past few weeks saw several of his campaigners defeated, but today he was out of the city and missed Salmagundi's effort.

The mile and one-sixteenth distance was run in 1:44 1/5 and Salmagundi paid $7.00, $3.60 and $2.50. Call Bell paid $4.20 and $2.80, and Solidarity $2.60.

The win was Jockey Johnny Longden's third of the afternoon.

The feature turned out to be a battle of strategy between the entries of Helis, with Salmagundi and Mr. Ace, and Norman W. Church, with May Reward and Royal Chance.

Royal Chance and Mr. Ace fought it out over the pace until they left the backside, with Salmagundi and May Reward hanging back. The difference was the Helis colt got up, May Reward couldn't, and finished dead last.

Call Bell, with Jackie Westrope aboard, made the first move, and then came Salmagundi.

Charging into the stretch, Call Bell took the lead, and Longden riding Salmagundi perfectly, turned on the heat. The two ran neck and neck until the last 100 yards, when Longden's colt drove out to a lead and victory.

Trailing the fist four were Stage Glitter, Pennon, Drumbeat, Royal Chance, Mr. Ace and May Reward.

MISSISSIPPI 'CAP WON BY JACK S. L.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Jack S. L. drew ahead of Captain Joe in the stretch to win the $5,000 Fair Grounds feature, Mississippi Handicap, by two lengths today.

Jack S. L., owned by Mrs. J. S. Letellier and ridden by Jockey R. L. Baird, paid $6 for $2 in the mutuels.

Only three horses were entered in the feature. The third place entry, Star Reward of Dixiana Stables, was temporarily left at the post.

However, after the two leading horses had gotten off to a 100-yard start, Star Reward decided to take off and trailed the other two around the track.

In the secondary feature, Antilles purse, five Louisiana Derby candidates were entered. The winner was Bovard, owned by S. W. Labrot and ridden by Willie Saunders.

Bovard paid $13.00 to win and $4.00 to place. Shy Guy came in second and Bilt Rite third.

The 7,423 spectators poured $342,193 through the mutuel windows during the afternoon.

Man-Sized Job Awaiting Moore's Replacement At Louisiana State

TIME AND SCHEDULE WILL CAUSE HEADACHES FOR NEW BENGAL COACH; SEVERAL NAMED AS LIKELY CHOICES

BATON ROUGE, La., Feb. 21.—(AP)—Bernie Moore has left a man-sized job to his successor as football coach at Louisiana State University.

Not only will the new coach have to stretch his legs to keep up with Moore's won and lost record, but he also will have some headaches caused by time and schedule.

The L. S. U. team completed today its second week of a six-week spring practice span. Therefore, even though a successor is named immediately, he won't have much time to put his ideas into effect this spring.

But that's not all. Southeastern Conference rules prohibit the opening of fall practice before September 1. And L. S. U. has a date with the University of Texas on September 18—which will give the coach only 15 days—counting out Sundays—to get ready for the Sugar Bowl champions.

After Texas on a schedule which delights the fans come Rice, Texas A. and M., Vanderbilt, Ole Miss, Mississippi State, Alabama, Georgia, North Carolina and Tulane.

Moore's resignation to become conference commissioner comes as no surprise, and there's been plenty of talks about the identity of the successor. The likelihood is that the athletic council hasn't made any decisions.

Prominently mentioned are Bobby Dodd, Georgia Tech's coach, and Henry "Red" Sanders, top man at Vanderbilt. Possible candidates on Moore's own staff are Jesse Fatherree, backfield coach; Gaynell Tinsley, end coach, and A. L. "Red" Swanson, general assistant.

Also figuring in the talk are Arthur W. "Slick" Morton, who assisted Moore for three years before becoming head coach at Virginia Military Academy last year, and Ellis "Fuzzy" Brown, who has compiled a good record as coach of Baton Rouge's Istrouma high school.

Because of the time factor, one of the present assistants may have an edge.

Moore, who has been paid $12,500 a year at L. S. U., has been head football coach for 13 years. His teams have won 86, lost 39 and tied six games. His first three teams played in the Sugar Bowl. He later took elevens to the Orange Bowl and the Cotton Bowl.

Good as Moore's football record is, his track performance has been better.

As head track coach, he has developed teams which won the Southeastern Conference championship 12 of the 15 years since the conference was established.

His 1933 team was national champion. Jack Torrance, who still holds the world shot put record, was the mainstay of the outfit.

Moore's current five-year contract at L. S. U. would have expired Dec. 1, 1948.

NO FAVORITES

BATON ROUGE, La., Feb. 21.—(AP)—There was no indication at Louisiana State University today as to who will succeed Bernie Moore, who resigned as head coach today to become commissioner of the Southeastern Conference.

Most of the top officials of the school are attending the conference meeting at Birmingham, but university sources said Moore's successor would be named "in the usual manner."

They said the first recommendations would originate with Athletic Director T. P. "Red" Heard, be acted upon by the school's athletic council and passed on to Dr. Harold W. Stoke, president of the university. Dr. Stoke, they said, would then make his recommendation to the board of supervisors, which would make the final choice.

The same procedure is followed in filling all vacancies, they said.

WANT JIM MALONE

With the head football coaching job at L. S. U. open, a boon for James L. Malone as his successor was getting underway yesterday.

Malone, a former L. S. U. football center who has served as head coach and athletic director at Northeast Junior College of L. S. U. here for 14 years, yesterday was reported as the "choice" of many L. S. U. alumni throughout the state.

Contacted last night at Birmingham, Ala., where he is attending the S. E. C. meeting, Malone said he had "no comment" on the drive being undertaken by his supporters, but declared: "I would consider it a great honor if I could return to my old Alma Mater as football coach."

Malone has produced consistent winners here, and his supporters feel he would be capable of doing an even greater job at L. S. U. with its greater resources.

DAVE BOLEN OUTRUNS FAVORED PERFORMERS

By Austin Bealmear

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—(AP)—Dave Bolen, America's best quarter-miler, won the 600-yard title in the National A. A. U. indoor track and field championships tonight as the favored Herb McKenley of Jamaica, Olympic 400-meter favorite, wound up a poor fourth.

Bolen took the lead after one turn around the 160-yard oval at Madison Square Garden and held it the rest of the way to score by a yard and a half in the crack time of 1:11.8.

George Guida of Villanova, defending champion at the distance, finished second after setting the pace through the first lap while Frank Fox of Seton Hall College beat the fading McKenley for third.

REBS IN MARKET FOR NEW PASSER

Ole Miss Badly In Need Of Replacement For Charlie Conerly

UNIVERSITY, Miss., Feb. 21.—(Special)—The old formula that "lightning never lands twice in the same place" may have a distinct bearing on the outline of Ole Miss' football future.

Coach John Vaught, bothered by the thought, has had the door ajar for more than two weeks now and thus far readily admits he's not found another Conerly, or even a reasonable facsimile.

And that's the rub—the Rebs' lightning has wound up his college career and it may take a full flurry of strikes to shrink up the slack.

Vaught would like an exact replica, as who wouldn't; but the idea in general is to find an adequate "reliable" and bear down on a stable of backs who bid fair to land with a much heavier punch than the Rebs were able to muster last autumn.

Conerly handled more than 90 per cent of the Ole Miss passing in 1946-47, completing 210 of 384 pitches. Too, he took care of a good 90 per cent of the punting, more than a fourth of the running; out of 27 touchdown passes, he threw 23 and 13 of 20 ground-game markers were his.

His was an All-America story, that's what, and the duplication will be more than difficult.

At any rate, Vaught's not wasting any time polishing the talent at hand, especially with the squad missing a full week of outdoor drilling because of the weather.

Any and all backs able to lift an arm have been undergoing target practice and the results, indoors, have developed a fair shake on proficiency. Those qualifying in scrimmage trials will be kept in line for more tutoring.

Last season's aides to Conerly — Will Glover, Bob Wilson and Billy Mustin—have been taking their turns and even Farley Salmon, quick-footed little right half, has been dealing with the ball. Others in line for bids as passers are Bob Oswalt, a blocking back in '47; Sonnyboy Shelby, wingback, and Rookies 'D' and 'J' Salley, Ray Choate and Bobby Hemphill.

Few of last season's agile targets have departed, a factor that lands part of Vaught's problem in good hands. But for the rest of the story he'll have to come up with more than an airmail stamp.

It's work that promises to be the big issue of current spring drills.

WINNSBORO PLAYS OAK RIDGE QUINT TUESDAY

WINNSBORO, La., Feb. 21.—(Special)—The Winnsboro High School Wildcats, who today won second place in the Class A boys division of the district basketball tournament at Louisiana Tech, will meet the Oak Ridge High School quintet here Tuesday night at 8 o'clock, Coach John Nicosia announced.

Oak Ridge finished second today in the Class C division of the same tournament at Ruston.

Coach Nicosia said he was also arranging for a preliminary game on the same Tuesday show, starting at 7 o'clock.

CHOCTAWS BEATEN BY FLORENCE, 70-69

FLORENCE, Ala., Feb. 21.—(AP)—Florence State Teachers College eked out a 70 to 69 win over Mississippi College here tonight by a goal from the field in the last 10 seconds of play.

Florence got off to an early lead only to have Mississippi even the score after five minutes then go ahead. From then until the final whistle it was nip and tuck affair with the lead changing consistently.

Florence held a 10-point lead late in the third quarter, but minutes later Mississippi was in front again by one point. Florence's forward, Ryan, iced the game with a last-minute field goal.

It was Florence's 10th win against eight losses.

INJURIES FATAL TO LIGHT-HEAVY

Boxer Sam Baroudi Dies Following Battle With Ezzard Charles

CHICAGO, Feb. 21. —(AP)— Tragic death from blows received in a fight today ended a promising light heavyweight career of Sam Baroudi, 20-year-old Negro lad of New York.

Baroudi collapsed and died without gaining consciousness in a hospital six hours after being knocked out for the first time in his career. The knockout blow was delivered by Ezzard Charles of Cincinnati in the tenth and final round of their battle in the Chicago Stadium last night.

The coroner's jury began investigation into the ring tragedy.

Stricken with a cerebral hemorrhage from the stream of punches to his head, Baroudi was carried unconscious from the ring on a stretcher to his dressing room.

Forty-five minutes after the knockout Baroudi was rushed to Columbus hospital. He died six hours later.

The finish of the fight came with electric suddenness in a savage attack by Charles that lasted only 47 seconds after the start of the tenth and final round.

From the seventh round on, Charles' drilling punches to the head slowly weakened his foe. In the ninth Charles' cool fury increased with every series of blows he fired.

In the tenth, a series of five blows to the body and head left Bardoudi glassy eyed, staggering near the ropes. Then Charles fired a searing left hook to the pit of the stomach—the winning blow. Baroudi fell just under the ropes, convulsing weirdly.

Referee Tommy Thomas said the finishing blow landed in the pit of Baroudi's stomach and was a fair punch.

Charles, a tall rangy Negro, 26 years old, is ranked as the No. 1 challenger for the world's light heavyweight championship held by Gus Lesnevich.

BEAU JACK FAILS IN CLOSE BATTLE

NEW YORK, Feb. 21.—(AP)—The Beau Jack comeback is stalled. All because of a tough East Side New Yorker named Terry Young and a lone point on the scorecard of Referee Frank Fullam.

The fight fans' favorite comment, "It could have been a draw," was appropriate last night. Even the officials were split, to say nothing of the crowd of 14,923 which paid $66,317. All agreed it was the best fight of the winter season.

Judge Charley Shortell liked Young and Judge Harold Barnes found for Jack. Each had it 5-4 in rounds with one even. Fullam thought each boy won five rounds. Ruling that Young took his rounds by a wider margin, he gave Terry a thin 6-5 edge in points.

Jack, at 26, didn't look like the old bouncing Beau who twice marched to the lightweight crown. Some of the old zip was missing, probably because of his twice-fractured left kneecap.

Young also had changed. He didn't look like the fellow who lost recently to 19-year-old Paddy Demarco. Terry took punishment gamely, countered with effect and scored the only knockdown of the bout when he floored Jack for two in the first with a left hook.

The camp of Beau, the former shoeshine boy from Augusta, Ga., who drew $1,558,074 into Madison Square Garden in 26 appearances, still has ambitious future plans. Their busy puncher goes with Sammy Angott, another former lightweight champ, in Chicago March 12.

The Garden will keep Young busy. Probably he'll have De Marco in a return bout March 26 or April 2. Then there's the matter of a title shot with Ike Williams, promised the winner of last night's brawl.

Mobley, Laye Rematched In Title Feud At Kallio's Arena Tuesday

Rex Gives Rival Chance To Reclaim Light Heavyweight Crown

Rex Mobley and Charlie Laye, who battled through a weird wrestling brawl here the past week that finally ended with three decisions being made before Mobley walked off with Laye's world's light heavyweight belt, have been called back to do it all over again.

"There was so much misunderstanding between the wrestlers and among the spectators that it appears almost necessary that they be matched immediately in a return bout," Promoter Gus Kallio said last night.

Strange things occur in wrestling, and that's what happened last Tuesday night. After both Laye and Mobley had won a fall, they came back for the deciding scramble that apparently ended when Mobley pinned Laye, but the champ had a foot anchored in a twist of the ring ropes.

Referee Bill Barney gave Laye the pin count, but reversed the verdict when he saw how Laye's foot was trapped, and he ordered the match to continue. Mobley tried to argue his point with the referee, and Laye came up on his blind side with a haymaker that floored the Texan. Laye promptly covered him, and this time Barney gave Mobley the count.

It appeared for a few moments that Commissioner Dave Silverstein, witnessing the bout from the ringside and in possession of the belt, was going to put the "freeze" on the title, but after Laye had departed to his dressing room, the commissioner approached Kallio and declared: "Give it to Mobley."

Many times wrestlers here have lost falls when their foot became trapped in the ropes, just as Laye was first counted out last Tuesday, and referees let it pass. However, it has been explained that no fall can be declared when a wrestler is partly outside the ropes or tied up in the same, indicating that Barney was probably right in reversing his first decision. But it's so frequent that such is permitted, that Commissioner Silverstein could see no reason why it should suddenly be thrown out.

But wrestling is a strange game. It's what is finally decided that apparently counts, regardless of how other matches were permitted to run.

Laye, the villain of the match and in ill favor with the crowd, was very bitter about the outcome.

"If a man was ever the victim of robbery, I'm that guy," the husky Tennessee brawler exploded, "I don't blame the referee at bit. When he saw a mistake, he corrected it. It's the mistakes since that haven't been corrected that make me see red.

"I'm still the champion regardless of whether I've got the belt or not, and I'll convince Mr. Mobley, Mr. Silverstein, and those Mobleyites at the ringside that I am. Those same customers who were howling for my scalp and cheering the decision in favor of Mobley would have been grumbling yet about unfairness and frameups if our positions had been reversed last Tuesday."

Mobley had very little to say about the outcome last week but declared he thought he had won "fairly and squarely" and that he wasn't afraid to meet Laye again.

Promoter Kallio last night said he would have a new referee, Pat Cronin, former heavyweight boxer of Jackson, Miss., officiating his main event Tuesday night.

The semi-final attraction will have Mel Peters, Portland, Ore., paired against Tom George, Chicago, Ill.

California's electricity is produced by water power.)

2. Reduction of electric lighting, with no exterior lights for buildings, 50 per cent less outside theater lighting, 50 per cent less light for sports events, no lighting for advertising unless power companies agree (except one identification sign for each commercial house), permission for power companies to bar show window lighting, and sharp reduction in all street and outdoor parking lighting.

A movement to adopt daylight saving time at the legislative session opening March 1 found increasing backers. Warren estimated it would save about 300,000 kilowatt hours.

Seven power companies are to appear before the utilities commission at Tuesday's hearing but are not expected to oppose the new rules. The principal companies have already reduced power to commercial consumers.

Under the utilities commission's plan, such famed whiteways at Hollywood boulevard would become almost as drab as it was in war.

Four clubs of the Pacific Coast Baseball League, which normally play up to four night games a week, would have to reschedule half of them for days.

Residential consumers will have a quota of their last year's electrical use set at the Tuesday hearing.

Farmers, the heaviest drouth sufferers so far, will have to curtail pumping for irrigation.

Spokesmen for livestock associations said the rails previously had declined to allow lower rates but that new negotiations will begin next week.

Damage to the ruined building was placed at more than $500,000.

The fire at the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Co., warehouse did damage estimated at $200,000. About 150 employes escaped unhurt but three firemen were hurt fighting the flames fed by grease, sugar and cardboard.

SUPPORT

will slam down their criticism of the program Monday before Senator J. Howard McGrath of Rhode Island, the Democratic national chairman. Governors Laney of Arkansas, Jester of Texas, Tuck of Virginia, Thurmond of South Carolina and Cherry of North Carolina were heading for the capital.

The only promise McGrath has given is that he will pass their protests along to Mr. Truman. The president tonight was en route to the Virgin Islands where he was to be given an official reception by William H. Hastie, Negro governor of that Caribbean outpost.

Southerners have found the Senate, rather than the House, their main line of defense in fighting similar race-relations legislation in past sessions. That is because of a difference in the rules of the two bodies. The general practice of unlimited debate in the Senate has enabled them to talk the bills to death.

But there is a chink in that defense—the cloture rule. Cloture is a device by which two-thirds of those voting can limit each senator to a single, one-hour speech on a bill and all amendments.

The southerners were said to be able to tally at this time only 25 sure votes—eight short of the strength needed if all 96 senators voted—to ward off the cloture rule.

Traditionally the southerners have been able to avoid adoption of the gag rule because of Republican help.

In the last previous test, July 31, 1946, seven Republicans joined the southerners to ward off cloture on a bill to outlaw state poll taxes. They were Senators Bridges of New Hampshire, Gurney of South Dakota, Hart of Connecticut, Millikin of Colorado, Moore of Oklahoma, White of Maine and Young of North Dakota. All except Hart now are members.

But the southerners say they have found several of this group unwilling to go along this year. They also have lost from the Senate two Democrats who came to their aid in 1946, Gossett of Idaho and Gerry of Rhode Island.

Meanwhile a committee of 12 House members was established to keep up the fight against the president's entire civil rights program.

Rep. Colmer, Democrat, Mississippi, the chairman, said the committee has three purposes:

1. To plan strategy in case one or more of these "vicious and unconstitutional" bills come to the floor.

2. To cooperate with the governors.

3. To serve notice on party leaders that inclusion of the president's proposal in the 1948 Democratic platform would "definitely jeopardize the party's success" in the south.

Rep. Harris of Arkansas will serve as secretary of the new committee. Other members are Hobbs of Alabama, Sikes of Florida, Cox of Georgia, Gregory of Kentucky, Larcade of Louisiana, Clark of North Carolina, Richards of South Carolina, Murray of Tennessee, Gossett of Texas and Howard W. Smith of Virginia.

Calling the first meeting of the new committee for Monday morning, Colmer said:

"It is my positive conviction that the boys from the south are in dead earnest and will fight to the finish this type of doctrine by its party leaders. We love our party, but we love our country more, and the love of country should always transcend the loyalty to party."

The Republican majority in Congress was represented as determined to get at least one civil rights law passed this session. Their previous inclination has been to try the anti-lynching issue first.

Senator Taft of Ohio, chairman of the Republican policy committee, told a reporter his group will talk the matter over. He said it will be up to the conference of all Republican senators to decide which bill to try first.

Because of the threat of a filibuster, the Republicans may find it necessary to attach any such proposal as a "rider" to some other bill. The cloture rule does not apply to an effort to take up a bill, in most cases, and the southerners often have used that avenue to talk at length. With about 20 members on tap, they have proved they can go on day and night for a long time.

The rebellious southerners had some advice today from Senator Byrd, Democrat, Virginia, who has opposed some similar legislation in the past.

He told them to hold their fire but keep their powder dry.

The Virginian explained to a reporter that he wants the south to be sure where it is going before it breaks any traditional political ties.

"We must make a calm, deliberate decision, on the basis of events as they happen, and then be prepared to go through with it to the end," he said.

The southerners' first—and instinctive—reaction to any legislation they consider likely to damage southern interests and southern racial relations is the filibuster.

The device—unlimited talk to kill a bill through inaction—is possible only in the Senate. House rules do not permit it.

None of the president's civil rights proposals, however, have come up in either house since Congress convened, and the southerners took some heart from Mr. Truman's failure to re-emphasize them in his Jefferson-Jackson day speech.

COXE TURNING TO 'TRICKERY'

Jackson Says Coxe Charges Fake Ads Are Being Printed About Him

FERRIDAY, La., Feb. 21.—(Special)—With his campaign for state superintendent of education winding up, S. M. Jackson declared here today that his opponent, State Superintendent John E. Coxe, has restorted to "trickery, false propaganda and false implications" in an effort to gain reelection in Tuesday's second primary voting.

Jackson especially charged Coxe with false propaganda in recent radio speeches and also said that persons apparently backing Coxe had been placing, or seeking to place, fake advertisements in newspapers around the state. These ads, he said, seemingly backed Jackson but were so worded as to offend certain elements of his support and thus were intended to cause him embarrassment.

Jackson led Coxe by 52,000 votes in the first primary. He entered as an independent and later was endorsed by Sam Jones. Long has refused to endorse Coxe and the latter has no endorsement from any candidate for any state office on any ticket. Many of Long's campaign leaders and supporters are backing Jackson.

As a windup to his campaign Jackson said in part:

"Certain persons, presumably working for my opponent, have been offering paid advertising to daily and weekly newspapers that supposedly is in my behalf but actually is meant to be embarrassing to me. No advertising mentioning me is authorized or authentic unless I personally have endorsed it or it has been endorsed by my known backers and leaders in the city or parish where it is offered and carries their names. My opponent, while claiming or pretending to have various endorsements, actually has no endorsement from any candidate for any state office, governor or otherwise."

Declaring that "false and misleading statements" made by Coxe "are characteristic of the campaigns he had made in recent years," Jackson continued:

"The person who is state superintendent of education should be an outstanding leader and an example for the youth of this state. The noblest contribution which any man can make for the benefit of posterity is that of good character. The richest bequest which any man can leave to the youth of his native land is that of a shining spotless example. The state superintendent should be a man who is responsible, capable, and in every way a proven leader and who will give his best in administration of affairs of the department of education.

"The present state superintendent was repudiated and rebuked by the Louisiana legislature last year and has been rebuked by the state board of education on numerous occasions. The record speaks for itself.

"It is my hope and my intention always to so conduct myself that when you hear me speak you will know that I seek always to maintain dignity of speech, sincerity of purpose, to be clear, unbiased, analytical and fair in all discussion of all subjects."

Palestine

LONDON — Responsible persons in the government see little likelihood of a British shift of position in Palestine. However they say Britain may invite United Nations representatives in well before the British mandate is surrendered.

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y.—Several UN delegates see the U. S. holding the key position in the forthcoming (Tuesday) Security Council debate on how to set up an international force in Palestine. If the big powers are asked to take part, it would bring the U. S. and Russia to grips in another joint operation.

RIO DE JANEIRO—A Tel Aviv correspondent for the newspaper O Globo says it is believed in Palestine that troops from Brazil and other South American countries will be sent there by UN. He added that "for obvious reasons the U. S. will not send troops —Russia would also want to be represented."

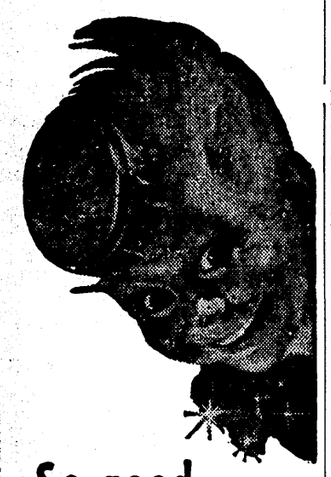
C. OF C. OFFICER TO VISIT HERE

D. Hodson Lewis Will Meet With Local Group Monday Morning

"D. Hodson Lewis, manager of the southwestern division of the United States Chamber of Commerce, is appearing in Monroe under the auspices of the national affairs of the local chamber," stated Hugh B. Balfour, Jr., the committee's chairman. "Mr. Lewis will address the members of the national affairs committee at 10:00 a. m. Monday morning, February 23, in the Cameo room of the Virginia hotel. The public is most welcome."



A veteran of nearly thirty years' experience in Chamber of Commerce work, Lewis has made nation-wide contacts which have given him an unusual insight into the problems facing businessmen throughout the country. His work with the United States chamber has enabled him to become eminently qualified in the field of national affairs, and he will have much to say regarding proposed and pending congressional legislation which is vitally important to businessmen in the Twin Cities. He will outline the most effective means by which local citizens may direct the voting of their congressional delegation, and he will point up forcefully the part which our people should take in securing legislation which is sound and progressive.

Lewis began his chamber work in 1920 when he became manager of the Chamber of Commerce in Lockport, N. Y.; in 1924 he moved to Lakeland, Florida to become manager of that Chamber of Commerce; and in 1928 he became vice-president and general manager of the Little Rock Chamber of Commerce, serving in that capacity for fifteen years. In October, 1943, he became general manager of the southwestern division of the United States Chamber of Commerce. In 1938 he was given the highest honor possible by his colleagues in chamber work, when he was elected to the presidency of the National Association of Commercial Organization Secretaries at their 25th annual convention in Chicago.

"We are most fortunate," added Mr. Balfour, "to secure the appearance of a man of Mr. Lewis' standing to address us on such a vital subject as national affairs. We are most anxious to share Mr. Lewis with as many people as possible, and for that reason we invite everyone interested to meet with us in the Cameo room of the Virginia hotel at 10:00 a. m., Monday, February 23."

LEAGUE GIVES OUT INFORMATION

Tells How To Proceed At Polls And Supplies Data On Voting

Because nobody takes the time to inform voters on all the rules for them at the polls the League of Women Voters gives this series of questions and answers for their information.

1. Can anyone discuss politics at the polls?

No commissioner, deputy or watcher may electioneer or discuss politics at the polls.

2. Suppose a commissioner is absent from the polls, how is this commissioner's place filled?

Alternate commissioners represent absent commissioners. If a commissioner and his alternate both are absent vacancy is filled from watchers in alphabetical order.

3. What should watchers look for at the polls?

(a) They should look for sample ballots on a table near the box.

(b) They should look for post cards of instructions; one in each booth and three around polling place.

(c) They should look for a sealed envelope containing the key to the ballot box and names of the commissioners signed over seal.

(d) They must see that booths are in view of commissioners and watchers, and lead pencils on shelves therein and that three poll lists are kept for each ballot.

4. Is it necessary for voters to exhibit registration certificates?

No. If the voter's name does not appear on the three polling lists, he will then have to present his registration certificate.

5. Do the commissioners have to keep perfect numerical order of the voters as they vote?

No. Commissioners, in delivering one state ballot and one parish ballot to each voter, shall select the ballot indiscriminately, without regard to number or its numerical order.

6. Should commissioners assist anyone to vote?

Commissioners may assist the blind, the physically disabled and those coming under the illiteracy clause only when requested to do so. The commissioner should then mark the ballot correctly while a commissioner of another faction watches and they must not divulge the voting.

Before that is done the handicaped voter must be sworn and the poll list must show this remark, "assisted and sworn."

No voter is entitled to receive assistance who is registered under the educational qualifications unless he is blind or physically disabled.

Every voter who receives assistance must make a written oath whether registered under the educational clause, or disabled.

7. What is the procedure when you wish to protest a vote?

Protests must be in writing, attached to ballot, with name of voter and protestant, and poll list in all such cases must be signed by voter.

8. Who can vote in the second primary to be held February 24?

All voters who have registered as Democrats, have lived in the state 2 years, the parish 1 year and the precinct 3 months.

9. Suppose a voter in Shreveport moved here 6 months ago, would he not be eligible to vote?

He would not be eligible to vote in Monroe, but he could go back to Shreveport and vote.

10. Suppose a voter prepares his ballot outside the regulation booth, what happens to his ballot?

Any voter's ballot not prepared in a regulation booth cannot be received or counted. Of course that means those voting at the polls.

11. Suppose several candidates are to be nominated for the same office and the voter marks only one name what happens to that ballot?

Where several candidates are to be nominated for one office, he must vote for the correct number as detailed on ballot or his ballot will be spoiled for such office, but not for other offices.

12. Are watchers allowed to remain inside the polling place?

Watchers are allowed to remain inside of the polling place as well as inside of the guard rail from the opening of the poll until the last vote counted and may accompany the commissioners when they deliver boxes the clerk of court.

Just A Word About---

W. D. 'Bill' Golson as Police Juror--Ward 5

1. BILL GOLSON has served the people of Ward 5, and all of Ouachita Parish, as a Juror for the past eight years.
2. BILL GOLSON, by virtue of faithful service and untiring ability, has been Vice President of the Police Jury for the past four years.
3. BILL GOLSON was the instigator of an intensive black-top program within the Parish and during the past two years, has black-topped eight miles of heavily-traveled roads in Ward 5.
4. BILL GOLSON is actively interested in Agriculture, being one of the prime movers in the erection of the Parish Agricultural Building in West Monroe, an unquestionable acquisition to that city.
5. BILL GOLSON, realizing the need of adequate drainage, has been instrumental in putting through a program of drainage for West Monroe and adjoining territory, only one-half of the cost of same borne by the Parish and the resulting benefits of same must be admitted by even the most skeptical.
6. BILL GOLSON, by his progressive system of providing good roads wherever development might demand, has given to all settlements and developments adjoining West Monroe in his Ward an ever ready and fully adequate road system to meet the occasion.
7. BILL GOLSON did not accomplish all of these things by himself alone. He claims no such credit. But we know — and you know — that through his co-operation with Municipal Authorities—with the Parish School Board—with his fellow Police Jurors—and with the authorities of the State of Louisiana—these things have been accomplished—they have become a reality in Ward 5 and surrounding territory, and really a great percentage of the credit must and should go to Bill.

Therefore—we, the friends of Bill Golson, realizing that in him we have a man tried in the acid test of experience and in no way found wanting, earnestly ask the people of Ward 5 to vote for him, knowing that this vote, once given, will never be regretted.

Marriage Of Miss Naiden And Mr. Wood At First Presbyterian Church

Society Attends Prominent Wedding

Church Wedding Followed By Reception At Sholars Home On Riverside Drive

Valentine Day always will have special romantic significance for Miss Charlotte Breard Naiden, daughter of Mrs. Earl L. Naiden and Mr. James P. Wood, son of Mrs. James P. Wood of Troy, Ala., for their wedding took place on that day at the First Presbyterian church at eight o'clock in the evening with Dr. A. M. Serexi officiating in the absence of the pastor, Rev. Ernest Holloway.

The church, illuminated exclusively by candlelight, was fragrant with the perfume of myriad Calla lilies arranged in artistic sheaves on tall white candlesticks marking each pew of the central aisle. Tall white tapers of unusual proportions, flooded with candle lighted the aisle down which the bride and her attendants walked.

Calla lilies gracefully arranged in white wrought iron floor urns formed a semi-circle along the chancel rail. These superb flowers were also grouped ingeniously in the background where candles, hundreds of them, gleamed in seven branched candelabra of graduated lengths. The choir loft was banked with shining magnolia leaves.

Candles also gleamed in the sills of the stained glass windows banked with magnolia leaves and Woodwardi fern. The lighting of the candles by the groomsmen was a distinct feature of the ceremony.

Mr. Leon Hammond, organist, rendered a brilliant concert while the guests were being seated. He also accompanied the two soloists, Miss Camille Hancock and Mr. Harry Wagner. Miss Hancock sang in beautiful voice, "How I Do Love Thee." A duet, "Thine Alone" was rendered by Miss Hancock and Mr. Wagner. During the ceremony Mr. Wagner sang "The Lord's Prayer."

It was a fashionable throng that walked down the aisle. Mrs. Earl Naiden, the bride's mother wore a stunning gray lace model with classic scarf of the same material worn on the head and cascading down one side to the hem of her skirt. She wore lilies of the valley at the low neckline and also wore valley lilies in her hair. Shoulder length white kid gloves were worn. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. James P. Wood, wore a lovely azure blue hammered crepe model fashioned with a long skirt draped at one side. Her corsage was of pink butterfly roses.

Mrs. Kendrick James, the bride's aunt, wore a handsome leaf-green crepe model with long, slim, skirt. The only trimming was a corsage at the waistline of self material, brown roses.

Mrs. Allan Sholars wore a becoming pink lace dinner gown with pink perfection camellias in her hair. A scarf of link lace was worn as a mantilla.

Mrs. Howard Parks and Mrs. Frank Hardy, sisters of the bridegroom, were beautifully gowned. Mrs. Parks wore a Madonna blue chiffon model with off-the-shoulder bodice edged with a deep bertha of self material. Mrs. Hardy wore a stunning white crepe model of classic design. She wore gardenias in her hair.

Attendants Wear White

The bride's attendants, her sister, Mrs. Charles Finlayson, who served as matron of honor and the bridesmaids, Miss Vera Jo Cannon, Miss Betty Roddey, Miss Mary Ann Conrad of Troy, Ala., and Miss Edith Bitzer of Johnson City, Tenn., all wore classic gowns of white chiffon. The bodices were fashioned with off-the-shoulder effect edged with a fold of the material. The skirts, long and full were adroitly draped with fullness in the back. They all carried arm bouquets of American Beauty roses tied with long lengths of scarlet satin ribbon.

Mr. Wood was attended by Mr. James Gidden of Troy, Ala., as best man. The groomsmen were Mr. Bob Hardin, Mr. Kent Breard, Mr. Howard Parks of Newman, Ga., Mr. Henry Babcock of Troy, Ala., Mr. Frank Hardy of Birmingham, Ala., Mr. William McBryde of Troy, Ala., and Mr. Allan James of Houston, Texas.

The bride walked down the candlelit, lily adorned aisle, with her grandfather, Mr. Allan Sholars who gave her in marriage. She wore an original model of candlelight, imported satin designed with off-the-shoulder bodice. The glove fitting sleeves ended in points over the hand. The polonaise draped skirt was caught with a Victorian bustle. The cathedral train fell in graceful folds from the waistline.

A beautiful rosepoint lace bertha from the wedding gown of the bride's grandmother, enhanced the beauty of the bodice. The veil of heirloom rosepoint lace was caught to the hair with a cap of lace. The bride carried the lace handkerchief belonging to her aunt, Mrs. Kendrick James.

Reception In Sholars Home

The wedding reception was held in the home of the bride's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Sholars on Riverside Drive.

Mr. and Mrs. Sholars stood in the reception suite to welcome the guests. Also in the receiving line, in addition to the wedding party, were Mrs. Naiden, Mrs. James Wood and Mrs. Charles Finlayson. In the spacious living room urns overflowing with scarlet gladioli formed a decorative background. The flowers were reflected in an immense scalloped walnut framed mirror over the mantel. Not only were the flowers reflected in the mirror but the entire wedding party.

The guests gathered in conversational groups in the library where bowls of yellow tulips, white rununculas and white stock were arranged in the background.

The bride's table in the dining room, oval shaped, was almost entirely covered with a mirror. The central decor was the beautifully embossed, heart-shaped wedding cake surmounted with pale pink sweetheart roses. A wide, white and flesh colored satin ribbon bow, was arranged across the width of the table.

Antique Colonial candelabra at the four corners supported white tapers.

Champagne was served throughout the evening, also chicken salad open-faced sandwiches, heart-shaped, cream filled cakes and mints.

The bride tossed her bouquet of gardenias and white orchids from the stairs of the entrance hall. It was caught by Miss Mary Ann Conrod of Troy, Ala.

The bride changed her wedding gown for a smartly tailored suit of hunter's green, light weight wool, with brown blouse and small hat of green trimmed with a feather and a short veil. She wore dark brown lizard shoes and carried a matching bag. She wore champagne colored suede gloves.

Mr. and Mrs. Wood will occupy the family cottage in Florida where they are honeymooning. After April 1st they will occupy their own home in Troy, Ala.

Mrs. Wood, attractive member of Monroe's younger set, is a graduate of Ward Belmont, Nashville, Tenn., and attended the University of Alabama. She is a member of Chi Omega and Delta Beta Sigma sororities.

Mr. Wood is a graduate of Auburn college and is a member of Phi Delta Theta fraternity. He is a prominent business man of Troy, Ala., where he is associated with the Wood Furniture Co.

Out of town guests attending the wedding were:

Mrs. James Pinckard Wood, Troy, Ala.; Mr. and Mrs. James Gidden, Troy, Ala.; Mr. and Mrs. William McBryde, Troy, Ala.; Mr. Henry T. Babcock, Troy, Ala.; Miss Mary Ann Conrad, Troy, Ala.; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Parks, Newman, Ga.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hardy, Birmingham, Ala.; Miss Margaret Hardy, Birmingham, Ala.; Mr. and Mrs. Kendrick James, Houston, Tex.; Mr. Allan James, Houston, Tex.; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Ray and son, Shreveport, La.; Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Wherritt, Shreveport, La.; Col. and Mrs. J. L. Stromme, Shreveport, La.; Mr. and Mrs. Willis Newcomb, Shreveport, La.; Mr. and Mrs. George Nicol, Ruston, La.; Miss Margery Nicol, Dallas, Tex; Miss Edith Bitzer, Lynchburg, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Finlayson, Tyler, Tex.

An interesting project being undertaken by the Volunteer Corps, of the Ouachita Parish chapter of the American Red Cross, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Walter Knapp, is the securing of potted plants for the patients at the Veterans' Hospital in Alexandria. Mrs. Knapp announced that all garden clubs in Monroe have been contacted, and all are cooperating enthusiastically with the Volunteer Corps' project.

Plans are to collect the potted plants the weeks preceding Easter, after which Mrs. Knapp, and Mrs. Taunton Veazey, executive secretary for the Red Cross, will drive the Red Cross car to Alexandria with the plants. The flowers will be distributed to the patients in the Veterans' Hospital on Easter morning by the Grey Ladies of Alexandria.

Mrs. Knapp expressed fear, however, that the recent cold weather caused damage to plants and garden clubs would be unable to fill the entire quota needed. So she asked that all gardens in Monroe and West Monroe donate potted plants to this worthwhile project. Plants should be left at Red Cross headquarters, 200 S. Grand, during the week preceding Easter, March 22 to 26. Anyone not having transportation, but having plants to donate can call Mrs. Veazey at 6780, for delivery.

The Veterans' Hospital in Alexandria services the Monroe area, and as such comes within the responsibility of the Ouachita Parish chapter of Red Cross. An effort is being made to make life a little more pleasant for the patients.

The home of Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Keys was the scene of a wedding of much interest on Saturday, January 24, when Miss Chloie Simons, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Simons of Chatham, Louisiana, became the bride of Winston May, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. May, Chatham. Rev. J. H. Keys performed the impressive double-ring ceremony in the presence of relatives and a few close friends.

Mrs. Victor Kelly, sister of the groom, attended the bride as matron of honor and Mr. Kelly served as best man.

The bride wore a pastel colored suit with black accessories and a corsage of orchids.

PATRIOTIC COLOR THEME IS REFLECTED IN TWENTIETH CENTURY BOOK CLUB LUNCHEON

All worries, great and small, were forgotten by members of the Twentieth Century Book Club when they met for an hour of complete relaxation in the Mirror Room of the Frances Hotel where their annual luncheon was served at a beautifully appointed table.

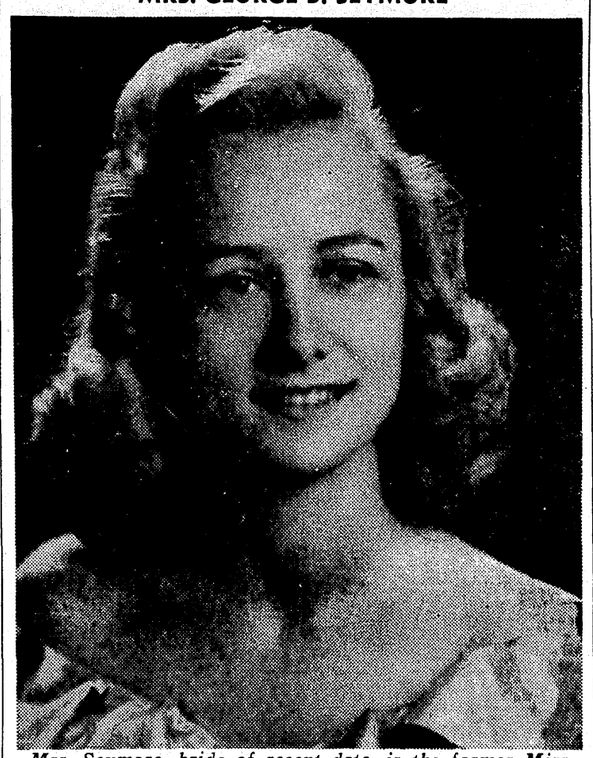
The birthday anniversary of George Washington prompted the hostesses to employ a patriotic color theme and to place miniature red hatchets at each cover. Red and white flowers intermixed with blue satin ribbon were ingeniously arranged for a centerpiece.

Mrs. E. W. Sartain, the luncheon speaker, gave an interesting talk on George Washington's domestic life and of the women who played an important part. After Washington married he became a gentleman farmer and one of the few successful farmers in the south. At his home in Mt. Vernon he spent the happiest years of his life. From this retreat he was called to head the American armies in the revolution. Not a great military genius, he was nevertheless the best man in America for the job. After the war he retired to Mt. Vernon. Offered a military dictorship by groups opposed to the Articles of Confederation, he refused. When the new government of the Constitution went into effect he became the first president.

A delicious four course luncheon was served to the following members:

Mrs. T. O. Brown, Mrs. Lonnie Clark, Mrs. Rodney Cline, Mrs. Fred A. Coon, Mrs. Fagan Cox, Mrs. E. C. Gibson, Mrs. A. R. Holloway, Mrs. F. L. Jones, Mrs. Ray L. Junod, Mrs. V. H. Kyle, Mrs. H. F. Madison, Jr., Mrs. M. S. McGuire, Mrs. S. M. McReynolds, Mrs. Shelby Meek, Mrs. W. C. Oliver, Mrs. E. W. Sartain, Mrs. T. H. Scott, and Mrs. Henry Whitfield.

MRS. GEORGE B. SEYMORE



Mrs. Seymore, bride of recent date, is the former Miss Alice LaVerne Frellsen, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Joseph Powell Frellsen, of Baskin, La. The wedding took place in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Armand Breard of this city.

Purely Personal

What could be more appropriate today, February 22, the birthday anniversary of George Washington, than to repeat the prayer he offered up for the United States of America. Most Americans are familiar with the words of the prayer but for those who might have forgotten its significance here it is:

"Almighty God; we make our earnest prayer that thou wilt keep the United States in thy Holy protection; that thou wilt incline the hearts of the citizens to cultivate a spirit of subordination and obedience to government and finally that thou wilt most graciously be pleased to dispose us all to justice, to love mercy and to demean ourselves with that charity, humility, and pacific temper of mind which were the characteristics of the Divine Author of our blessed religion, and without a humble imitation of whose exam- in these things we can never hope to be a happy nation. Grant our supplication, we beseech thee, through Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen."

Walter Schubert of New York was a visitor in the L. P. Landry home for a few hours, between planes, on Friday. He managed to arrange his schedule, (flying between New York and New Orleans) so that the could bring the Landrys news of their daughter, Mrs. Schubert, the former Jane Landry. News of the Schubert's three handsome boys was also welcome. Christopher, the youngest hasn't met his mother's southern friends but will be introduced when the family arrives later in the spring for their annual visit. Mr. Schubert is a representative of the Curtis Publishing Co. and makes his headquarters at the New York office. He resides with his family on Long Island.

If members of the Volunteer Corps of the Ouachita Parish Chapter of the American Red Cross fold their hands and do nothing for the balance of the year they will have justified their existence by one act alone . . . securing potted plants for the patients in the Veterans' hospital in Alexandria for Easter Sunday. A blooming plant for every veteran in the hospital is the task assumed by this group of splendid women who are being directed by Mrs. Walter Knapp, general chairman. Flowers will be distributed to the patients by the Grey Ladies on Easter morning and with each plant will go the sincere wish for a speedy recovery. Mrs. Taunton Veazey, executive secretary of the local Red Cross, will personally deliver the plants to the Grey Ladies at the Veteran's hospital.

The merchants have decided that Monroe needs to have its face lifted so they planned a gala Easter parade. The fashions to be displayed before Easter will be dazzling enough to make every man and every woman lift up the corners of their mouth and engage in a shopping orgy the like of which we never experienced before. If the merchants have their way we will all sally forth on Easter morning arrayed like Solomon in all his glory. And a splendid idea it is. If ever we needed "pepping" up it is at this time when the weather man is slapping and banging us around without mercy. We doff our new spring hat to the merchants of Monroe this morning and wish them success in their efforts to make Monroe a brighter, happier place in which to live.

MEMBERS OF LA TERTULIA BOOK CLUB HEAR TALK ON VENEZUELA

The Valentine motif was reflected in every detail in the decorations in the reception suite of Mrs. Edward Ferguson's home when La Tertulia Book club members met for their February meeting. Mrs. C. J. Strong and Mrs. Earl Hamm were co-hostesses.

The meeting was called to order by the club president, Mrs. Richard Watkins, and the club collect was read in unison.

Due to the presence of guests and the necessity of a lengthy business period, the program was presented first.

Mrs. C. E. Granberry, program chairman, introduced a Negro quartett which favored the group with a number of spirituals, this feature being much enjoyed.

Mrs. Travis Brown of Caracas, Venezuela, who talked most interestingly of the neighbor country to the South in which she has lived for the past seven years. She told of the climate, government, schools, the people and their customs, in contrast to the way of life in Louisiana.

She displayed several pieces of jewelry of intricate and delicate design made in Venezuela. Especially interesting were the necklaces and brooches. When her talk was concluded, members were permitted to ask questions which Mrs. Brown graciously answered.

Members were lavish in their words of appreciation to Mrs. Brown for accepting their invitation to be their guest.

The delicious refreshments served by the hostesses reflected both the Valentine and the George Washington theme.

Present in addition to Mrs. Brown, were Mmes: Richard Watkins, C. E. Granberry, George Lawn, Carl Riggin, V. A. Shelby, S. L. Emory, Clyde Cook, James Caldwell, P. P. Lynch, H. H. Mullins, Jeanette Mahaffey and Misses Jean Spencer, Maude Brownlee, Octave Register, Clara Johnston and the hostess.

MRS. SAMUEL LEVY IS SPEAKER AT LUNCHEON OF WELCOME BRANCH BOOK CLUB AT LA CASA

The outstanding meeting of the year of the Welcome Branch Club was held at the La Casa last week when Federation Day was observed with a splendid program inspired by the presence of Mrs. Samuel Levy, president of the Federated Women's Clubs of Louisiana. Mrs. Henson Coon and Mrs. J. E. McConnell were hostesses.

Mrs. A. D. Tisdale introduced the guest of honor, Mrs. Samuel Levy, the state president of Louisiana Federated Clubs. Mrs. Levy opened her message with giving a brief history of Federated Clubs in the U. S. A. She stressed the importance of women in the century and the place they are taking in the world today. She stated that the safety laws are corrupt and it is the duty of our women's clubs to see that the law is enforced by letting our city officials know of our concern and interest and importance. She feels that safety driving instruction in all high schools are essential.

At the meeting of the board of directors of the Louisiana Federation of Women's Clubs in Alexandria on Feb. 7, two resolutions were unanimously approved. These resolutions have been sent to the Louisiana gubernatorial candidates. First, favoring appointment of a permanent state juvenile court commission. This commission will be an over-all planning body to be composed of all organizations who have a youth program and state schools that teach child guidance. This group will study all laws pertaining to youth. Second, endorsement of a forestry program by the state forestry agency which would give Louisiana a state-wide balanced, adequate forestry program.

Further action will be taken by the federation after replies are received.

Mrs. Levy reported that booklets on Louisiana will be sent to all of the state federation presidents in the United States and to all club presidents in Louisiana. She emphasized that each club should present at least one "Know Louisiana" program this year.

With federated clubs endorsing Youth Conservation, Mrs. Levy will attend a meeting of the National Commission on Children and Youth, to be held March 29-31 in Washington, D. C. The purpose of the meeting will be to provide an opportunity for representatives from the states to confer on objectives for state and community action for children and youth.

Mrs. Levy gave a brief discussion on the various departments of federated clubs which have been listed earlier on the program.

Mrs. E. A. Porter, second vice-president, presided in the absence of Mrs. A. J. Speer, the president. Mrs. W. H. Giles was welcomed into the club as a new member by popular vote. The resignation of Mrs. Joe T. Ray was read and accepted as recording secretary. Mrs. Zell Smith was unanimously elected to fill the vacancy. The club voted to have the etching of the General Federation Women's Club building in Washington to be framed and placed in the Ouachita Parish Public Library.

Four of the nine federated clubs in Monroe were represented. They were introduced as the following: Mrs. E. P. Cudd, Review Book Club, Mrs. Roark, Monroe Literary Society, Mrs. D. L. Nichol, Athenium Book Club, Mrs. Jack Russell and Mrs. Julus Nelson, Magnolia Book Club. Other guests that were introduced: Mrs. Samuel Levy, state president from Natchitoches, Mrs. Allaman, also from Natchitoches, Mrs. Talbot, from Ruston, Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, Mrs. C. P. Long, Mrs. Lela Guyton, Mrs. W. H. Giles, and Mrs. E. W. Cruse.

The morning program consisted of the department chairmen giving reports on their work during the year and the purpose of their endeavors. Mrs. W. D. McGee, Jr., spoke on "American Citizenship," Mrs. V. S. Garnett on the "American Home," Mrs. A. D. Tisdale, a guest speaker, spoke on "International Relations," Mrs. E. E. Lawson on "Fine Arts," Mrs. W. B. Wheelis on "Legislation," and Mrs. Leola Nixon on "Education." The purpose of the program was to give a better understanding of Federation.

A delicious four course luncheon was served to the guests and the following members: Mesdames, H. V. Collins, J. N. Coon, C. T. Yancy, George Phebus, R. R. Griffith, J. E. McConnell, John Galyon, E. A. Porter, Thomas Jett, Leola Nixon, W. B. Wheelis, H. D. Holmes, F. E. Black, A. S. Gunter, J. D. Petty, W. D. McGee, Morris Miller, V. S. Garnett, E. E. Lawson, H. S. Coon, E. C. Gibson, Harry Moore, R. W. Irby, J. R. White, E. E. Sisson, F. W. Dawson, A. C. Warner.

The afternoon session was opened by Mrs. Norman Coon and Mrs. H. D. Holmes singing "The Bells of Saint Mary." Mrs. Coon also sang "Serenade."

OPERA CLUB MEETS FOR THE ANNUAL LUNCHEON WITH TWO CHARMING HOSTESSES PRESIDING

One of the brightest spots on the year's calendar for members of the Opera Club was the annual luncheon last week at the La Casa with Mrs. E. R. Whitaker and Mrs. C. G. Pearce, Jr., the charming hostesses.

The Valentine theme was portrayed in the table decorations and favors. An immense red heart bordered with a ruffle of white lace, and surmounted with red carnations formed a most distinctive center-piece. Red hearts were placed at vantage points down the length of the table. Clever little valentine place cards marked the cover of each guest.

Mrs. J. Norman Coon, serving as program chairman introduced a charming guest artist, Mrs. Courtney Prophitt, who delighted her audience with her beautiful coloratura soprano voice in a group of lovely songs.

Mrs. Prophitt, a former resident of Monroe, possesses a dynamic personality and much grace and poise. She sings with the air of the professional that she is.

She sang in professional manner "One Fine Day" (Puccini) from the opera "Madam Butterfly. Her second number, of lighter vein and always a favorite was, "When I Have Sung My Songs" (Charles).

Mrs. Prophitt concluded her program with a most appropriate little number written by a friend in Florida entitled "I Go Remembering" (Duncan).

A member of the club, Mrs. A. M. Serex served as the brilliant piano accompanist.

The piano for this occasion was most graciously loaned by the Hewitt-Dew Music Company. An opera quiz rounded out the entertainment for the day.

A delicious four course luncheon was served, and later a brief business session was held and the following officers were elected to serve the club next year:

President, Mrs. Merl L. Padgett; vice-president, Mrs. P. A. Colvin; secretary, Mrs. A. R. Doughty; treasurer, Mrs. J. C. Kramer, Jr.; reporter, Mrs. Duncan Smith; parliamentarian, Mrs. V. S. Garnett; critic, Mrs. Rodney Cline.

Club members present were:

Mrs. P. A. Colvin, Mrs. J. Norman Coon, Mrs. R. W. Cretney, Mrs. A. R. Doughty, Mrs. V. S. Garnett, Mrs. J. C. Kramer, Jr., Mrs. J. C. Liner, Jr., Mrs. B. B. Martin, Mrs. Merl L. Padgett, Mrs. P. A. Poag, Mrs. C. G. Pearce, Jr., Mrs. A. M. Serex, Mrs. Duncan Smith, Mrs. L. V. Tarver, Mrs. C. R. Tidwell, Mrs. R. O. Ware, Miss E. R. Whitaker.

The two guests were Mrs. M. W. Montgomery and Mrs. Courtney Prophitt.

The Perker Memorial Sunday School Class held its February business and social meeting in the home of Mrs. Lela King Breard on Wednesday evening, February 11.

Mrs. W. J. Veazey, president, presided during the business hour, during which reports of January's activities were given. One of particular interest was the play, "Romeo and Juliet," sponsored by the class. During the social hour Mrs. W. B. Inabnet introduced Mrs. T. H. Scott, who reviewed "Gentleman's Agreement." Mrs. Scott handled her subject by a series of character studies, and gave her hearers eloquent insight into this moving story on tolerance.

Amid Valentines and candlelight, delightful refreshments were served by Mrs. Inabnet and her group, who were co-hostesses with Mrs. Breard.

These tests may save you years of disappointment

Impartial washing machine tests PROVE Bendix far ahead in washing efficiency and economy

No wild claims here . . . just cold facts and photographic proof from an official report by the Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory.

Proof of what? Proof that the Bendix way is a surer way—and a thriftier way—to get clothes sparkling white.

Tested against three leading non-automatic washers, in accordance with test procedures accepted by the American Washer and Ironer Manufacturers' Association, the Bendix removed 23.3% more soil than the "second-best" machine tested!

In other tests which used germs to measure washing thoroughness, the Bendix did more than 10 times as good a job of germ removal as the other washers tested!

These facts are made still more amazing by comparing the soap and water consumption of all the washers tested. For the wonderful do-everything Bendix automatic Home Washer did the best job using 40% less soap and 10 gallons less water on a single load of clothes than the average of the other washers tested.

Buy no washer until you see all the photos and hear the whole story of Bendix superiority. Visit your Bendix Dealer.

How the tests were made

The soil removal tests were made in accordance with the Test Manual of the American Washer and Ironer Manufacturers' Association, with water temperatures of 160° for the automatic machine and 125° for non-automatic type machines as specified by the Manual.

For the germ removal tests the washing procedure as above was supplemented by a pre-determined rinse procedure established from contact with authorities in the field of home laundering, including the manufacturers of the machines used. The Bendix was used in accordance with the manufacturer's published instructions. Staphylococcus aureus bacteria (bacteria commonly used for test purposes) were used to measure efficiency of germ removal.

The four washers used, three non-automatic and a Bendix automatic Washer, were purchased in the open market by the Pittsburgh Testing Laboratory.

Still more amazing facts about the one and only Bendix:

First to take ALL the work out of washing, the Bendix has brought washday freedom to more than a million happy owners. All they do is put in the clothes, set the dial, add soap . . . and walk away from drudgery.

All by itself, the Bendix washes, rinses 3 times and damp-drys the clothes. You just take it easy! You don't even have to stay in the house.

Costs up to $90 less than other automatic washers

Thanks to mass production, backed by 10 years of experience, you can make the most of washday freedom for the least amount of money with the world's most-wanted washer . . . the Bendix.

GOLD AND GREEN BALL WILL TAKE PLACE THIS YEAR DURING MONTH OF MARCH

Most of you who read this have probably never heard of a "Gold and Green Ball." But it is one of the finest events of its kind ever to take place in the city. We understand only a few besides members of the organization attended the ball last year, but it is hoped that many more will participate this year and in the future.

The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints has a young peoples' organization which is called the Mutual Improvement Association. It's name gives it's purpose—the banding together of the young people for their own improvement in various ways. They study and put into practice all phases of music, art, drama, speech, theology, dance, and any other social accomplishment which might improve them physically, mentally, morally, socially and spiritually.

Each year the M. I. A., as it is called, holds its Gold and Green Ball, the name taken from its official colors, and it is a worldwide affair—the various branches throughout the world holding their own separate balls, or several banding together to make it a brilliant event. In the case of the Monroe Branch of the church, it cooperates with all the branches and Sunday Schools of the church in North Louisiana and the Ball rotates among the different localities. However, though the one last year was held in Monroe, the local M. I. A. was successful in obtaining it again this year due to difficulties in the other places preventing their sponsoring it.

The most unique feature of this Gold and Green Ball, to the ordinary person, is the fact that it is sponsored by the church. While many churches do not approve of dancing, the Latter-Day Saint Church not only approves it, but sponsors it as a healthy and beneficial recreation when properly supervised. No smoking or drinking is permitted where the Ball is taking place.

An interesting feature is the choosing of a queen to reign during the entire evening. Each participating organization sends its candidate and the one chosen as the district queen, is crowned by the presiding dignitary, and chooses her consort for the evening. During an intermission, a floor show is presented which usually features talent within the church itself, but at times branches out to include other talented entertainers.

The M. I. A. standards of dress require, and the organization encourages the ladies to wear evening dresses of a modest nature, frowning upon the extreme designs. Although evening dress is not required, it is urged, as it adds to the beauty of the occasion. The men, however, are not required to wear evening dress.

The M. I. A. takes this opportunity of inviting everyone to join them in an evening of delightful entertainment on the night of March 20, 8:30, and promises the public something different from anything they have yet exxperienced in Monroe. Further details and tickets can be obtained from any member of the church in North Louisiana; for the nearest source in Monroe, contact Mrs. C. W. Caraway, phone 21 or 2447.

Miro Book Club Meets In The Home Of Mrs. Murphy

Mrs. W. G. Murphy was hostess to members of the Miro Book Club on Monday afternoon in her home on North Fourth Street. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. H. M. James, the collect said in unison after which a short business session was held.

In memory of one of the most beloved members of the Miro Book Club, Mrs. Collins, the following resolution was read and accepted: "Whereas God has seen fit to take from this life one of our most loved members, Mrs. S. M. Collins and whereas in her passing our city has lost a good citizen, our children a valuable teacher, her church a true Christian and a tireless worker. The Miro Book Club has lost an ardent member and her sons a devoted mother. Therefore, we mourn the sudden passing of Mrs. Collins, who was held in such high esteem by our entire community, loved by all and now so sadly missed by her co-workers and friends. We realize that although Mrs. Collins has completed her beautiful service with us she will always remain in our memory and affections. It will take little imagination for those of us who carry on to feel her guiding hand and may it be our prayers that we may have the strength, the devotion and the duty to follow her example. "There is no end, the stars go down to rise upon some fairer shore, and to brighten heaven's Jeweled Crown, they shine forever more, and even near us though unseen, the dear immortal spirits tread for all the boundless universe is life. There is no dead."

The following program was given: The review of "The Shore Dimly Seen" by Ellis Arnall was given by Mrs. H. V. Collins. Mrs. C. R. Tidwell gave an interesting article on "The Sulphur Mines of Louisiana."

During the social hour delicious refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. R. B. Fogle, to the following members: Mrs. H. V. Collins, Mrs. W. M. Greenwell, Mrs. W. C. Holstein, Mrs. J. B. Collins, Mrs. H. M. James, Mrs. P. A. Poag, Mrs. J. W. Murphey, Mrs. A. L. Peters, Mrs. John Pracher, Mrs. A. S. Tidwell, Miss Juanita Porter, Mrs. C. R. Tidwell and Mrs. W. G. Murphy.

American Brotherhood Week is sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews as a part of its year-round program to promote attitudes of tolerance, understanding, respect and good will among people of different religions and national origins.

HOW IS THIS PROGRAM CARRIED OUT?

Educational work is done in co-operation with the American Council on Education and other educational organizations.

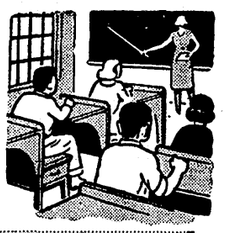
TRAINING OF TEACHERS

Experimental work is being done in 21 teachers' colleges to train teachers in methods of fostering attitudes of tolerance and respect in their classrooms. University summer workshops are provided for teachers already in service.

TEXTBOOKS

A two-year study of textbooks and teaching materials has been completed. Recommendations for better treatment of minority groups are being presented to authors, publishers and textbook commissions. Visual aids are being developed for use in schools.

SCHOOL CLASSROOMS



Studies to improve intergroup education are being made in all phases of school work in 18 representative cities. Findings will be made available to educators throughout the nation.

COMMUNITY AND HOME

Protestant-Catholic-Jewish teams of speakers carry the message of brotherhood to thousands of civic clubs, schools and colleges, parent-teacher groups, labor unions and other organizations. Radio, press and screen co-operate to carry the Conference message to the general public.

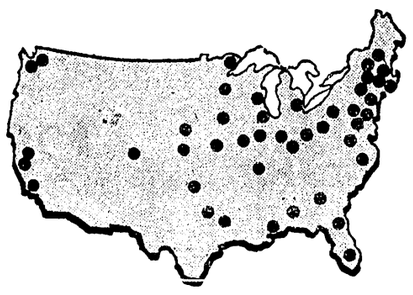
CHURCHES AND SYNAGOGUES

Last year 5,000 ministers, 1,200 priests and 575 rabbis made speeches or served on Brotherhood Week Committees. Church schools have been provided with literature and visual aids.

WORLD EDUCATION

An International Council of Christians and Jews has been established with headquarters in Paris, where it will co-operate with UNESCO. Interfaith councils are being formed in eight European countries.

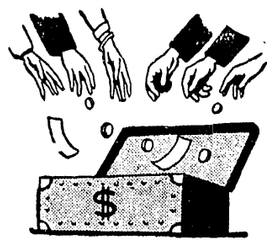
The Organization Behind American Brotherhood



The National Conference of Christians and Jews is organized on a nationwide basis operating through 60 major offices, 290 chapters in principal cities, and 3,000 local committees. Local chapters and committees are composed of leaders of the Catholic, Protestant and Jewish faiths.

The National Conference was founded in 1928 by Charles Evans Hughes, Newton D. Baker and S. Parkes Cadman. Present officers are Dr. Everett R. Clinchy, President, and Dr. Henry Noble McCracken, General Secretary.

Program Depends on Contributions of Friends



The National Conference of Christians and Jews has no endowment. It is financed entirely by friends who believe in the Conference program to promote tolerance, understanding and good will in all human relations.

REVEREND GEORGE PEARCE IS THE INSPIRATIONAL SPEAKER AT FOUNDER'S DAY MEETING

Reverend George Pearce of the Memorial Methodist Church gave an inspirational talk on "Furnishing the Home" as a part of the program in observance of Founders' Day, observed by the Sherrouse P.-T. A., February 18. Rev. Pearce said, "We all give much care in the selection of furnishings for our homes, such as rugs, wall paper, and draperies, but spiritual and moral furnishings are far more important." He also said that each home should be furnished with prayer and the church of its choice.

Rev. C. S. Cadwallader of the College Place Baptist Church very ably rendered two vocal selections, one an original composition written by his father. Rev. Cadwallader was accompanied by Mrs. Robert Davis.

A play entitled "Lincoln's Birthday Party" was presented in in interesting manner by the children of the third grade.

Mrs. Leon Dennis read the Founders' Day message of the national P.-T. A. president in which she paid tribute "To those who had the courage and vision over half a century ago to begin this great movement."

One of the highlights of the meeting was the presentation of two life memberships, one to Miss Eloise Cann, and the other to Mrs. Herbert Walker. Both of these members have made outstanding contributions in promoting the Parent-Teacher movement.

At the close of the program, which had been under the direction of Mrs. W. W. Stevens, a business session followed. At this time Mrs. W. A. Cotton announced the district meeting to be held in Bastrop, March 10.

Members were urged to attend.

Following the business session, a social hour was enjoyed. Refreshments of coffee and cookies were served by Mr. Julius Nelson and her committee. A very sizable sum was realized from the Birthday contribution to the founders' memory.

Colorful Pageant Presented By The Millsaps P.-T. A.

Highlighting the February meeting of the Millsaps P. T. A. was a pageant, "The Four Cornerstones," portrayed by Mrs. W. L. Cash, Mrs. L. F. Wilhite, Mrs. F. U. Collie, Mrs. Mutt Carroll, Mrs. J. F. Jones, Jr., Mrs. Truett Brooks.

Mrs. M. L. DeFreese, Second State Vice-President addressed the assembly on the purpose of Founder's Day. She said in part, "On Founder's Day we celebrate the anniversary of a beginning. We are placing no wreath, strewing no flowers, but we rededicate whatever we have of personal influence and leadership in home, school, church, and community. Through the years America has become child conscious. Today nearly five million fathers, mothers, and teachers have accepted the task of giving every child in our land a chance to live in a home made richer by the knowledge of children. Through our parent education study courses we have learned how the influences of childhood set the patterns for adult life and have united our efforts to give children the best possible environment. And so, we count our milestones along the way. Records, open to all who wish to read them, tell of achievements that we may recount with satisfaction. The great challenge of today for parents and teachers, is three-fold; Let us strive earnestly and unceasingly to make this earth a place where homes may be established in peace and where children may grow to maturity without fear of an all-destroying war. Equally important, let us take ourselves the task of educating young people for their responsibilities as stewards and citizens of a united world. And in our own communities as well as on a national scale, let us give serious consideration to these social problems that tend to disintergrate the home."

After a spirited P. T. A. membership drive carried on by the Room Mothers, Mrs. Hattie Robert's 3rd Grade room won the contest and the prize. Mrs. L. F. Wilhite, and Mrs. J. F. Jones, Jr., are the Room Mothers. Mrs. Phillis Cozine, and Mrs. K. B. Crews, life members, were introduced at this time. Mrs. F. U. Collie, vice-president, presented them with corsages. They will later be given a life membership pin to wear as a token of service.

Mr. Clifford Roberts, principal, and 4-H Club leader, reviewed the work of the 4-H Club listing 14 projects the members of Millsaps School are working on this year. Millsaps has a 4-H membership of 68, and placed second in the parish in the Achievement Day contest in 1947.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Orland Chapman, hospitality chairman.

MISS POLLY COLE

Miss Cole, born and reared in this city, is now creating a niche for herself in the field of television in New York City where she appears in dramatizations over F. M. Stations. Miss Cole was popular in Little Theatre circles in this city where she was cast in several leading roles. She possesses considerable histrionic ability and since residing in New York has appeared in many radio shows. Last year she was with a summer stock company at the Chapel Theatre in Great Neck, Long Island.

Stephen Foster Is Subject For Interesting Talk

Mrs. C. Noble Hatch, an accomplished musician, was the speaker for the program of the Alto Cultural Club at its February meeting in the home of Mrs. Lellah Lyle in Rayville, La. In keeping with the club's theme for the program, "Music: A Necessity In the Fine Art of Living," Mrs. Hatch chose for her subject "Stephen Foster's Biography," by Harold Milligan. She said in part:

If "folk songs are the heart songs of the people," then is America blessed with folk songs that are more universally sung than those of any other country. The song writer perhaps most familiar to the song-loving world is Stephen Foster. One writer has said that "Old Folks at Home" will live as long as Brahm's "Fourth Symphony."

Harold Milligan, in his "Stephen Foster's Biography," says: "Foster occupies a unique position in the history of music, not only of this country, but of the world. No other single individual produced so many of those songs which are called 'Folk Songs,' which speak as the voice, not of an individual, but of all."

Stephen Foster was born in Lawrenceville, a small town in Pennsylvania (now a part of the city of Pittsburgh), July 4, 1826. This was a notable date in the history of the United States. It was the semi-centennial of the signing of the Declaration of Independence, and while great celebrations of the fiftieth birthday of the Republic were in progress, two of the nation's great founders passed away—John Adams (2nd president), at Quincy, Massachusetts, and Thomas Jefferson (3rd president), at Monticello, Virginia. It is said that Stephen Collins Foster was born while the band was playing "The Star-Spangled Banner."

Foster's best songs were his plantation melodies, but among his compositions many sentimental airs are found. Stephen Foster's name is worthy of remembrance. His melodies are truly songs of the American people, while their appeal is so universal that the best of them—"The Old Folks at Home," "My Old Kentucky Home," and "Old Black Joe," are sung the world over. There is no corner of America (and one might say the world) where the strains of "My Old Kentucky Home" and "Sewanee River" have not been hummed. Yet one often meets those who do not know who first put those strains of music on paper. The simplicity of his songs is no doubt due to the same characteristic in his nature; he hated any sort of show; his sympathies were preferably with the "under dog;" his feelings were of the most sensitive sort; and his emotions easily aroused.

Although the story of the life of Stephen F oster is a sad one, it would be a good thing if more Americans knew it and realized its tragedy, because the chief reason his life was so sad is due to the fact that the great public of his day did not realize or appreciate his genius.

A bronze bust of Stephen Collins Foster is in the Hall of Fame of Great Americans on the University Heights campus of New York. He is the first American to be so honored. In place of the usual plaque carrying a direct quotation from the writings or utterances of those selected for the Hall of Fame, Foster's plaque is engraved with the first four bars of "Old Folks at Home." The presentation speech was delivered by Josiah K. Lilly. A statue of Foster stands on the campus of the University of Pittsburgh. American musicians and music lovers will applaud the honoring of Stephen Foster, the first man of music in America's Hall of Fame at Washington, D. C.

A group of members of the Monroe Business and Professional Women's Club motored to Bastrop last Thursday evening to be present at the organization of a new club in that city. The meeting, which was beautifully planned and carried out, was held in the large dining room of the new Bacon's Coffee Shop, and in spite of adverse weather conditions, the place was filled to capacity with outstanding business women, representing varied occupations. Much enthusiasm for the new project was manifested by all.

Preceding the business session, a bountiful fried chicken supper was served, grace being said by Mrs. Minza Rabun of Bastrop. After enjoying this pleasant preliminary, the group merged into a business session under the chairmanship of Mrs. A. C. Volk, a former member of the Monroe club during her residence in this city some years ago. Officers were elected, and at this point, Mrs. Volk presented Mrs. Gladys Miles, president of the Louisiana Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, who graciously served as installing officer. Mrs. Miles used an impressive and beautiful ceremonial of candle lighting, with rainbow-hued candles, a different color for each officer symbolic of the spirit and purpose of her office. Miss Frances Alexander, the newly installed president, then assumed the first of her duties as presiding officer, with a gracious charm and capability that gave evidence of her superior fitness for the office. Chairmen for all committees were named, and the readiness with which each assumed her assignment was impressive. The charter was closed with 45 signatures.

This new organization becomes the fifth club in District 3, which comprises a number of north Louisiana parishes, and will have their first opportunity to participate in a district meeting on March 7, at Monroe. It is also the "baby" club of the Louisiana federation, and the Monroe club feels a very close kinship to, and interest in the advancement of this new organization.

Those who were privileged to attend the organization meeting of the Bastrop club were: Mrs. Gladys Miles, state president; Miss Bessie McDonald, president of the local club; Misses Alice Baur, Mary O'Kelly, Mamie Ober, Jean Bonham and Hazel Wakefield. Mesdames Evelyn Atkinson, Avril Russ, Beulah Thomas, Emma Lou Perkins, Ella Harvill, and Faye Heard.

SAM JONES, ANSWER THESE QUESTIONS NOW!

You, Mr. Jones, have charged on numerous occasions, both in radio addresses and in public appearances, that if Earl Long is elected governor, the State will be controlled by racketeers and gamblers, and particularly one Frank Costello. We would like for you, Mr. Jones, to answer the following questions so that the people might see through the smoke screen you are throwing up to confuse the issues in the coming election:

1. Isn't it true, Sam Jones, that the federal government requires a license on every slot machine placed in operation in the State of Louisiana?
2. Isn't it true, Sam Jones, that according to the records of the Internal Revenue Department, licenses were paid on approximately 1,500 slot machines in operation in the State of Louisiana in 1941-42 (during your first terms as governor)?
3. Isn't it true, Sam Jones, that according to these same official records, licenses were paid on approximately 6,700 slot machines in operation in Louisiana in 1946-47, or an increase of 5,200 slot machines during the JONES-DAVIS Administration?
4. Isn't it true, Sam Jones, that the Beverly Club and Club Forest (two million-dollar gambling casinos in which Frank Costello has an interest) were constructed and began operation in 1944-46 during JONES-DAVIS administration and gambling is in full swing in these places at the present time?
5. Isn't it true, Sam Jones, that Mayor Chep Morrison of New Orleans (one of your strongest supporters) openly advocated and supported a bill which would have legalized gambling in Louisiana during the 1946 session of the Louisiana Legislature?
6. Isn't it true, Sam Jones, that Mayor Chep Morrison, your principal supporter and advisor, has publicly stated that he plans to have introduced at the 1948 session of the Louisiana Legislature, a bill to legalize slot machines and you have agreed to support such a measure?
7. Isn't it true, Sam Jones, that Congressman Jimmie Morrison, who is now supporting you, was charged directly by you in speeches that he, Jimmie Morrison, was financed and supported in the first primary by such gamblers and racketeers as Phil Kastel and Frank Costello?
8. Isn't it true, Sam Jones, that Senator John Overton, one of your principal supporters, charged in a statewide radio broadcast on November 10, 1947, that Congressman Jimmie Morrison, now supporting you—and we quote, "is being financed by the gambling fraternity of New York and New Orleans and he will be under obligation to these racketeers." And do you not, Sam Jones, accept and now have the open endorsement of Jimmy Morrison and presumably the gamblers and racketeers referred to by Senator Overton?
9. Isn't it true, Sam Jones, that slot machines and gambling are now operating in approximately 37 out of the 64 parishes in the State of Louisiana?
10. Isn't it true, Sam Jones, that slot machines are operating and gambling is rampant in your home parish of Calcasieu where you ran third in the first primary?
11. Isn't it true, Sam Jones, that MR. MONK ZELDON of New Orleans, who by the way, is Frank Costello's attorney, is openly supporting your candidacy for governor?

Now, Mr. Jones, the purpose of these questions is not to embarrass you in any way but we would like for you to answer them as we feel the people are entitled to know who is actually controlled by the gamblers and who has allowed them to get such a foothold in Louisiana in the past eight years. You have brought up this issue before the people and we, the supporters of Hon. Earl K. Long, feel that the people should know the real facts.

DECEIT, FRAUD AND FALSIFICATION BY SAM JONES ON INCOME TAX STATEMENT

Sam Jones says he has opened his income tax returns to the public when he sent a telegram to the commissioner of internal revenue in Washington. This is pure fraud as proved below:

WM. T. SHERWOOD, ACTING COMMISSIONER

Of course, the commissioner is right. Tax returns cannot be made public by a telegram. Sam Jones is a shrewd lawyer, he knew this and that's why he used a telegram instead of a notarized power of attorney as required by law! Congressman Hebert placed Earl Long's income tax in the official congressional record. Why is Sam Jones afraid to reveal his huge income from the coal and railroad interests in the same manner?

Sam Jones knew in advance that they should not disclose his income tax returns as he did not properly authorize them to do so. The people are not interested so much in the huge amount of his income as the source of it. He should reveal how much Pan American and other airlines paid him or his law firm either before or after exempting them from paying state gasoline tax; also how much the coal and railroad companies paid him or his law firm either before or after he stopped the exporting of gas from Louisiana. In other words, the people want Sam Jones to tell the truth, if possible, as to how much he and his law firm enriched themselves at the tax payers expense.

TELL THE TRUTH, MR. JONES, NOW

Club Women Hear Patriotic Talk By Mrs. Julius Nelson

True Americans never tire of the stories told about the Father Of Our Country, George Washington. Every year at this time patriotism flames high and especially among club women who plan their programs with a George Washington theme.

Members of the Cosmopolitan club enjoyed a splendid talk on "George Washington," brought to them by Mrs. Julius Nelson. She said:

"George Washington, hero of American independence and first president of the Untied States, was born in Westmoreland County, Virginia, 1732: died at Mt. Vernon, 1799. He was the great grandson of John Washington, an Englishman, who emigrated in 1657; and the son of Augustine Washington, a farmer.

His education was limited to the elementary subjects, but he acquired a fair knowledge of mathematics and surveying, chiefly by self study.

His military career began at the age of nineteen, when he was appointed Adjutant General of Virginia militia.

Extensive estates and plantations at Mt. Vernon came into his possession through the death of his half-brother. To these possesisons he added largely by marrying Mrs. Martha Curtis, a wealthy young widow.

Shortly after the outbreak of the war of independence, Washington was elected Commander-in-Chief of the American forces and hastened to camp. His career henceforth is part of American History. His mildness, calm courage, prudence, firmness, and perseverance, he brought the war to a successful termination. After the independence of the thirteen colonies was achieved, he retired from the army to Mt. Vernon.

The early federation of states, having failed to give an efficient government, Washington proposed conventions for commercial purposes, which led to the Convention of 1787, of which he was a member. This body formed the Federal Constitution.

Under this Constitution, he was chosen President and inaugurated at New York, April 30, 1789; was reelected 1792. In 1796, he declined the third term of office. In 1797, he returned to Mt. Vernon for the quiet of home life. In 1798, when war was threatened with France, the illustrious chief yielded to the demands of his country and accepted the post of Commanding General of the United States Forces, with the rank of Lt. General, but a treaty of peace rendered his services unnecessary and he returned home.

On December 12, 1799, he was exposed for several hours to cold and snow, and was attacked with acute laryngitis, sank rapidly, and died December 14. His last words were characteristic. He said: "I die hard, but I am not afraid to die." After some instructions to his secretary, about his burial, he became easier, felt his pulse and died without a struggle. He was mourned by the whole nation and amply deserved the immortal epitaph: "First in peace, first in war, and first in the hearts of his countrymen."

INTEREST IS CENTERED IN THE ANNOUNCEMENT OF ENGAGEMENT OF DR. DIANE SARTOR OF ALTO

Fortelling a wedding of prominence is the announcement made today by Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Sartor of Alto, of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Dr. Diane Sartor, to Dr. Albert Milton Goggans of New Orleans, son of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Goggans of Hissop, Alabama. The wedding will be held at 6 o'clock Saturday evening, March 13, in the Alto Baptist Church.

Dr. Sartor is descended on her paternal side from the late Dr and Mrs. Daniel Ryan Sartor, Sr. of Alto and on the maternal side from Mrs. Joseph Denham Hubbs and the late Mr. Hubbs of Clinton, Louisiana. She attended Louisiana State University, where she received her B. S. degree and was a member of Delta Delta Delta sorority and of the Mortor Board. Later she attended Louisiana State University of Medicine, where she received the degree of Doctor of Medicine and was a member of Alpha Epsilon Iota and The Circle. She is at present serving an internship at the Charity Hospital of New Orleans.

Dr. Coggans attended the University of Alabama, where he received his B. A. degree and was a member of Phi Beta Kappa. He received his degree of Doctor of Medicine from Tulane University School of Medicine, where he was a member of Phi Chi medical fraternity. He served as a medical officer in the United States Army as captain during World War II. He was stationed in the Pacific and in Japan for over two years.

Dr. Goggans is at present a resident physician in the field of internal medicine at the Charity Hospital of New Orleans.

Books To Read Now

There is always a thrill in opening a new book and reading the story within the covers. The Ouachita Parish Public Library attempts to purchase as many of the important new books as possible. It is not expedient to purchase enough copies of each new book for everyone to read it at the same time. However, if you find one listed below that you want to read, call the library and have your name put on a reserve list. The telephone number of the library in Monroe is 7240 and the number in West Monroe is 6747.

For several months patrons have been asking for "The Unconquered" by Neil H. Swanson. The fact that the movie version is appearing at the same time, with Gary Cooper in the leading role has don a great deal to stimulate interest. "The Unconquered" is a big, sweeping story of the Ohio region of America in the 18th century, when the Pontiac conspiracy made life very difficult for the colonists of that section. This is a tale of love and greed, of great daring and great disaster. The story of "Unconquered" begins in a little English village, moves on to London, crosses the Atlantic to Norfolk and on to Williamsburg. It reaches out into the beautiful and dangerous Ohio wilderness and rises to a roaring climax at the seige of Fort Pitt. This is an amazing story from a strong and lusty period of American history.

"The Queen's Physician" by Edgar Maas is laid against the background of the court of the dissolute and degenerate Christian VII, king of Norway and Denmark during the latter half of the 18th century. Johan Frederick Struenesee, born a commoner, rose to fame and power by means of his brilliant intellect and forceful personality. This is a story of his rise and fall, presented in a fascinating manner.

Herbert Gorman's "The Cry of Dolores" is an exciting novel of the first Mexican revolution for independence in the year 1810. This is a story of the Indians and their struggle against the Spanish government. They had one ambition in life—liberty. This is the story of how they fought to obtain it.

One of the most important writers of our day is Thornton Wilder, who won a permanent place in literature with "The Bridge of San Luis Rey." He has written only a few things and his books are always literary events. In "The Ides of March" he has stepped back into the Rome of Julius Caesar and has brought to life a dramatic period and one of the magnificent personalities of all times. All of Rome comes crowding through these pages. Caesar reflects on his mastery of the world and man's relation to liberty. Thornton Wilder has never written with greater wisdom and penetration than he has in this vivid, imaginative recreation of a great man and his world.

The love story of Heloise and Abelard is one of the greatest stories of all times and has remained fresh and vital for the past eight hundred years. Helen Waddel has retold the story in her novel "Peter Abelard" in an original and fascinating manner. This is a timeless romance, the writing is of a quality rarely found and the whole is a most moving book.

Elizabeth Seifert's newest book "The Glass and the Trumpet" has for its setting the Mississippi river and for its characters a fine old French family who attempted to preserve a way of life that was gone. Elizabeth Seifert is a good story teller and this book should be widely read.

"The Strong Room" by Jere Wheelwright has for its setting the strong room of the Tower of London in the year 1553. The central character is John Aumarle, Earl of Bristol, not yet 23 years old, who for eight years had been a prisoner in the tower. How he escaped from the tower provides much interesting reading.

In the field of non-fiction there are several appealing new titles. Harold Lamb, who is one of our most gifted historical writers, has produced a most timely new book, "The March of Muscovy." This is a history of Russia from the year 1400-1648. Mr. Lamb has a way of breathing life into the past, of combining the best of scholarship with interest and vitality. Ivan the Terrible is the dominant figure of the story, just as he was the dominant figure of his age—terrifying, cruel, visionary, ambitious and able. "The March of Muscovy" is the story of the work that Ivan the Terrible began, a work that may not yet be completed.

In the field of literature James Boswell is always remembered as the author of the life of Samuel Johnson. Mr. D. B. Wyndham Lewis has given us a new interpretation of the character of Boswell in "The Hooded Hawk," a biography that is brilliantly and readably written and is very rich in background detail. Don't miss this book.

SERVICE CENTER

WILL ENSHRINE 1ST OF MONROE HERO DEAD IN CATHEDRAL

Late Lieutenant John LeBlancs Record To Receive Initial Honor

The first of Monroe's honored dead of World War II to be enrolled on the National Roll of Honor at Washington Cathedral was announced here Saturday by the Rev. Merritt F. Williams, canon of the cathedral and chairman of the national war memorial committee.

The late Lt. John Alvin LeBlanc, of 507 South Fourth street, is the deceased service man to be honored. He served with distinction in the U. S. marine corps, and was awarded the Purple Heart. Born in Port Barre, La., he died in Wellington, N. Z., March 3, 1943.

Enroller also for the cathedral tribute are his two brothers, Gordon Maurice LeBlanc, 507 South Fourth street, who served with the U. S. A. A. F., and Arthur Maurice LeBlanc, Jr., now of Port Barre, who served with the U. S. marines.

Names and service records of all three will be enrolled on the only permanent national roll of honor known, now being established at Washington Cathedral for enshrinement in the proposed War Memorial chapel. Every state in the Union already is represented by the 10,000 and more names of service men and women entered to date for the cathedral tribute.

Nation-wide also is the campaign now being carried on by friends of the cathedral of all faiths for funds with which to continue construction. Canon Williams, himself a veteran of both World Wars, and former chaplain on the war-lost aircraft carrier Wasp and battleship West Virginia, thus explains the scope and purpose of the national roll of honor:

"The national roll of honor will commemorate for centuries to come the war dead of all wars of this republic, and pay tribute to the living veterans for their sacrifice. It will be enshrined in the proposed War Memorial chapel, to be the chief feature of the patriots' transept, thus making it in literal truth 'a shrine of each patriot's devotion.'"

CAN ENLIST IN DIFFERENT WAYS

Public Information Officer Shows Various Opportunities Open

Veterans of any of the armed services who wish to join the new United States air force have three special enlistment opportunities, Lt. Richard Duke, public information officer of the local U. S. army and air force recruiting station, states.

They are:

1. Former service men, who have experience and skill in certain of some 300 specialties, can enlist in grades up to technical sergeant. This opportunity also is open to former officers. The grades given are largely determined by the veteran's previous training and ability.

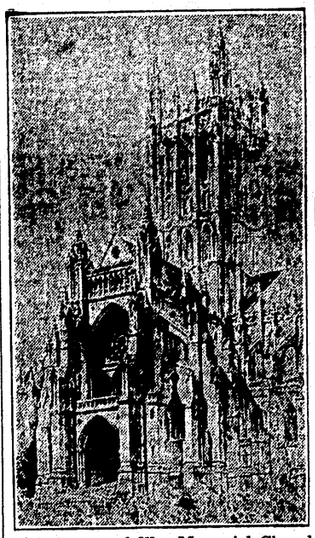
Among the specialties emphasized in the air force are radar, radio, electronics, photography, weather observation, electricity, mechanics, drafting and repairing, aircraft maintenance.

2. Veterans can apply for training as aviation cadets. Graduates of the one-year course become pilots and are commissioned as second lieutenants in the air force reserve. An initial clothing allowance of $250 is given each cadet upon graduation. A second lieutenant's monthly pay, if single, is $336, and, if married, $372. During training, cadets receive $75 monthly, plus food, housing, clothing and medical and dental care.

3. Under the new aviation career plan, former service men who are high school graduates can pick, before enlisting, the school in which they wish to receive the specialist training of their choice. Some 40 technical and specialist courses are open under this plan.

Remains of more than 200 ancient lake villages have been found in Switzerland and neighboring areas of France and Italy.

WAR SHRINE



The proposed War Memorial Chapel will be the chief feature in the patriots' transept, here shown, of the unfinished Washington Cathedral where the names and service records of men and women who served the nation in times of war will be enshrined on the permanent national roll of honor. It is here that the names and records of Louisiana veterans will be entered and memorialized for all time.

IN MOVIELAND

By Bob Thomas

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 21. — (AP) — Throwing caution in all directions, let's sit down and try to dope the academy award winners.

It's just like picking a horse race. You study the condition of the horses (popularity of the actors), the speed of the track (number of good pictures) and then try to figure the sentimental factors. Of course, a dark horse might sneak under the wire a winner, but let's not think about that.

First of all, the pictures. Scratch "Crossfire" and "Miracle on 34th St." They may have been entertaining, but they aren't the type of prestige pictures that win academy awards. I think we can skip "The Bishop's Wife," since not everybody in Hollywood thinks it is an achievement.

That leaves "Great Expectations" and "Gentleman's Agreement." Both are excellent in all departments, but the former will suffer in the voting because it was made in England. Choice: "Gentleman's Agreement."

Now it gets tougher. Among the ladies, Susan Hayward is getting much support, but her picture ("Smash-Up") was not a smashing success. Likewise, Joan Crawford's ("Possessed") and besides, she has an Oscar already. Dorothy McGuire's "Gentleman's Agreement" role was difficult, but not meaty enough.

Loretta Young in "The Farmer's Daughter" showed the most improvement, and that means a lot in academy voting. But the part lacked the heavy dramatics afforded Rosalind Russell in "Mourning Becomes Electra." And Miss Russell has been close to an Oscar before. I'll pick Roz.

Among the actors, John Garfield's entertaining "Body and Soul" lacks the prestige value of more expensive films. Michael Redgrave makes a strong bid with "mourning" but he faces stiff competition.

It now looks like a neck-and-neck battle among William Powell ("Life With Father"), Ronald Colman ("Double Life") and Gregory Peck ("G. A.") But because a winning picture often sweeps the slate and because of his great popularity, I'll lay a buck on Peck. But remember—I've been wrong before.

It is estimated that in the eighth century one-twentieth of the tillable land in Europe was too wet for cultivation.

Attention Depositors

Something New! An Improvement In Our Service! An Advantage to You!

On Wednesday, February 25th, both Banks in Monroe will institute a new system of receiving commercial deposits. Each Teller will have a new, improved machine, with which your deposit slips—both original and duplicate or receipt—will be machine stamped in one rapid operation. You are handed your duplicate, and are on your way "in a jiffy."

The Advantages Are Many

1. It will speed up our service—eliminate those long lines before our windows on busy days—make it so you or your clerk will not lose an hour or two "going to the Bank."
2. It will give you a machine printed duplicate or receipt, showing the Bank, the number of your deposit, the date and the Teller. This cannot be tampered with or altered.
3. It will eliminate the time used by the Teller in picking up his pen, opening and thumbing through pass book, then making his entry therein.
4. It will give you more privacy, preventing others from glancing down your pass book to see how your deposits are running.
5. It will eliminate pass books which you so often cannot find or forget to bring. You will be given a loose leaf duplicate or receipt and an envelope container in which you will hold your duplicates until you verify your Bank statement, then file away.

We feel sure you will be pleased. The plan is very new and up to date—all Banks throughout the country are adopting it as fast as they can get machines—and---above all---it is FAST!

See You Wednesday

TERRY, DARLING, IT'S HEAVENLY HERE... MOONLIGHT, PALM TREES, THE SCENT OF FLOWERS... AND ME, IN THE ARMS OF A TALL, BLOND PILOT... MY FRIENDS AT HOME WOULD BE POSITIVELY GREEN IF THEY KNEW.
GEORGE WUNDER
HA! LOOK AT THAT LACE-TRIMMED BALL AND CHAIN WORK OVER FRIEND TERRY. NO WONDER HE JUST LAUGHS WHEN I TELL HIM SHE PULLED A FAST SHUFFLE IN GETTING THAT BLACK BOX THROUGH CUSTOMS.
DOGGONE IT! I'D LIKE TO KNOW WHAT'S IN THAT BOX THAT THEY'RE SO COY ABOUT. OL' VAN G. NEVER LET IT OUT OF HIS HANDS UNTIL HE GOT HERE TO THE HOTEL... WONDER WHERE HE IS NOW...
MEANWHILE, AT A LOCAL MILITARY OFFICE...
I AM SORRY, M'SIEU VAN GOBLIN, BUT I WOULD BE FAILING MY DUTY IF I WERE TO GRANT PERMISSION FOR YOU TO LEAD A SMALL PARTY INTO THE INTERIOR.
MY DEAR COLONEL! YOUR SQUABBLE WITH THE LOCAL SAVAGES IS NO CONCERN OF MINE. I WISH MERELY TO CONDUCT A SMALL EXPLORATION OF A SCIENTIFIC NATURE.
MY FRIEND, YOU DO NOT UNDERSTAND. THIS COUNTRYSIDE IS SWARMING WITH NATIVE GUERRILLAS.
OUR FORCES HOLD THE TOWNS AND OCCASIONALLY HEAVILY ARMED CONVOYS CAN GET THROUGH, BUT A SMALL GROUP OF CIVILIANS WANDERING THROUGH THE BUSH WOULD BE INSTANTLY DESTROYED...
BAH! A TALE TO FRIGHTEN CHILDREN! I HAVE HERE A CERTAIN LETTER...
SO! ADVICES TO ALL MILITARY COMMANDERS TO COOPERATE WITH YOU — SIGNED BY AN IMPORTANT BUREAUCRAT IN A SAFE OFFICE — ON THE OTHER SIDE OF THE WORLD. M'SIEU! THIS MAN CANNOT KNOW THE GRAVITY OF THE SITUATION HERE... BUT YOU LEAVE ME NO CHOICE...
...A CONVOY LEAVES HERE SHORTLY, ATTEMPTING TO REACH AN OUTPOST THAT HAS BEEN CUT OFF. BY JOINING IT, YOU MAY BE ABLE TO REACH AREAS WHERE NATIVE PATROLS WILL BE LESS THICK AND YOUR CHANCES OF SURVIVAL SLIGHTLY BETTER.
THANK YOU, COLONEL. GLAD YOU'VE DECIDED TO BE REASONABLE... GOOD NIGHT!
SHOW M'SIEU TO THE DOOR, KEE.
YOU ARE QUITE SURE OF THIS THING, KEE?
POSITIVE! NOW, AFTER HIM — AND PLAY YOUR PART WELL!

WE HEARD THE COMMOTION BUT HAD TO HOLD OUR FIRE AND THE USE OF TEAR GAS FOR FEAR OF HURTING YOU.
YOU'LL FIND HIM UP THERE.
SHOULDERS!
HE THOUGHT I WAS KNOCKED OUT. HE CLIMBED THE STEP-LADDER APPARENTLY TO GET SOMETHING HE HAD HIDDEN IN ONE OF THE IRON KETTLES.
THEN I YANKED THE LADDER AWAY AND TURNED ON THE LIGHT.
WHAT'S THIS?
OH, THAT'S HALF A DRUM OF VARNISH THAT I SLID UNDER HIM, JUST IN CASE HE DECIDED TO DROP BEFORE YOU COULD COME IN.
IT SEEMS, MISS VARNISH, THAT YOU HAVE DONE A VERY THOROUGH JOB.
THANK YOU.
SET THE LADDER UP, BOYS.
SO HE HAS SOMETHING HID IN THAT IRON KETTLE, EH? WELL, COME DOWN, SHOULDERS.

"TAKE IT EASY, APE-MAN," MARLOW WARNED, SOFTLY, "UNLESS YOU WANT TO SEE YOUR WIFE A CORPSE!"

Distr. by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.

SLOWLY, THE SURGE OF SAVAGE ANGER GAVE WAY TO REASON. HE WOULD FIGHT N'ANI WITH HER OWN WEAPONS. HIS SHOULDERS SAGGED IN APPARENT DEFEAT.

N'ANI LAUGHED DISDAINFULLY AS SHE SAW, IN HIS DEJECTED ATTITUDE, HER COMPLETE VICTORY OVER THE INVINCIBLE LORD OF THE JUNGLE.

"SHE WORKS IN THE PITS WITH THE OTHERS," N'ANI TAUNTED, "UNTIL THIS APE PROVES HIMSELF. TAKE HER AWAY!"

"YOUR WORD IS LAW WITH THE NATIVES. LET THEM BELIEVE IN MY MAGIC AND THAT WE ARE SPIRIT-PEOPLE." "GO," SHE COMMANDED. "BRING THEM BACK AS SLAVES. AND, REMEMBER, IF YOU CROSS ME, YOUR WIFE DIES!"

"COME," MARLOW SAID, AND, FOLLOWED BY THE MATABELE, TARZAN SLUNK FROM THE ROOM.
